Freshman Picnic

Formal initiation began with the freshman picnic. Sprawled on the campus green in front of Sylvan Theater, 1,821 freshmen munched barbecue, potato chips and ice cream bars.

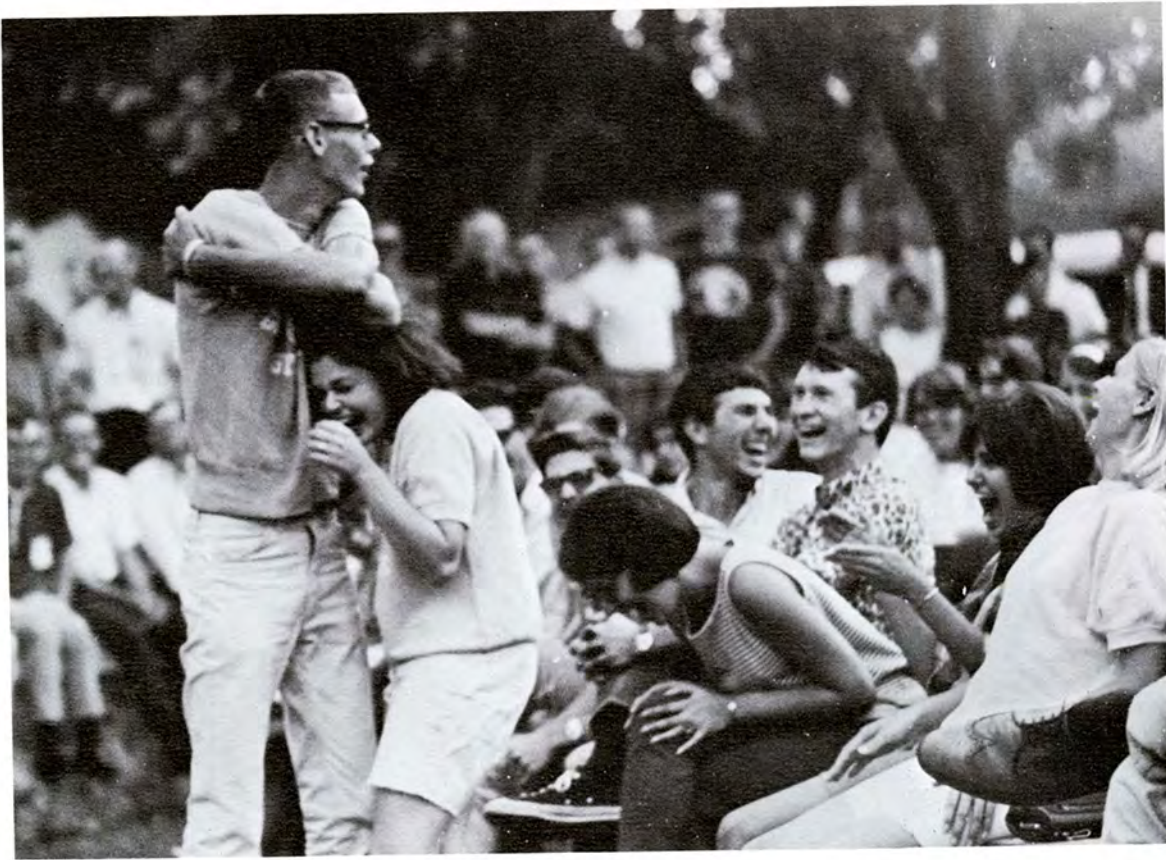

Then came instructions from the vigilantes. No make-up . . . green derbies . . . pigtails. The purpose is to make freshmen feel a part of the school.

After learning the words to 'Across the Plains of Brookings,' freshmen were marched to the Old State Field where they were given a chance to end their initiation by winning a "tug of war" with upperclassmen. They didn't win . . . they never do.

Some picnic . . . looks like the same stuff they give us on food service.

Huh, what's so funny? Well, gee whiz, I like myself.

The Pied Piper!?

Hobo Week

Do you suppose Hobos really eat like this?

Cheers! Staters give a toast to the 55th annual Hobo Day with their coffee tins at the Bum Stew. The stew, which traditionally kicks off the preliminary events to Hobo Day, was served in the Christy Ballroom this year because of rain.

Spirits were undampened, though, as the chunks of roast beef, vegetables and potatoes were eaten in true Hobo style.

Awaiting the beard judging contest and kangaroo court, the crowd listened to the Bum Band blast out the old songs, like 'Old MacDonald', and watched unwary freshmen get the 'business' from vigilantes.

Guys found it a good time to size up the new girl students. Cowbells clanged, horns tooted and everyone yelled. Then it was time for Weary Willie to arrive and for the annual degradation of the freshmen in Kangaroo Court.

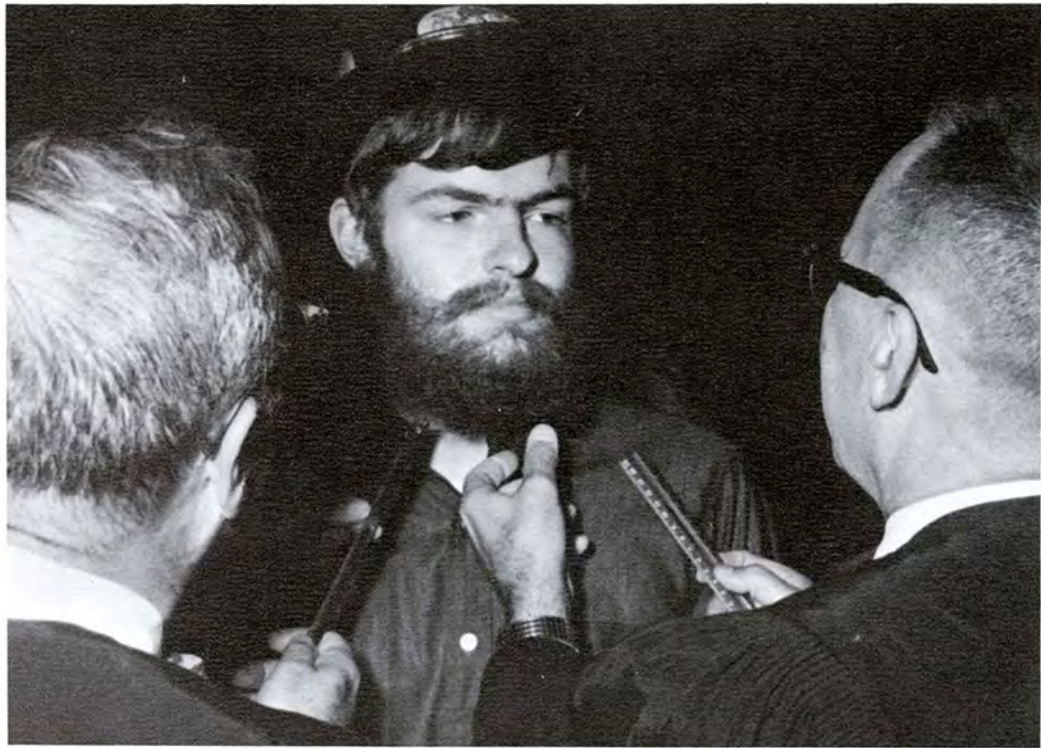

Razors are out. Whiskers are in. Shaving cream is out. Whiskers are in. Every body's got to have a beard.

To insure conformity, the razor is tried, convicted and executed during half-time of the football game and then buried on the field.

Sinners . . . put away this terrible evil or meet thy fate. Amen.

The winner! By a hair!

"My God! this is a pig's tail!"

Don't let her kid you . . . Mary Tyler enjoys this job.

These beards may be cute . . . but it'll sure be nice to have a smo-o-oth shaved man around again.

"Wearie Willie" made his entrance on a covered wagon that looked as though it must have been stolen from midget pioneers. Dave Blegan, a State graduate of a few years ago, added his name to a long list of graduates who performed "Willie's" duties during Hobo Week.

The Beard Judging contest was invaded by Vikings from the South. To add insult to injury, a Norseman took top honors in one of the categories. His assumed name, "Norris Mann," didn't tip off the judges in time and Augie will probably feature him in the "Who's Who" section of their yearbook.

Freshmen who blew their cool and found themselves subjected to the punishment inflicted by the Kangaroo Court were treated to any number of dirty little assignments. Some spent a good part of the evening washing eggs out of their hair, others looked liked walking advertisements for Burma Shave. Still others found out what it was like to be "Farmer's Daughter."

The Blue Key Smoker provided an opportunity for sweet young things to run around in cute little costumes and lure the engineers with such enticing lovecalls as "Cigars . . Cigarettes . . Cigarillos."

