forecast for '61

There was a light optimistic note in the South Dakota State College football camp at the close of spring grid sessions. As Coach Ralph Ginn expressed it, "We were pleased with spring performances, and although our graduation losses were heavy, we've got key men returning."

The veteran Jackrabbit coach, who will be coaching his fifteenth grid squad at State College this fall, notes that "key men" returning include Co-Captains Mike Sterner at guard and Joe Thorne at fullback along with Roger Eischens at end and Dean Koster, a sophomore who matured rapidly at quarterback last season as an injury knocked Ray Gaul out of action.

Ginn also points to "depth at the end and guard positions" and admits "our backfield strength is better than it has been since 1957," last season in which the Jacks copped a North Central Conference grid crown.

The State College head coach has this warning, however: "This would all seem to indicate a strong year for the Jacks, but we lack depth and experience at the tackle posts, and there's lack of experience at center although we feel fortified here with Jerry Ochs, a good sophomore, and Dick Knudsen, who lettered at end."

At the same time the Jackrabbit mentor warns of a rugged grid race in the North Central Conference this fall. He labels State College of Iowa (formerly Iowa State Teachers), defending conference champions, as the "team to beat" with both the University of North Dakota and North Dakota State University "tough." South Dakota State "will give chase," adds Ginn, and Augustana Morningside and the University of South Dakota will field teams that "could jell."

North Central squads will be bigger both physically and numerically, and Ginn has only one qualification: "Eligibility may change the picture with any squad—loss of a key man or two could change the whole picture," he concludes.

James Temple (who coached football at the United State Military Academy) came to State College at the conclusion of the 1901 football season and was paid $500 for his services as track coach and trainer. Temple is said to have been the first salaried coach at the Jackrabbit school; previously faculty member and others took the coaching chores as an extracurricular job.

Dr. Jack Hollister served as the first State College athletic director from 1905 to 1907.

Frank Kelley is among the early "immortals" of South Dakota State College athletics. He earned eight letters between 1923 and 1927, and he kicked the points which gave the Jacks a 9-2 grid victory over the University of Hawaii in Honolulu.

big man gets big job

The end of a day doesn't mean the end of football for Axel C. Bundgaard, State College athletic director. "Ax" is shown here on the bottom of a happy pileup with his sons, Eric, 12 (at the left), Chris, 9 (right) and Mark, 3 (atop the heap). The Bundgaard family, quite obviously, iives "athletics." The boys will tell you they "like all sports" and with Mrs. Bundgaard and daughter, Elizabeth, 15, will be among new Jack fans this fall.

Settling a 6' 3½"-frame carrying a trim 210 pounds into the chair behind his new desk in the athletic director's office at South Dakota State College, Axel C. Bundgaard gives the quick impression that here's a man set to do his job.

And the new Athletic Director and head of the Physical Education Department at State College hasn't been idle since assuming those duties last summer.

Succeeding Wally Schwank, moved on to Montana State University after a year at State College, Bundgaard remarked during those first days at his new post: "I just want to do a darn good job—and I hope I can. Coming to State College and Brookings is a wonderful opportunity for me and my family.”

A 1939 graduate of Midland College, Fremont, Neb., the 43-year-old Jackrabbit athletic director earned his master's degree from the University of Michigan in 1947 and his doctorate from the State University of Iowa in 1958. He coached in several Nebraska high schools, served as athletic director, chairman of the physical education department, basketball coach, co-track coach, swimming tennis coach and cross-country coach at Wartburg College, Waverly, Iowa, prior to assuming his new post at South Dakota State College.

Arriving at Wartburg in 1947, Bundgaard served 13 years as cage mentor, winning 187 games and losing 111. His Wartburg squads won Iowa Conference basketball championships in 1951-52, 1954-55, 1958-59 and 1959-60 as well as a Tall Corn Holiday Basketball tournament crown in 1958 and seven post-season basketball tournament bids—three NAIA and four NCAA.

“I can't forget some of those 'near misses' at Wartburg,” Bundgaard recalls, “particularly that 78-77 loss to Morning-side in the 1952 NAIA tournament and the 67-65 loss to the Coyotes of the University of South Dakota in the 1958 NCAA tourney.”

But that's in the past. The new Jackrabbit athletic director is geared to the future.

