HEAD COACH: MARY BYRNE
Graduate Assistant Coach: HOLLY PEDERSON
South Dakota State will incorporate new faces and a new philosophy during the 1993 volleyball season.

Led by first-year head coach Mary Byrne, the Jackrabbits return six letter winners from a team finishing 14-19 in 1992.

Six newcomers will also blend into the line-up, including five freshmen and a junior transfer.

"We have a young team, but everyone has shown they can play together well," said Byrne, entering her first season at SDSU after being named 1992 Minnesota Class AA High School Coach of the Year at Marshall High School.

"During the first week of practice the players were getting used to a new system and philosophy. But the kids have really worked hard and are very competitive."

Byrne's coaching philosophy begins with team commitment. "I demand each athlete puts in time and hard work. They must go 100 percent and push each other every day," she states.

The returning cast is lead by co-captains Lisa Freichels and Jenny Dold.

Freichels, a 5-10 junior outside hitter, led the team in attacks (755) and digs (351), while finishing second in kills (244) in 1992.

Dold, a 5-8 sophomore setter, finished first in assists (588) and kill percentage (.255).

Juniors April Swanson, 6-1, and Sara Storms, 5-10, return as middle blockers.

Swanson finished first in block solos (63), while Storms led the team in kills (258). Each led the team in games played with 115.

The Jacks also return 5-9 junior defensive specialist Dana Fusco and 5-8 sophomore outside hitter Reagan Adolphson.

Headlining the list of newcomers is Jenny Boll, a 5-8 junior outside hitter, who transferred to SDSU from the University of Minnesota.

Five freshmen are on the roster, including setter Sara Woodman, outside hitters Emily Smith and Pam Mouw and middle hitters Tracy Lehnhoff and Sara Heisinger.

"We are not real big so we will have a more defensive strategy to our game plan," observed Byrne, who was a four-year standout performer with the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

"Our strengths are serving and receiving so we will run a quick offense to get around the big blocks."

Byrne says the biggest team goal is to finish in the top-four of the North Central Conference, a task she knows will be difficult.

"We want to be in the upper part of the division, but realistically we are starting from the bottom. We are fortunate to have good athletes willing to establish a winning attitude."

Head Coach:
Mary Byrne
(Nebraska, 1985) 1st season
When a university has something very special to offer, people sense it. South Dakota State University is one of those universities. We don't pretend to be something we're not. Instead, we take great pride in what we are - a mid-sized university with some very big qualities.

SDSU is enormous when you look at the number of programs offered, its research and work experiences, and the clubs students can get involved in. It's large when you consider the resources here that will make better prepared graduates looking for their first job. Resources like the CAP Center will help with career counseling and placement services.

SDSU is small when you look at its friendly, open campus and discussion-style classes. It's small when you see the kind of social interaction here that's only possible on a tightly-knit campus. There are no social ladders to climb here.

South Dakota State was founded as the state's only land-grant institution in 1881. It is the very essence of what our university is all about. A land-grant institution is directed to educate the people of its state and to solve its problems through academics, research and extension programs.

Today, our university has grown both in size and scope. We are South Dakota's largest university and will top 9,000 students this fall. Last year's enrollment of 8,550 was an all-time record.

The problems we solve reach far beyond the borders of our state.

Diversity has always been a trademark of an SDSU education. Our students choose from over 2,500 courses offered each year. This large selection of courses offers students many opportunities to learn and grow that they would not find at many other colleges.

Offering a large number of programs, though, has little importance unless the academic standards remain high. That's why South Dakota State continually works to provide quality programs for its students. These efforts result in the University remaining accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools - the largest accrediting agency in the nation.

South Dakota State's faculty is well known for its excellence in teaching. Of the 475 full-time faculty members, 70 per cent hold doctorate degrees. Conducting research, writing books and presenting papers at national conferences are the reasons many SDSU professors are nationally known in their fields.

They are committed to intellectual inquiry and have experience both in and out of the classroom. We have faculty exchange agreements with universities in the People's Republic of China, Russia, Great Britain, Mexico and South Korea. These exchanges allow faculty to gain international experience and incorporate that knowledge into their classrooms at SDSU.

Personal attention is not the exception here, it's the norm. A physics professor was instrumental in organizing a group to help raise funds for a graduate student who had a bone marrow transplant. Every semester a faculty member invites all the women students in the College of Engineering to her house for an evening of food and discussion.

While our faculty remain active in their fields, their first commitment is to teaching and to the students they teach. There is one faculty member for every 17 students here. This low ratio and an average class size of only 25 allows students the close, personal attention from faculty that they want and deserve.

Brookings is a community of 16,250, it is located on the eastern edge of South Dakota just 20 miles from the Minnesota line.

South Dakota friendliness has always been the key to Brookings and the campus community. We have a casual, friendly atmosphere here that quickly makes everyone feel like they fit in.