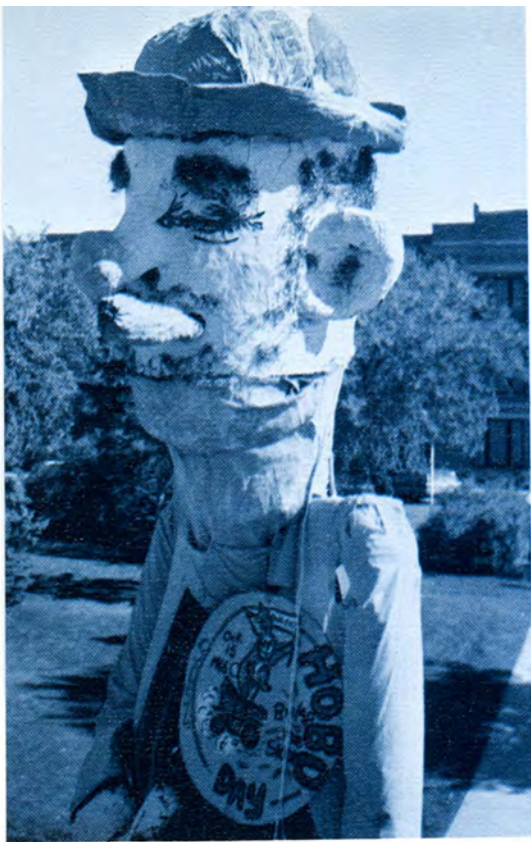

I'd rather switch than fight.

Think I'd prefer my milk from a carton.

Sure, we've got most anything you want.

Standing tall on the campus green, the large 'dummy' Hobo served as a reminder to students going to and from classes that it was indeed Hobo Week.

Constructed by the freshman class as part of their initiation, the campus green Hobo stood 35 feet off the ground and was made of papier-mache.

Freshmen kept the Hobo well guarded this year, posting guards at night. It seems last year's Hobo somehow went up in flames. Though wearing apparel for the campus Hobo tended to be a bit hard to find, students making a bid for Hobo Day King and Queen had less trouble. Anything goes . . . tin cans, old rags, even shaggy dogs.

Before Hobo Day, men and women students design their outfits for their appearance as Hobos and Hoboettes in the parade. The two students who best personify the SDSU Hobo are chosen as homecoming royalty.

This year, Glen Bren and Mary Buckmiller were picked for the honor.

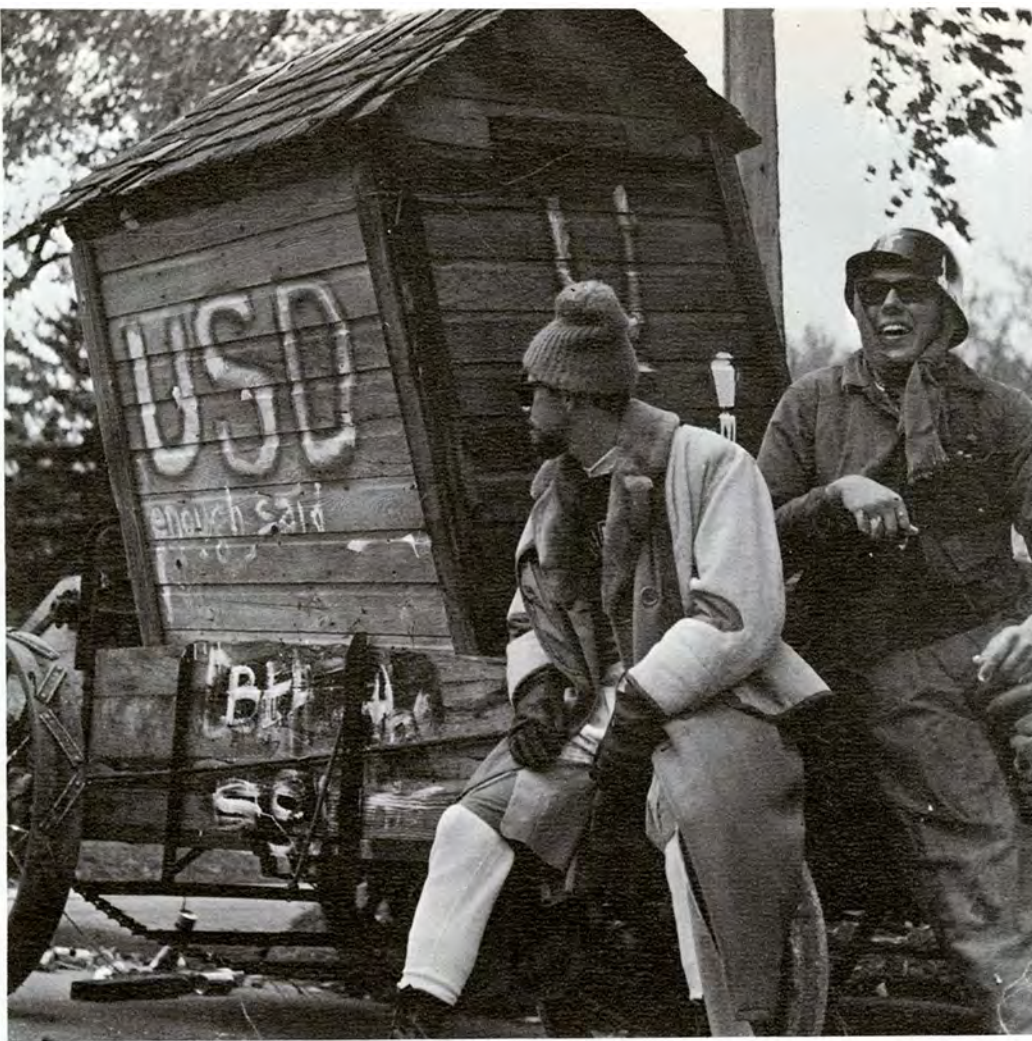

We'd use it ourselves, but we're aiming for that natural air.

Out of the mouths of babes . . . and bums.

"I'm laughing now but I may have to use it before this parade is over."

Over 30,000 persons bundled up to watch a huge Hobo Day parade wind its way from the campus down through the business section of Brookings. Hobos and Hoboettes joined bands, floats, military units, dignitaries and cheerleaders in a colorful two-hour procession.

The float, "Symbol of Freedom," entered in the parade by the SDSU branch of the American Pharmaceutical Association, took top honors by winning both the 'Most Beautiful' and 'Most Outstanding' awards. 'Most Clever' award went to the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers float, "No Room For Defeat." Gamma Delta won the best religious entry with their float, "Climb Every Mountain."

The Junior Class float, 'Recipe for Service' was chosen as best representative of the theme.

Union Halloween Party

"... used it this morning and my breath feels like it'll last for hours."

Apple bobbing, pumpkin carving and free recreation highlighted this year's Union Halloween Party. "The Inn Crowd" managed to provide music whenever the witches and goblins would let them have the floor. Prizes were awarded to contest winners.

You've put WHAT in this coffee?!

Parents' Day

Parents were given a chance to inspect SDSU campus October 29. Coffee hours at which the parents could meet faculty members were held both in the morning and afternoon.

Highlighting the day was the half-time ceremonies of the football game at which the SDSU band gave a special tribute to parents. A military formation was also presented at the half-time.

Now, mom, this uniform isn't for real and I'm not being shipped out . . . so for gosh sakes, don't start crying.