Smiling easily and drawing softly on his pipe, Bundgaard says of State College: “I certainly recognize the wonderful work of Jack Frost during his years at State and the conscientious efforts of Wally Schwank during his year of administration.

And Wally agrees that Jack Frost's shoes to fill in the graduate and undergraduate physical education program developed in the past which gives State the foundation upon which to build in the future.” adds Bundgaard.

What about that future?

Bundgaard points out State College will continue its program in physical education, expand intramural sports “within the limits of present facilities” and support a “fine varsity tradition” in all sports.

“I believe in an all-around athletic program,” says the new State College director, “and an expanded program wherever possible—but it is the graduate and undergraduate program in physical education already developed, particularly under Jack Frost, that provides the foundation upon which to build.”

As for the Jackrabbit gridders this fall, Bundgaard isn't worried.

Admitting he hasn't seen the Yellow and Blue perform on the gridiron in recent years, the State College director adds: “They're always competitors, and knowing Ralph Ginn's coaching, the Jacks should be conference contenders. Ralph always puts a fine team on the field; this isn't just my opinion but rather the view of unbiased people who know—Ralph is highly respected as a football coach in the rugged competition of the North Central Conference.”

Win, lose or draw in this fall of '61, the Jack gridders of South Dakota State College can bank on one thing—their cheering section has been expanded by at least a half dozen individuals.

Not only will Dr. and Mrs. Bundgaard join the Yellow and Blue rooters this season but so will their four children—Elizabeth, 15; Eric, 12; Chris, 9, and yes, Mark, 3.

First recorded intercollegiate football game played at South Dakota State College dates back to 1889, when the Jacks finished in a 6-6 deadlock with the University of South Dakota.

Ginn instills the will to win

Sitting in a muggy, warm office last summer, Ralph Ginn grasped a pencil in a ham-like fist and scratched designs on paper.

Those designs, of course, will blossom into smooth and imaginative football plays on the 1961 gridiron.

By the same token it's quite a distance in miles between Ralph Ginn's office on the South Dakota State College campus and Dartmouth and West Point. But you'll find a mutual spirit prevailing in the football atmosphere of the widely separated institutions.

Why? Well, Ginn echoes Col. Earl Blaik of Dartmouth and West Point when he tells his Jack gridders that the purpose of the game of football is to win and to dilute the will to win is to destroy the purpose of the game.

That football philosophy has prevailed in the Jack grid camp for the past decade and a half, and it'll be there again this fall. Odds are the philosophy will work just as it has in the past.

Preparation and detail and work are the answers to what many in the football world call the "Ginn touch." There's no magic involved; the 54-year old Ginn is a coach who never quits thinking—and planning—football.

Lynn "Pappy" Waldorf, left, former Northwestern University and California football coach and present personnel director and scout for the San Francisco 49'ers of the professional National Football League, is shown visiting during spring grid camp with Jack Co-Captains Joe Thorne and Mike Sterner and Coach Ralph Ginn. Ginn has a solid reputation among those who know football for producing squads well grounded in fundamentals and wise in grid know-how.

Moving into his fifteenth year as grid mentor at State College, Ginn has in some ways become the "grey fox" of the North Central Conference. In cold figures his over-all football record at State College is spelled out in 73 wins, 35 losses and 7 ties with a North Central Conference won-loss-tied total of 52-31-7—and that 52-23-7 record may well account for the fact a "Ginn team" is never underestimated by conference foes.

Jackrabbit fans still point to the Ginn squads of 1953-54-55 and particularly to the eleven of 1957, which was relegated to the lower reaches of the second division in pre-season voting but combined determination and astute football to cop the title. That '57 squad had the "touch"—correct offense, proper use of manpower, intelligent and imaginative football.

For example, Dick Gordon, Minneapolis Tribune sports writer, watched the Jack gridders against Kansas State at Manhattan, Kan., last fall and then sat down to his typewriter to tell about the fellow behind that Jack team. Gordon was impressed and talked to officials and others about this fellow Ginn. What he had seen and heard was reported in a post-Kansas State game story that said in essence: We'd like to see Ginn get a whack at Big 10 football; his squads are well grounded in fundamentals and know football.

That's in the past, and there's the pressing business of a rugged '61 season at hand.