Student Association Concerts

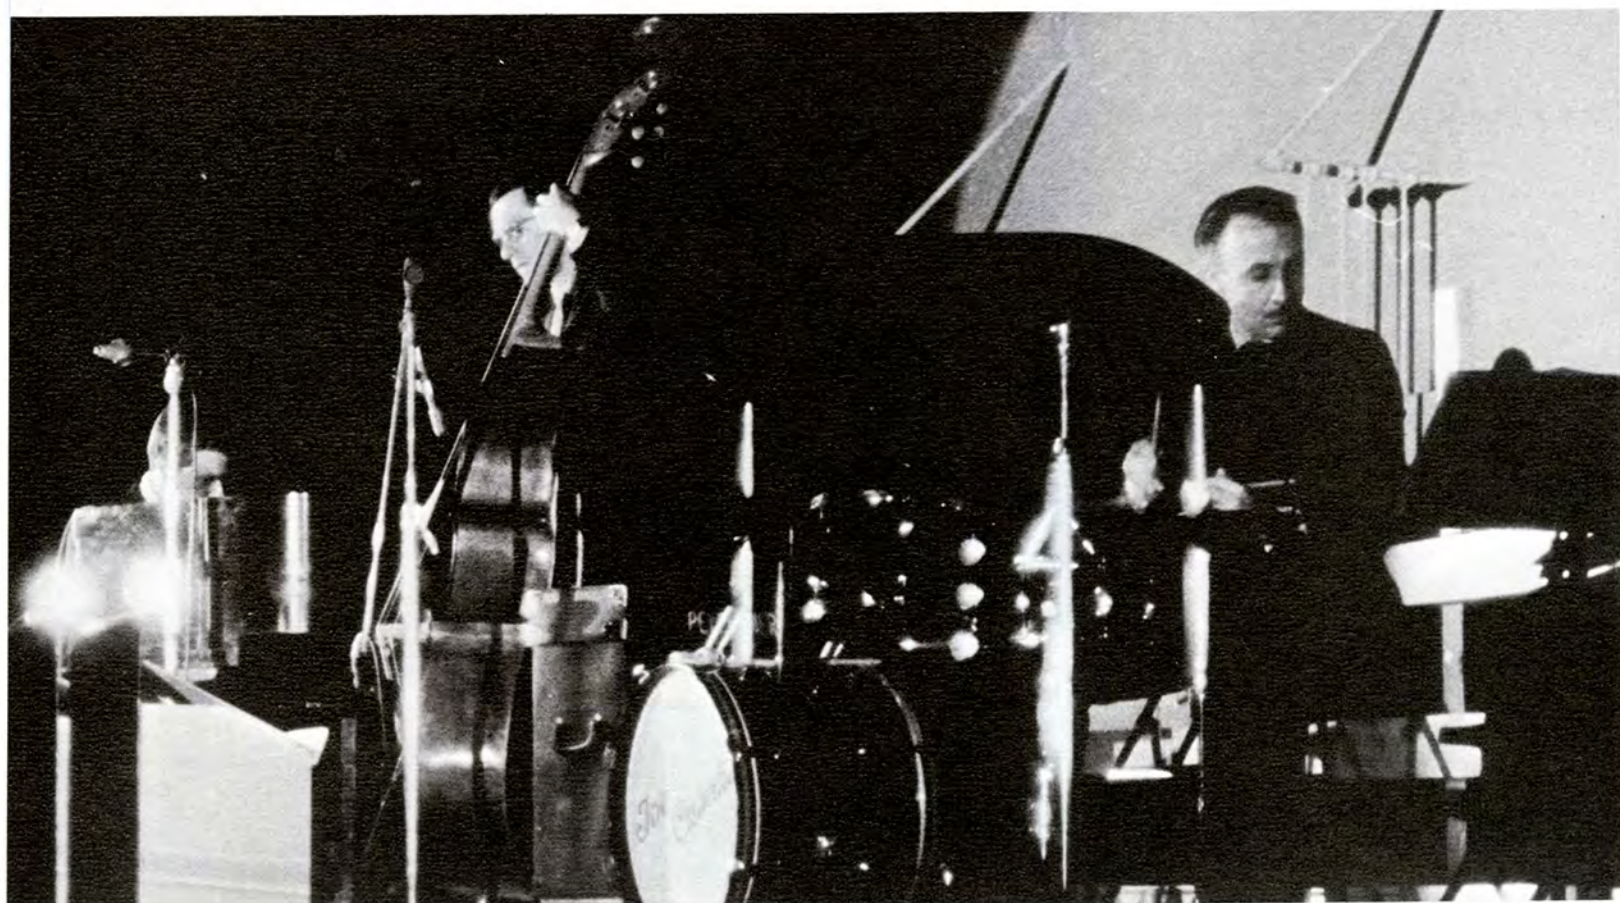

A folk group started by the originator of the New Christy Minstrels (visitors to the campus a few years ago) performed before an SDSU crowd in this year's fall concert in the fieldhouse. The S.A. sponsored event featured seven former understudies of the Minstrels who have become well known on their own through such albums as "Meet the Back Porch Majority," "Riverboat Days," and "BPM, Live from Ledbetter."

Peter Nero, popular jazz pianist, headlined the Spring concert which also featured the "Rooftop Singers," folk artists who had a smash hit, "Let your hair hang down," not too long ago.

Nero is known primarily for his syntheses of jazz and classical music. His first album, "Piano Forte," released in 1961, was an immediate success. He composes much of his own music.

Military Ball

Be careful of those white gloves, they're borrowed!

Some 'Enchanted Evening' . . . someone will be laughing . . . across the crowded room . . . It was Military Ball night, November 19, 1967.

There were roses and orchids, taffetas and velveteens, casual flips and exotic coiffures, and the special touch of the military dress uniform.

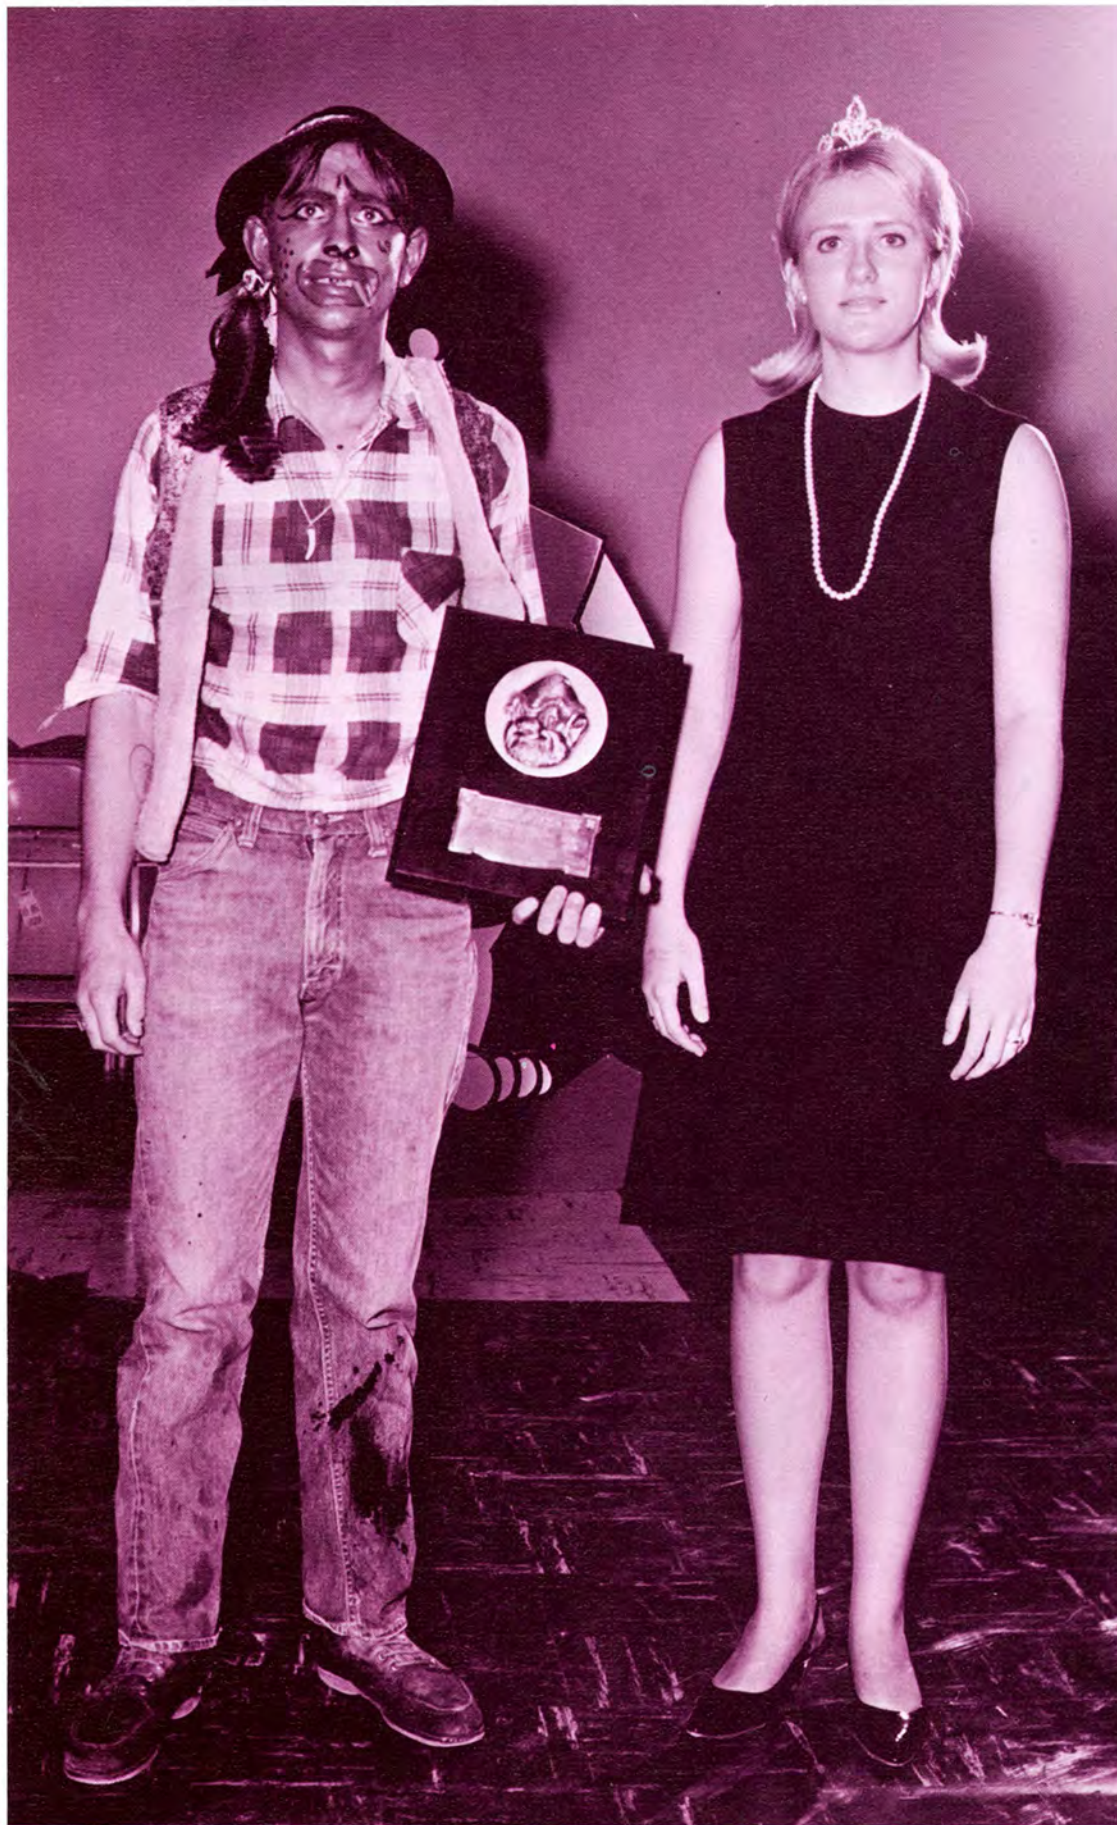

As Ralph Flanagan and his orchestra set the pace, couples danced across the floor of the Christy Ballroom, stopping here and there to chat with friends. Between songs, they slipped down to the candle-lit Jungle and sipped punch.

Announcement of the royalty came at ten o'clock. Colleen Ream, a sophomore English major from Belle Fourche, was named Honorary Cadet Colonel. Wing and Brigade Sweethearts were Connie Ranek and Sharon Goldner.

Oh-h-h. I do hope he doesn't drop that sword . . . it looks awfully sharp.

Ugly Man Dance

"Really Martha, I think I should have worn a tie."

This year's "Ugly Man on Campus" was again chosen on the basis of money deposited in jars displayed in front of portraits of the "candidates." The winner didn't get a trip to Atlantic City but he did have an opportunity to share the spotlight with the Alpha Phi Omega Queen, Carol Pommer, at the fall dance in his "honor." All proceeds from the contest were given to charity. The dance was held in the Christy Ballroom of the Union building. All of the "Uglies" were sponsored by campus organizations.

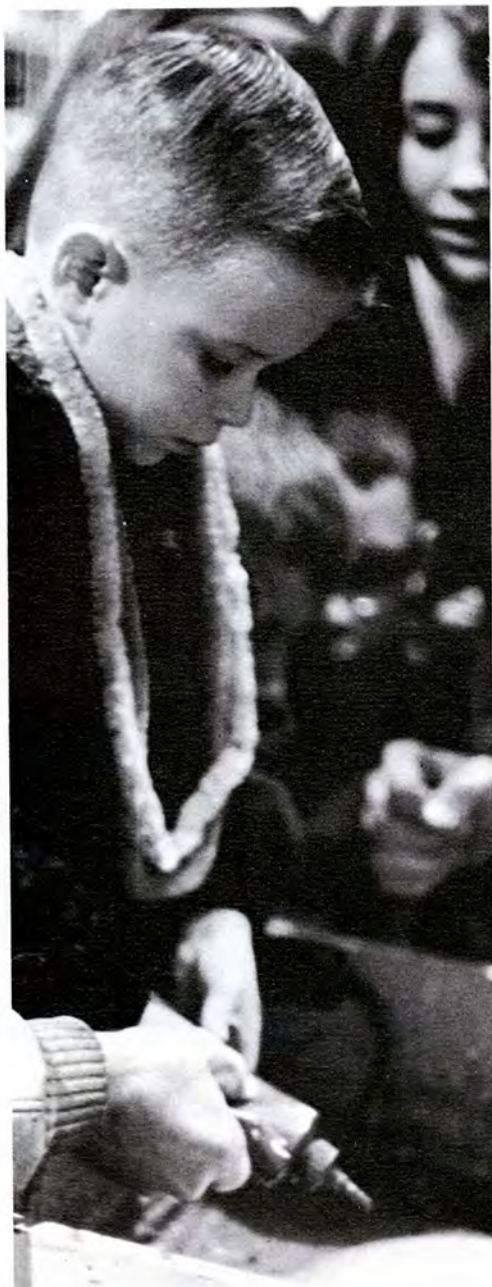

Mistletoe Ball

Christmas was literally in the air Friday, December 16, as mistletoe decorated the Christy Ballroom and kept couples happy during the annual Mistletoe Ball. Music was provided by the Marv Reedstrom band. Campus "celebrities" Lyle Merriman and Bob Knutson added more songs and humor.

Now, look, if I've told you once, I've told you a thousand times

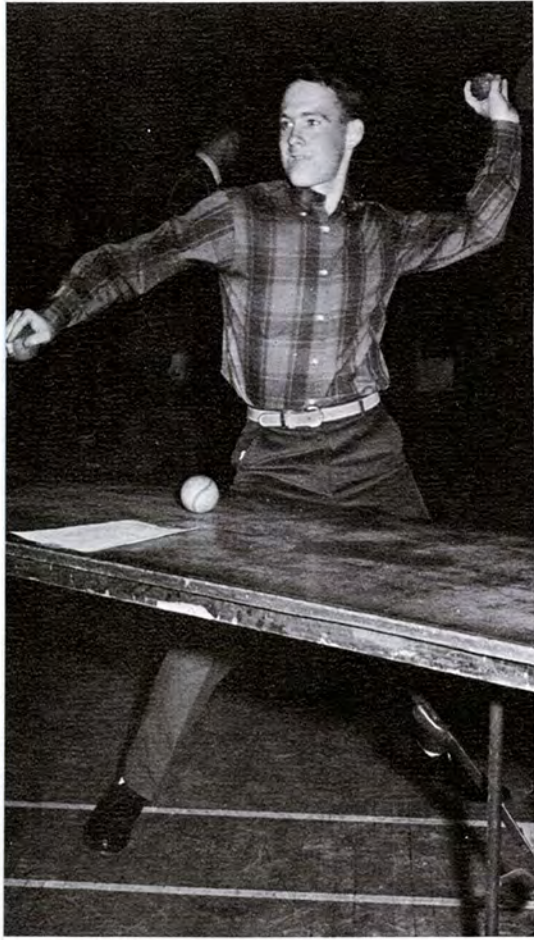

Charity Carnival

"ROTC stinks!"

Angel Flight and the Arnold Air Society put themselves to work December 9 as their annual Charity Carnival transformed the ROTC Armory into a fairground. Spectators at the charity event won prizes at the various booths.