Never one to underrate the opposition, Ginn warns that '61 North Central grid squads, including the Jacks, will be bigger both physically and numerically so that an indicated "strong year" for the Yellow and Blue is strictly a relative thing. As usual, warns the Jack coach, "A key man or two could change the picture with any conference squad."

It's that "intangible" in football that makes Ginn a constant source of worry to the opposition—and a constant source of pride back in Brookings.

ERVIN HUETHER, backfield coach

Chief scout in addition to coaching the backs, Erv is beginning his twelfth year at State and eleventh as backfield coach. Also baseball coach at State, he coached at Bowdoin and Bates colleges in Maine and in the Navy. He received a bachelor's degree in 1943 from Yankton College and a master's from Minnesota in 1950.

STAN MARSHALL, line coach

Beginning his fifth year on the State College staff, Stan is in charge of lineman and defensive planning. He was on State grid teams from 1947 to 1949 and coached at Groton, Centerville, Hot Springs and Jamestown College before returning to State. His grid and track teams compiled impressive records both years he was coach at Jamestown. Graduated with high honor in 1950, he earned a master's degree at Iowa in 1953.

WARREN WILLIAMSON, freshman coach

Guiding freshman gridders in their transition from prep to college ball is his responsibility. Warren is in his sixth year on the staff and also coaches wrestling. He earned a bachelor's degree in 1951 and a master's in 1954, both from State College. His scoring feats are still in the State College and Conference record books and he still claims a share of the Jacks' total offense mark. He coached at Clear Lake and Winner.

Dan Cunningham has earned two letters at end, stands six feet and weighs 190 pounds. Dan comes from Pipestone, Minn., where he played high school football for Coach Earl Teas. He is one of the ruggedest men on the squad, a good blocker and tackler. Married, and senior in economics, Dan is a fine student and winner of the Millard Scott Real Estate Scholarship.

Jim DeVaney, a three-sport athlete at Dell Rapids high school for Coach Virg Sandvig, stands 6-2 and weighs 195 pounds. Jim is a hard man to bring down from his halfback post. He subbed for Joe Thorne in last fall's South Dakota University game and became the second athlete in State College history to score three touchdowns against the Coyotes as the Jacks won 28-7. Married, and a senior in civil engineering, Jim served last year as Cadet Colonel of the Air Force ROTC unit.

Jim Dwyer stands 5-10 and weighs a rugged 179 pounds. A tough, hard running halfback from Wessington Springs, he played prep ball for Coach Gene Nelson. Jim is a married student in civil engineering, and a sophomore.

Roger Eischens, a speedy junior end standing six feet and weighing 195 pounds, is a fine receiver (thirteen catches for the season) and is developing into a good blocker and defender. Ike rated all-conference honorable mention in 1960 and could develop into one of the finest Jack-rabbit ends of all time. He hails from Canby, Minn., and played high school football there for Coach Norm Overland. Roger is a good student majoring in mathematics and physical education.

Jim Ferguson weighs 215 pounds and stands six feet. He can play any place in the line and will probably be used as a tackle this fall. Jim was a standout high school athlete at West Concord, Minn. Dick Gaughran, from Austin, Minn., is a 6-1, 190-pound guard, who played high school football for Coach Art Hass. Dick has good speed and agility and is one of the top hustlers on the squad. A senior history major, Dick lettered in 1959 and 1960. He is married, and a recent father.

Les Hansen is quick and agile for his size (6-4 and 196 pounds) and has everything required to become a fine college end. He lettered on Coach Iverson's championship cage squad last winter. Les played for Coach Les Lyon at Tyler, Minn., school. He is a junior letterman, majoring in physical education.

Bob Harris, a real scrapper from Canton, played high school football there for Coach Burdell Coplan. At 5-8 and 170 pounds, Bob's spirit and toughness should earn him some defensive assignments this fall. He's a junior in the Engineering Division.

Don Huls stands 6-2 and weighs 191 pounds. He prepped at Salem St. Mary's under Coach Joe Laber. Don can play end or tackle, and is a good worker. He's a sophomore in the Division of Agriculture.

Stan Jacobson, a guard or tackle candidate from Rock Valley, Iowa, weighs 197 pounds and is five feet ten inches tall. Although slowed this spring by an ankle injury, he should develop fast this fall. He's a sophomore studying pharmacy.