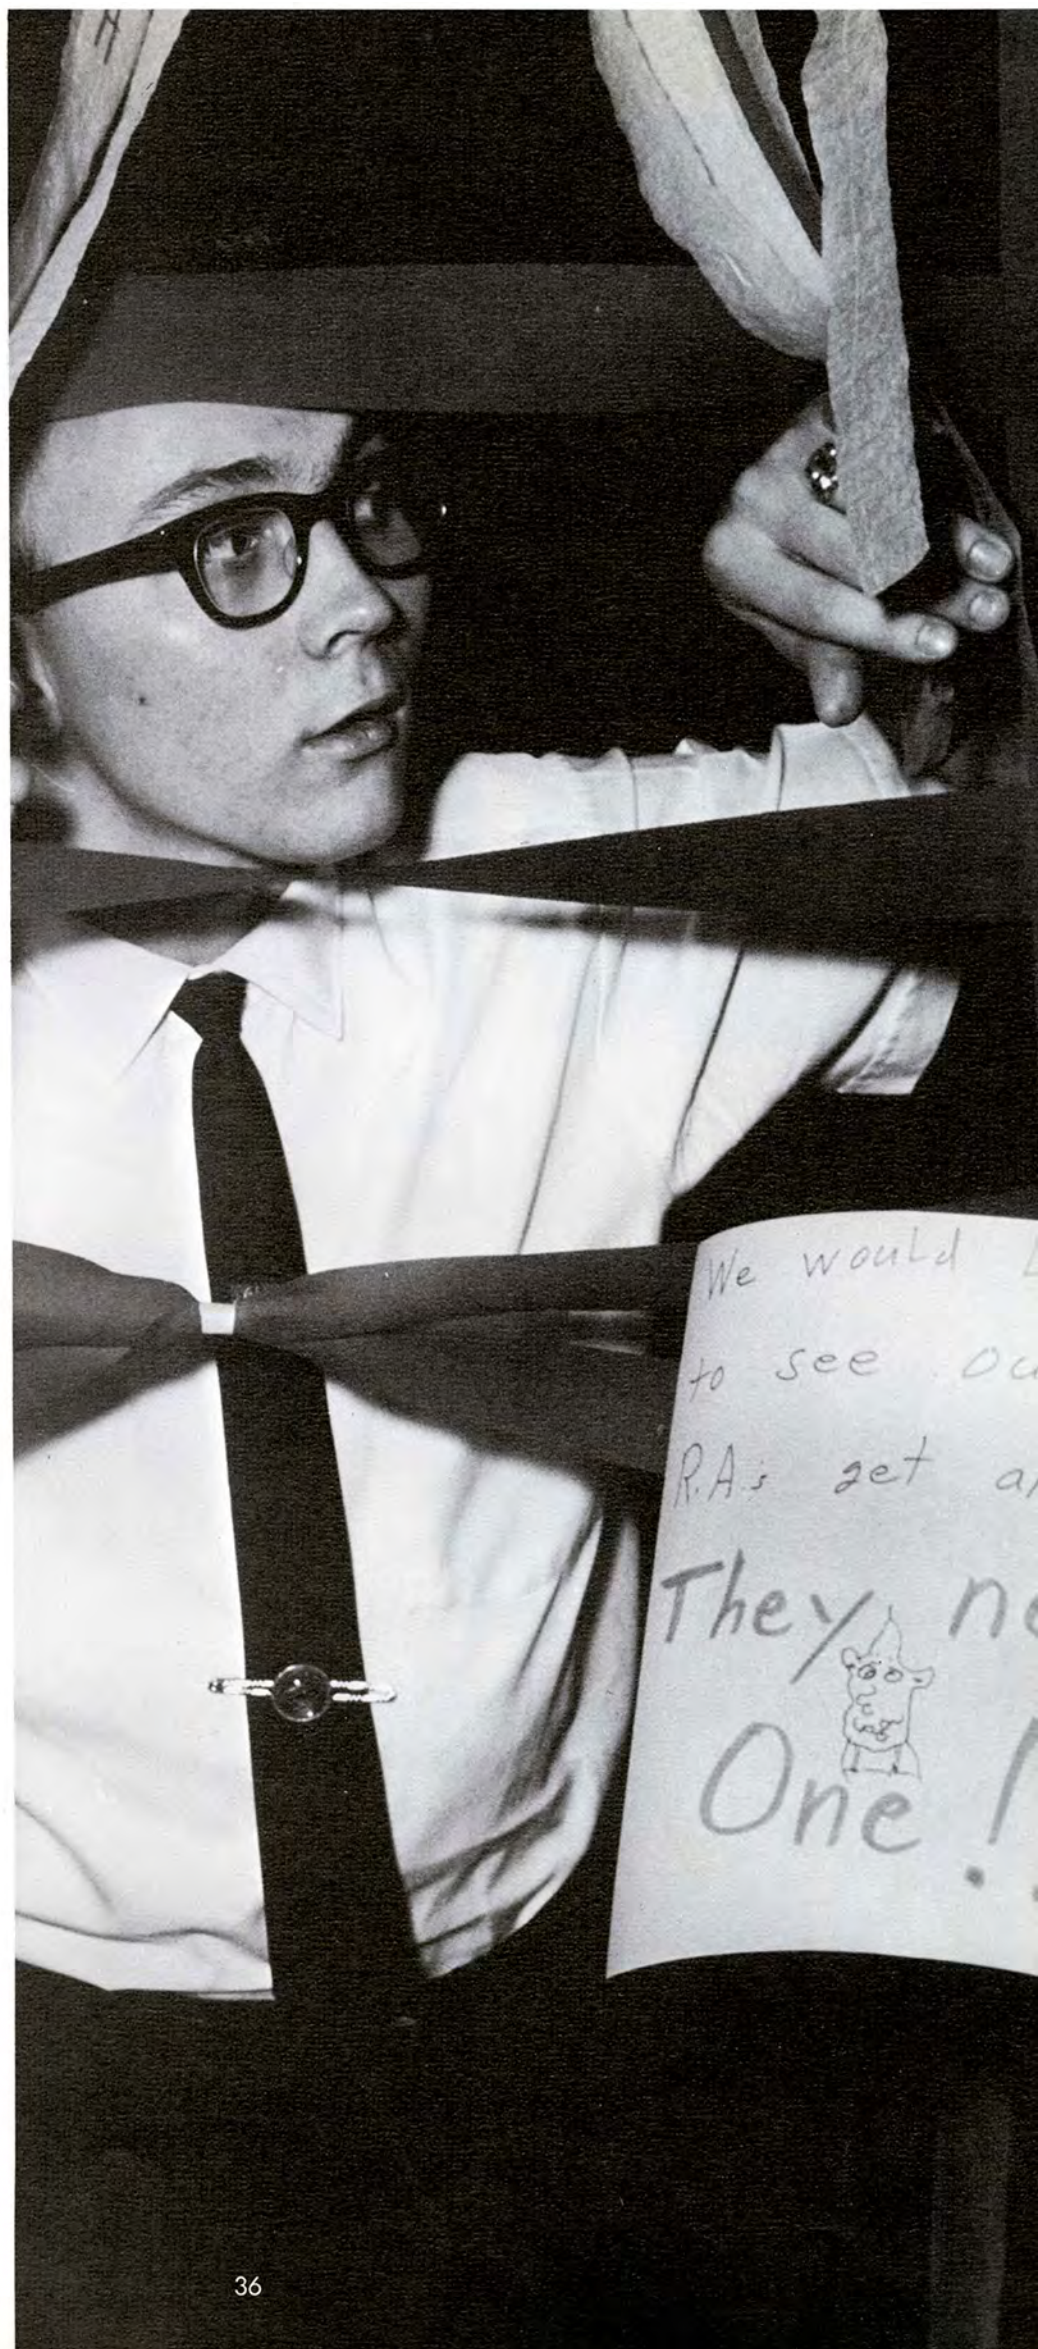

"There's my history prof."

"I've heard some weird approaches in my day but this really tops them. No, you can't comb my face."

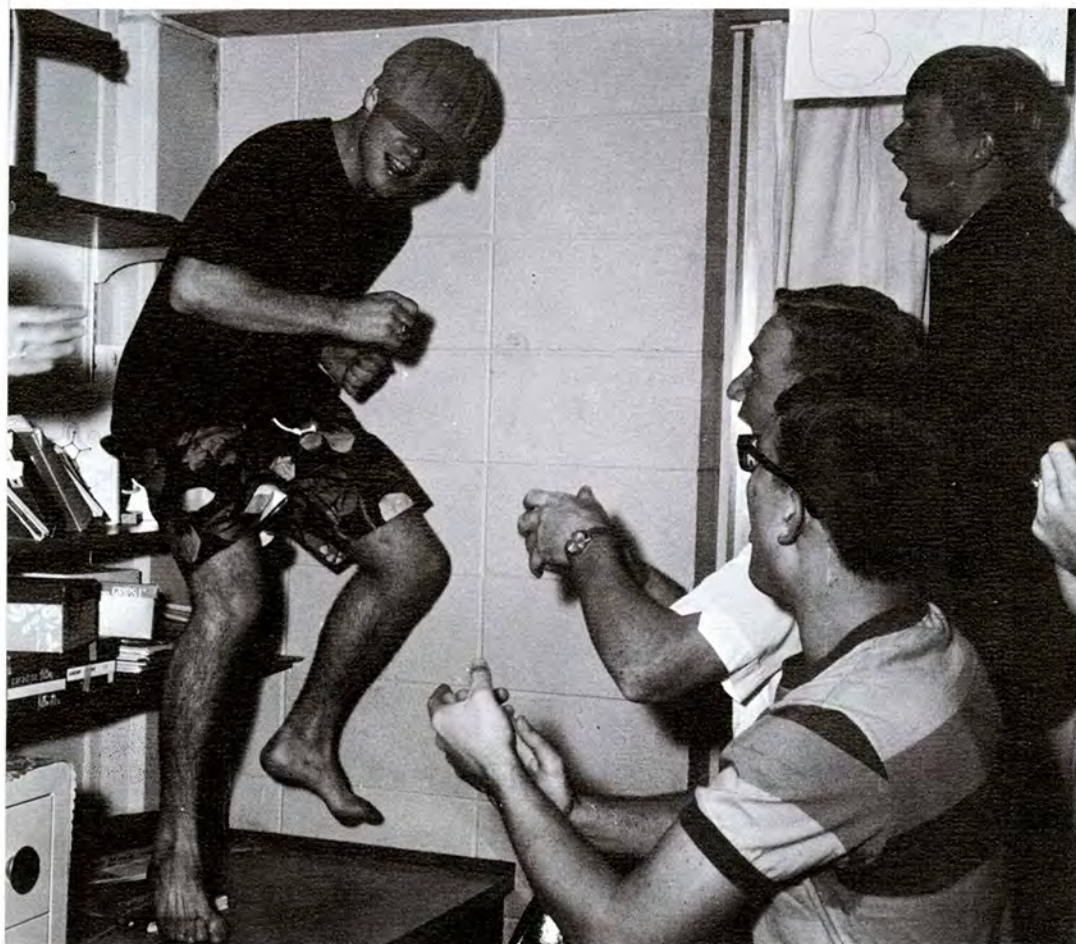

Dorms' Open House

This coed seems overwhelmed by a display of Nazism in one dorm room.