Dennis King, a 5-11, 175-pound junior halfback from Canton, has good speed, and is a break-away type runner. A fine ball carrier, he needs to improve as a blocker and defender to move up. Dennis is a junior physical education major. His high school coach was Burdell Coplan.

Casper Klucas played high school football at Watertown under John DeWitt. He has good speed and can run in the open as he demonstrated by returning a kickoff 93 yards at Kansas State last September. Casper is strong and works hard. He should see a lot of action this autumn. A senior engineering student, Casper stands 5-10 and weighs 166 pounds. He's a letterman.

Richard Knudsen lettered in 1958 and '59 at right end, but was shifted to center this year when graduation removed the three top 1960 centers. Dick possesses all of the essentials needed for this position, stands 6-2 and weighs 211 pounds. He played high school football at Spencer, Iowa, for Coach "Bucky" Walter. He's a senior majoring in professional chemistry.

Dean Koster is a 5-10, 178-pound quarterback from Lake Benton, Minn. He was the Jacks' regular quarterback after Captain Ray Gaul's injury last season. Dean hit on 38 of 93 pass attempts for a net of 686 yards. With improved faking and ball handling, he should become one of the league's best. A junior in physical education, Dean played his high school football for Coach Hall.

Roger Larson is a 6-0, 187-pound center or guard from Harrisburg. He played for Coach Joe Lutz in high school. Roger made good progress in spring practice and could help this fall. He's a sophomore in agricultural education.

Arden Mackenthun is a 6-3, 186-pound end from Glencoe, Minn. His high school coach was Chester Buckley. In his first try at college football this spring, Arden showed good promise for the future. He's a junior majoring in mathematics, an outstanding student, and Briggs scholarship winner.

Daryl Martin is a real hitter from Wagner where he prepped under Coach Dick Fuller. He runs hard from the fullback post. Daryl is a sophomore in the Division of Engineering. He stands 5-11 and weighs 170 pounds.

where he played for Coach Carl Zehnder. At 6-1 and 210 pounds, he has the size to play several line posts but will probably be used as a tackle. Tough and alert, lack of speed is his greatest shortcoming. He is a senior in agriculture.

Dennis Moller a heady, junior, letterman quarterback from Sioux Falls, played on Grant Heckinlively's Washington High squads. Denny has good poise, and is a fine open field tackler. He improved his passing skill this spring. He lettered last fall, stands 5-9 and weighs 159 pounds. He's a physical education major.

Gary Morey learned his football from Coach Kenny Greeno at Redfield high school. A tough offensive guard and defensive linebacker, Gary should come on strong following his recovery from an injury during freshman competition. A sophomore in agriculture, he stands 5-11 and weighs 187 pounds. Gary is a fine wrestling prospect for Warren Williamson's mat squad.

Bob Naatjes is a hard-crashing end from Lennox, where he played high school football for Coach Mel Logrman. Bob played extensively and earned his first letter in 1960. He should see more action this fall. Bob weighs 179 pounds and stands 6-2. He's an honor student in mathematics.

Jerry Ochs played at Aberdeen Central high school for Coach Mylo Jackson. Jerry spent most of spring practice at the first team center post where his size (6-0 and 207 pounds) and savvy brightened the outlook in the middle of the line. Jerry is a sophomore in the engineering division. He's also a good track prospect in the shot and discus.

Doug Peterson played quarterback for Coach John DeWitt at Watertown high school and also quarterbacked the 1960 freshmen eleven. In spring practice he was shifted to halfback and promptly moved into strong contention for a starting role. Doug is a fine defensive football player and is rapidly learning the ins and outs of the offensive halfback position. His solid (6-0 and 178-pounds) frame and good speed should make his presence felt in the North Central this fall. He's a sophomore in economics.

Norman Pffingsten is a 6-2, 218-pound tackle from Worthington, Minn. He played high school football there for Coach Milt Osterberg. Norm missed most of his sophomore year because of a broken foot but came back in 1960 to earn his first award. He worked with the number-one unit during spring drills and showed good improvement. Norm has all of the tools, can be as good as he wants to be. He's a senior in physical education.

Mike Plinske played high school ball at Canby, Minn., for Coach Norm Overland. Mike is a steady, hardworking halfback; stands 5-9 and weighs 167 pounds. He's a senior majoring in physical education.