"Go-go guys" add to the fun and frolic of dormitory open house.

State's guys and gals eagerly await dormitory open house, each year. The year 1966-67 brought some changes in previous tradition—Waneta Hall had a formal open house on a Sunday afternoon, without decorations.

Other dorms preferred to stick with tradition and decorate their dorms and themselves in fantastic combinations.

Besides the fun that residents have in decorating their dorms and planning for open house activities, open house can serve other functions. It's a place for guys and gals to meet in a friendly, relaxed atmosphere.

Not enough girls at open house?

This gentleman doesn't seem to be convincing this coed.

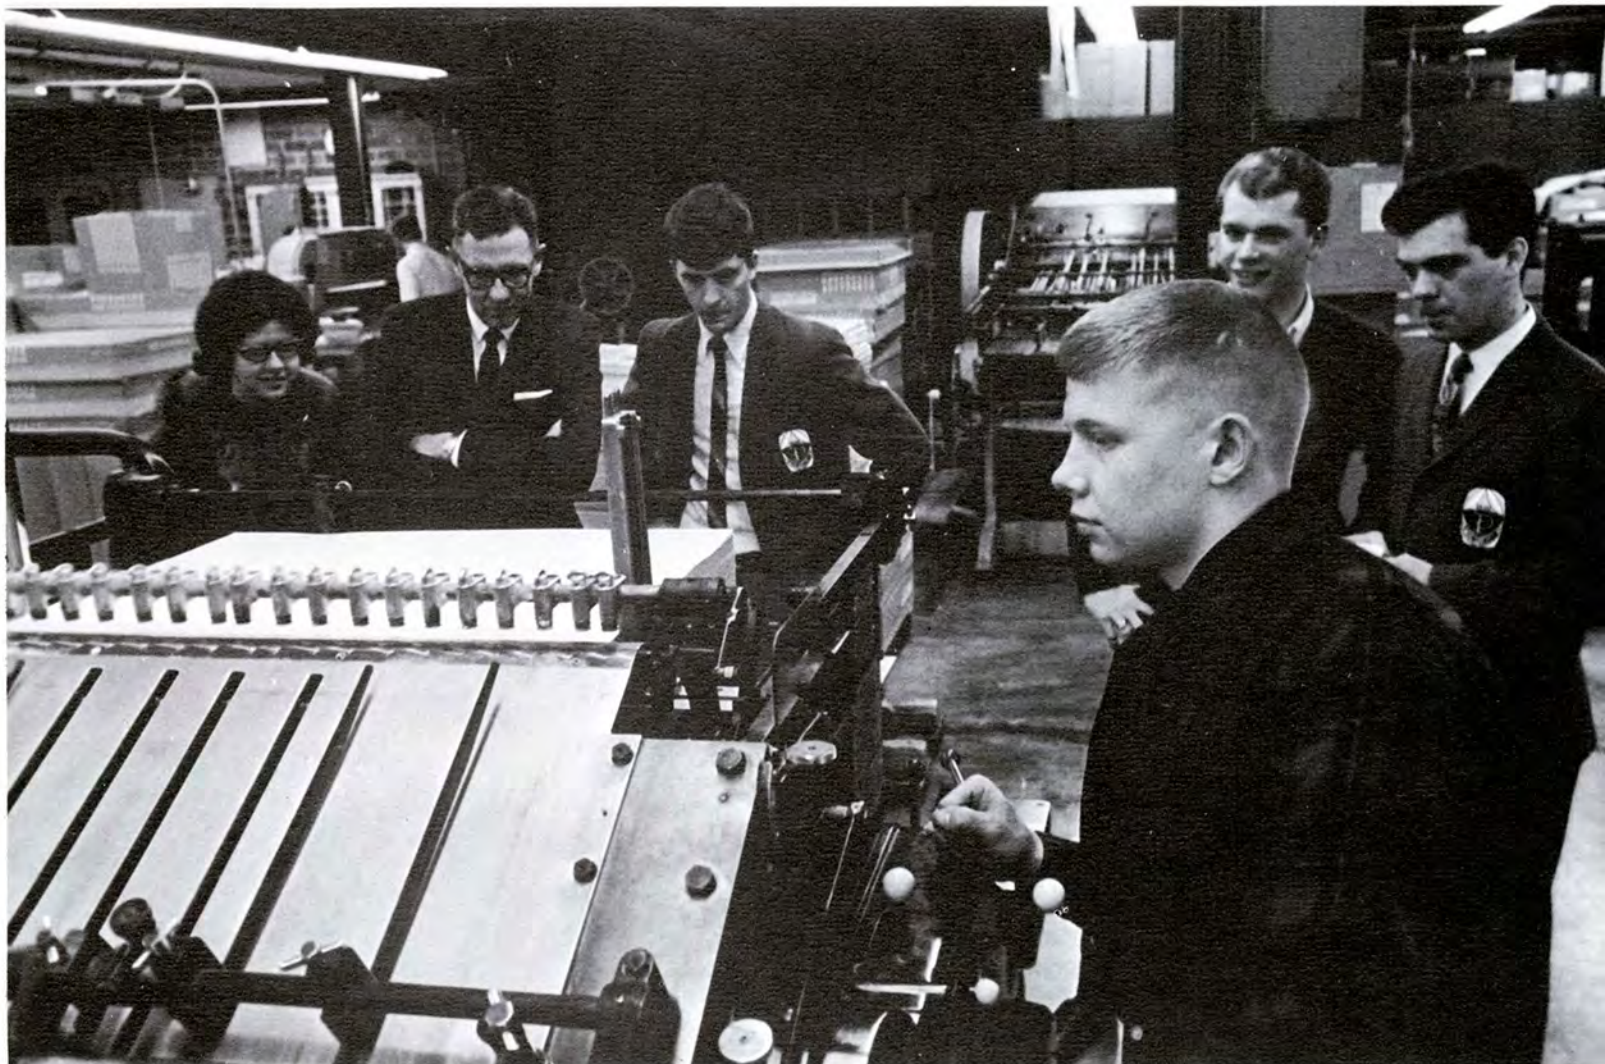

It's certain that the tradition of dormitory open house will stay with State in years to come. Any ideas for next year?

Hey, they've got softer beds than we do!

Printing Week

Now, if everything is going all right . . . the paper should be coming out there . . . and about now.

Mmmmm. He looks good enough to eat.

This is worse than dandruff.

From the matrix to the newsprint, tours through State's printing facilities were complete during the 39th Annual Printing Week festivities in January.

Coronation of Sharon Moser as 1967 Miss Printing climaxed the week. A Ben Franklin banquet was also held.

Confetti and shrieks of laughter filled the Christy Ballroom the night of the annual Printonian Ball.

The gold jackets of Printonian Club planned a successful 1967 Printing Week.

Hey, no fair ganging up on a guy like that.

Harding Lectures

A syndicated Washington columnist, a philosopher, a Shakespearean authority and the commander of the US Army's First Infantry Division were among seven speakers booked for The 1966-67 Distinguished Harding Lecture Series.

Roscoe Drummond, Washington columnist in 160 daily newspapers, began the 1966-67 series with his lecture in October.

Scientist, educator, author, Gerald Wendt who directs UNESCO Publications in New York, lectured in November.

Founder of the Tyrone Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis, Sir Tyrone Guthrie was here in February.

Commander of "The Big Red 1" in South Viet Nam and a State alumnus, Maj. Gen. W. E. DePuy lectured in February, also.

Editor of "ETC: A Review of General Semantics," Dr. Samuel Hayakawa analyzed the language in April.

Final lecturer was Nila Magidoff, Russian-born naturalized citizen who spoke on Women's Day.

Engineer's Week

"Engineering for the Human Environment" was the theme for 1967 Engineer's Week.

A smoker, open house at Crothers Engineering Hall, Agricultural Engineering Hall and the Power Laboratory, crowning of an Engineer's Sweetheart at halftime of the SDSU-USD basketball game, and a dance highlighted the week's activities.

1966 Engineer's Sweetheart is Janet Graverson. Her attendants included Nancy Bowers and Nancy Asper.

Uldis Birznies was general chairman of 1967 Engineer's Week. Other chairmen included Jim Cutler, Arne Ekstrom, Larry Putnam, Robert Kroeger, Byron Anderson, Dennis Vehe, Dennis Micko, Jeff Gelhaus and Paul Wilkens.

Cigarette girls add to the Engineer's Smoker.

Civil Engineering transits get an awesome look from this State coed.

A girl-detecting, whistling device produced enjoyable responses in the electrical engineering display at open house.

Jeff Gelhaus seems pleased as he escorts 1967 Engineer's Sweetheart Janet Graverson.

Brigadoon

State University's spring musical, "Brigadoon," was performed before large crowds March 8-11 in the University Auditorium. The musical, based on the lyrics and music of Lerner and Loewe, told the story of two wanderers who become captivated by the magic spell of the beautiful little village called Brigadoon situated in Scotland. The cast was headed by Gregory Culling S3 and Stan Latimer S1 as Tommy Albright and Jeff Douglas, two New Yorkers of the present day who stumbled on the magical 18th Century Village. Musical Director for the production was Karl Theman; Dramatic Director was Lawrence Stine; Designer and Technical Director was Clarence Denton. The show was choreographed by Constance Woods.

And, way o'er yon, me bonnie lad, ye'll find . . .

Little International

No matter what they say, there's just got to be an easier way.

The student agricultural and home economics exposition, better known as the "Little 'I'" came to the SDSU campus March 17-18 with students taking part in competition ranging from livestock judging to homemaking sweepstakes.

For two days the gymnasium was transformed into a barn (not that it hasn't been called that before) as students paraded farm animals, showed crops and machinery, manned booths and displayed horticulture exhibits.

Homemaking competition at the Administration building was as keen though food demonstrations and style shows took the place of livestock and machinery exhibits.

Top awards went to Larry Miller A3, winner of the grand championship trophy in Saturday night competition, and Linda Murray H4 who was awarded sweepstakes and food championship honors during the afternoon style show.

A brother act took honors in agricultural competition. The reserve grand champion was Gary Bruns A2. His brother, Bill Bruns A1 won the "best freshman" award. Also cited was Jerry Kettering A3 as the "best upperclassman."

In homemaking competition Beth Olson H1 was named "best freshman." Carolyn Acheson H1 and Nancy Hansen tied for the clothing award. Winner of the food demonstration award was Jennifer Muchow H1, Connie Mausbach H4 earned the "most fashionable" style show award.

Come on, you big, dumb, stubborn mule, and go when I say go.

Nice and easy girl, you'll be all right.

Maybe we should just grab these trophies and light out of here. What do you say?

You mean we have to walk out there in front of all those people. I think I'm going to be scared.

Other awards handed out in competition included: Beef cattle—Champion herd sire showmanship and champion herd sire fitting, Bill Bruns A1; Sheep—Champion ewe showmanship and champion ewe fitting, Larry Miller A3; Horse—Champion showmanship and champion fitting, Barbara Clark S2; Dairy cattle—Champion fitting, Virginia Oye H2; Swine—Champion showmanship, Gary Carson A4; Agronomy—Sweepstakes, wheat king, corn king and grass king, Dale Buller A1; Machinery—Champion showmanship and tractor division showmanship winner, Terrance Hill E3; Meats judging—Champion, William O'Brien A3; Booths—Sweepstakes, Horticulture club; Horticulture—Sweepstakes and outstanding arrangement, Jim Selken A2.

I . . . don't . . . think . . . I want to go through with this. Hey, fellas! D'ya hear me? I want off.

On your mark . . . get set . . . go.

Union Birthday Party

This year the Pugsley Union reached the ripe old age of 27 and was honored with a birthday party any person would envy.

During the day a tricycle race was held and the competition was keen. Several of the "vehicles" were a long ways away from the familiar child's tricycle. Crash helmets were worn to protect the heads of the coeds steering the contraptions.

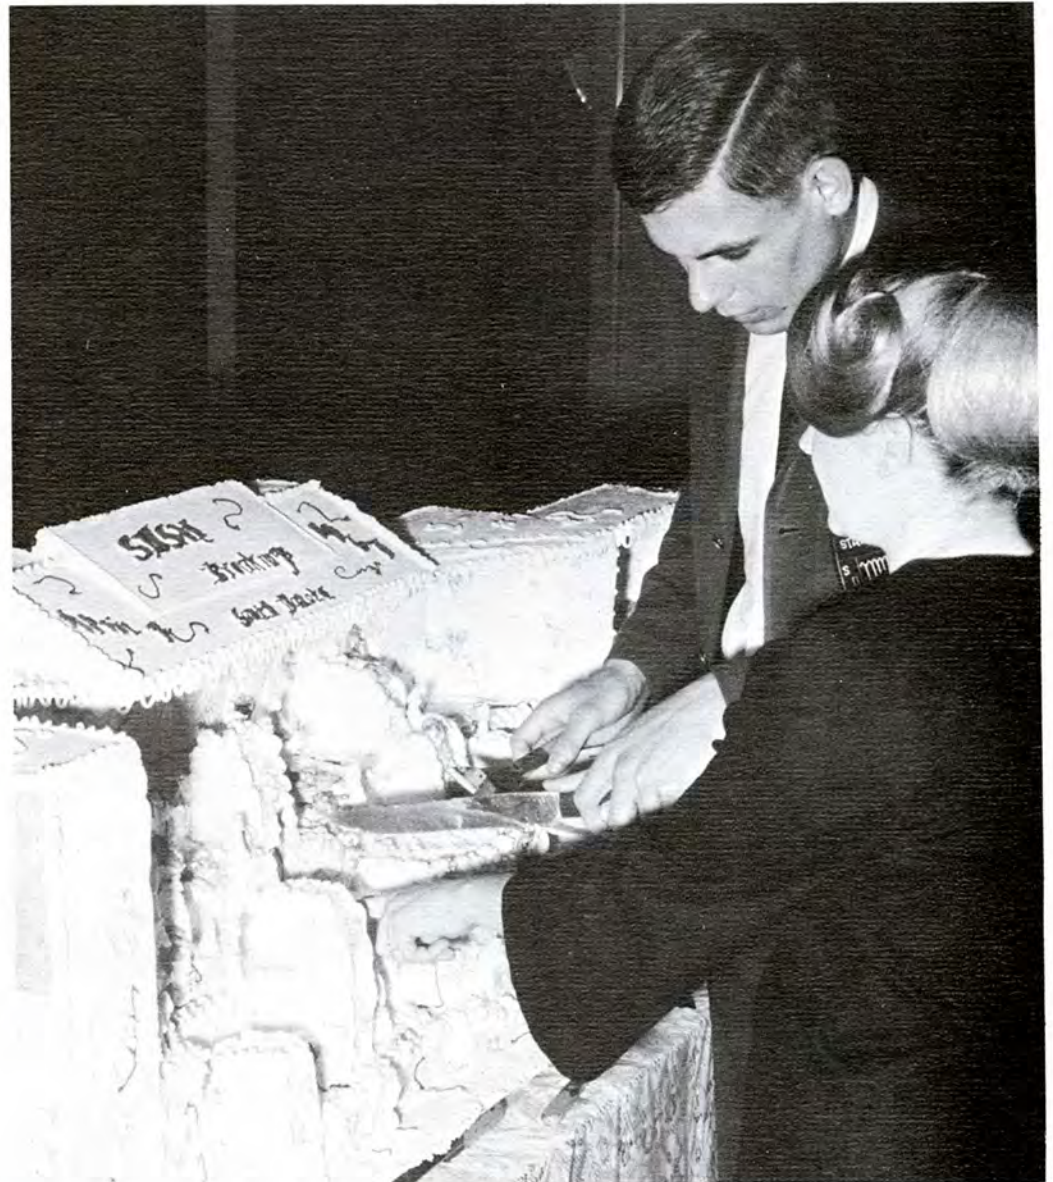

During the party proper, dancing, chess, checkers, cards and even a mouse race were featured. The mice were coaxed, chided, begged and cheered across the Christy Ballroom floor to the finish lines. Woe be to the mouse that did little but go in circles while other contestants headed straight for the finish line. The victorious mouse wins a plaque for its sponsor.

Food is plentiful for hungry guests, with the 150-pound cake the main attraction. It is shaped and frosted as a replica of the Pugsley Union Building.

All Union facilities were available free of charge during the evening. Students could use the ping-pong, billiards and pool tables as they wished.

As the doors were locked after the long evening the aging building no doubt felt every single one of its years. Proceeds from the races are given to charities.

I want that piece there . . . the one with all the frosting.

Beauty Pageant

Sophomore Jane Waldowski was named Miss SDSU and will represent State at the Miss South Dakota Beauty Pageant in Hot Springs this summer.

Miss Waldowski sang a medley from "Mary Poppins" for the talent portion of the contest and also danced.

First runner-up Lynne Haas performed a ballet routine. Jan Samuelsen was named second runner-up and Miss Congeniality. Miss Samuelsen sang and accompanied herself on the guitar.

Candidates promenade sedately . . .

and answer questions as they vie for the title Miss SDSU.

Every spring one girl is chosen to represent State University in many social functions throughout the year. She may be called upon to welcome the governor to the campus or meet visiting dignitaries. She is usually beautiful and wears a crown and goes by the title of Miss SDSU.

The beauty pageant entries are interviewed by judges to see if they possess those special qualities of poise, talent, and personality. The coed that impresses the judges most in these areas will most likely be named queen and will reign for a full year until the next beauty pageant is held.

Campus organizations sponsor the contestants and furnish an entry fee. The SDSU Board of Control is in charge of the entire pageant with the Student Association vice-president directing a good share of the work involved. Entertainment and a master of ceremonies must be provided for the pageant, as well as the judges, who have the difficult job of selecting one girl.