Wayne Rasmussen was a fine all-around athlete at Howard high school under Coach Ed Wickre. Wayne weighs 166 pounds and stands 6-2, plays exceptionally well defensively and is a fine pass receiver and punter. He's a sophomore in engineering.

Mike Raffety is a sophomore engineer, his prep coach was Rollie Greeno at Milbank. Mike is a fine student, and Briggs scholarship winner. A steady quarterback, he showed improvement this spring. He stands 6-0 and weighs 164 pounds.

John Sterner played high school football at Boys Town for Coach "Skip" Palrang. John made fine progress this spring, especially in his offensive blocking and seems set for an outstanding senior year. He stands 5-9, weighs 177 pounds, and is a consistent winner for Warren Williamson's wrestling team. A physical education major from Sioux Falls, John has earned two football letters.

Mike Sterner, like brother John, played his high school football for Coach Palrang at Boys Town. Co-captain Mike is a tough 5-10, and 189-pounds. A second-team all-conference choice in 1960, Mike is eager to make his last season his best. A tremendous wrestler, he won twenty-two consecutive dual matches during the 1960-61 mat season. He's a senior in physical education from Sioux Falls, and a two-time letterwinner in football.

John Stone played regularly in the defensive secondary last fall. He's a good tackler, who showed improvement offensively during spring practice. John plays halfback or fullback, stands 5-11, and weighs 190 pounds. A junior in agronomy from Hendricks, Minn., John played high school football there for Coach Eddie Bye. He has earned one letter in football.

Joe Thorne was selected as the all-conference fullback for 1960, and elected co-captain by his teammates. Joe set a new all-time State College record for most carries with 166, surpassing Pete Retzlaff's old mark of 148. The Beresford bullet also led the squad in rushing and total yardage with 803 yards, and in scoring with 48 points. He is also a fine defensive linebacker. A senior in engineering, Joe stands 6-1, and weighs 191 pounds. His high school coach was Roger Price. He's a two-time award winner.

Darrell Tramp was a much sought after three-sport athlete at Elk Point high school. After a year at the University of Iowa, Darrell transferred to South Dakota State College and enrolled in the printing management curriculum. The 6-0, 191-pound sophomore should be fine end as he can catch, run, block and tackle. He's also a fine prospect in the weights on Glenn Robinson's track squad. His high school coach was George Slavik.

Doug Tschetter played fine high school football at Sioux Falls Washington for Grant Heckinlively. A 5-10, 187-pounds fullback who runs hard and tackles well, Doug is a sophomore majoring in mathematics.

Dave Westbrook played his high school football for Coach Mel Lewis at Browns Valley, Minn. He has the equipment and made good improvement during spring work outs. At 6-2, and 210 pounds, Dave has the strength and size for tackle play in the North Central Conference. He is also a heavyweight wrestling prospect.

Jerry Wicks is a 5-10, 180-pound junior fullback who can also play guard or center. He shows real promise as a defensive linebacker. Jerry also played baseball last spring. His high school coach at Clark was Buddy Elkins.

'61 Jacks mix brains, brawn

There's the old football joke about one bright boy being able to remember the signals and telling the star tackle or speedy halfback where to go and what to do on every play.

That's legend, of course, and the 1961 South Dakota State College football squad has drilled holes in the stereotype that brains and athletes don't mix

"The boys came through with the best scholastic average of any year checked during my 14 seasons at State College," reports Coach Ralph Ginn of the scholastic averages his gridders posted last spring.

A squad of approximately 40 athletes finished with a mean grade point average of 2.46. For the sake of comparison, an "A" would be 4.0, "B" 3.0 and "C" 2.0, which means the Jacks on the average are between a "B" and "C" in their college studies.

It is estimated the squad of 40 encountered a total of approximately 200 courses in engineering, pharmacy, economics, physical education, agriculture, chemistry, math—in fact, practically every area of study offered on the State College campus.

Among the roster are several "B" students or better, and Ginn notes that only three players flunked one course each.

"That's not a bad record," he adds, "when you consider State College isn't notorious for its 'soft' policy scholastically."

It may or may not have any bearing on the final North Central conference standing of the '61 Jack squad, but Ginn quotes Col. Earl Blaik of Dartmouth and West Point at this point. "Blaik points out championship football and good scholarship are entirely compatible," says Ginn, "and I don't argue the point a bit."