S.A. Election

A 57% voter turnout on March 21 elected Byron Anderson S3 and Leonard Dankey A3 to posts as the 1967-68 S.A. president and vice president. The team of Tom Klinkel S3 and Bill Gamble E3 were defeated by a three-to-one margin in what was described as one of the "hottest" campaigns in years, attested to by the fact that the turnout was the highest in recent State University history. Anderson received 1,832 votes to Klinkel's 682. Dankey polled 1,789 votes and Gamble, 663. Out of a possible 4,400 possible votes, 2,514 were cast. Last year's total was 2,021. Also passed was a constitutional amendment to change the date for selection of the business and managing editors of the Jack Rabbit. The staff members had been appointed in December but will now be chosen in the spring.

Coed Ball

In the Misty Moonlight was the theme of the Coed Ball this year. The formal dance, held April 23, provided an occasion when the coeds could provide an evening of entertainment for their fellows.

Jeff Chicoine was chosen Coed Ball King by coeds attending the dance. Jan Sinclair, president of the Women's Self-Governing Association, crowned the king and gave the candidates pictures that had been on display previous to the dance.

The Coed Ball is a girl-ask-boy dance sponsored annually by the WSGA.

"This is a great dance. All six of the others said so, too."

"I want to thank my mother, my hairdresser, my drama coach, my fans"

Fine Arts Festival

Mimes by a Dutchman, poetry from a Negro Pulitzer prize-winner, notes from an artist-educator-author, dancing by a Minnesota guild and a Peking night highlighted the 1967 Fine Arts Festival at State.

Frans Reynders and his mimes thrilled State's audience with his pantomime art, "Surgeon," "Soldier," "Girl," and "Man at the Table" were among topics mimed by the Dutchman.

Gwendolyn Brooks, Pulitzer prize-winning poet who began writing verse at age seven, lectured to interested press and public.

Albert Christ-Janer, artist whose paintings appear in eight galleries and whose four books dot libraries, spoke to an art-inclined audience.

"A Night at the Peking Opera," gave South Dakota students a chance to be a Chinese audience.

Women's Day

A speech by a Russian-born woman journalist highlighted 1967 Women's Day.

Nila Magidoff, heroine of the bestseller "Nila" and a naturalized US citizen, spoke at the Women's Day banquet and also at a Harding Lecture that night.

Other Women's Day activities included a Pasquettes Concert, a WSGA tea, and a May Fete honoring high scholarship in State University's coeds.

Reigning as May Queen was senior Elaine Larson.

To the winner goes the spoils.

"If I say you play 'Pin the Tail on the Donkey,' You play 'Pin the Tail on the Donkey!'"

Jack Rabbit Stampede

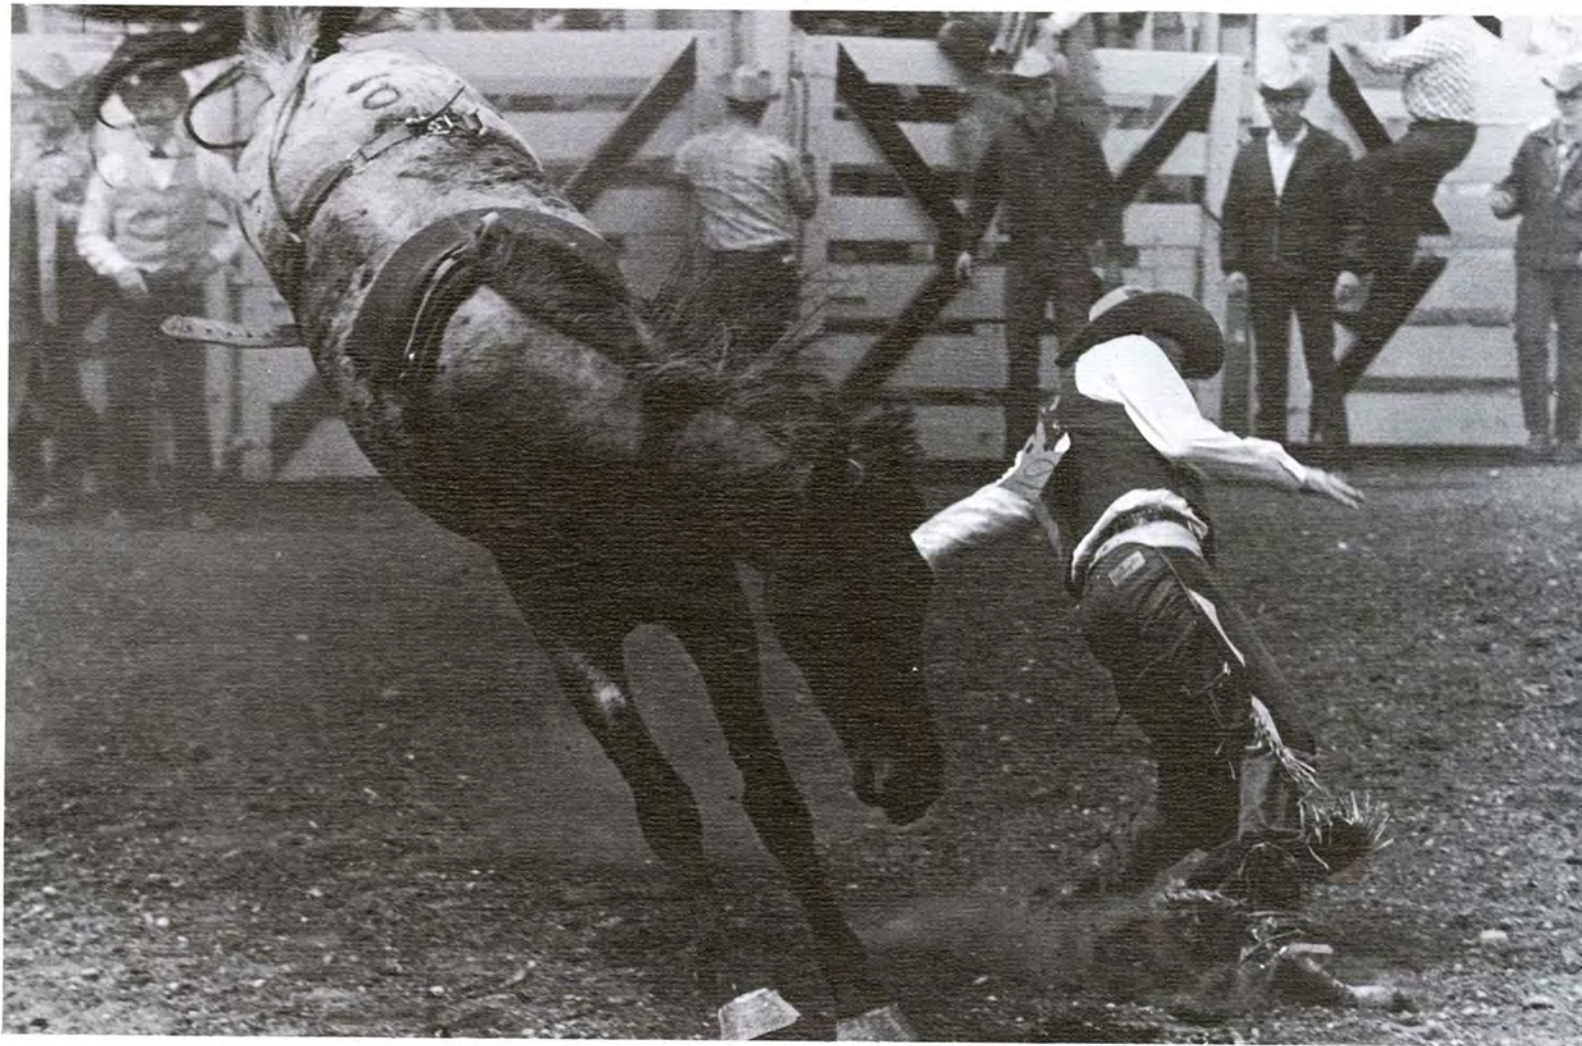

"Somebody forgot to dope this beast."

The weekend of May 12-13 took on a distinctly western appearance as the 13th annual Jack Rabbit Stampede brought together cowboys and cowgirls from eight states to compete for $1,300 in prizes and trophies at the SDSU rodeo grounds. Nineteen teams from North Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska, Kansas, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota rode, roped and "barreled" their way through Friday evening and Saturday afternoon performances. When the dust had settled State's team had held on to its first place standing in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association after taking three firsts in men's events. The team earned a smashing 538½ points in six events followed by the National College of Business, with 20. All-around cowboy honors went to State's Don Reichert, first-place winner in bull-riding and steer-wrestling while tying for second in bareback bronc riding.

"Yes, I'm alive and well and have been living somewhere in South Dakota."

"Do you realize what you did to me by stopping to do what you had to do? You cut 20 seconds off my time!"

"I wish I hadn't done that with such flair . . . I broke both of my straps."

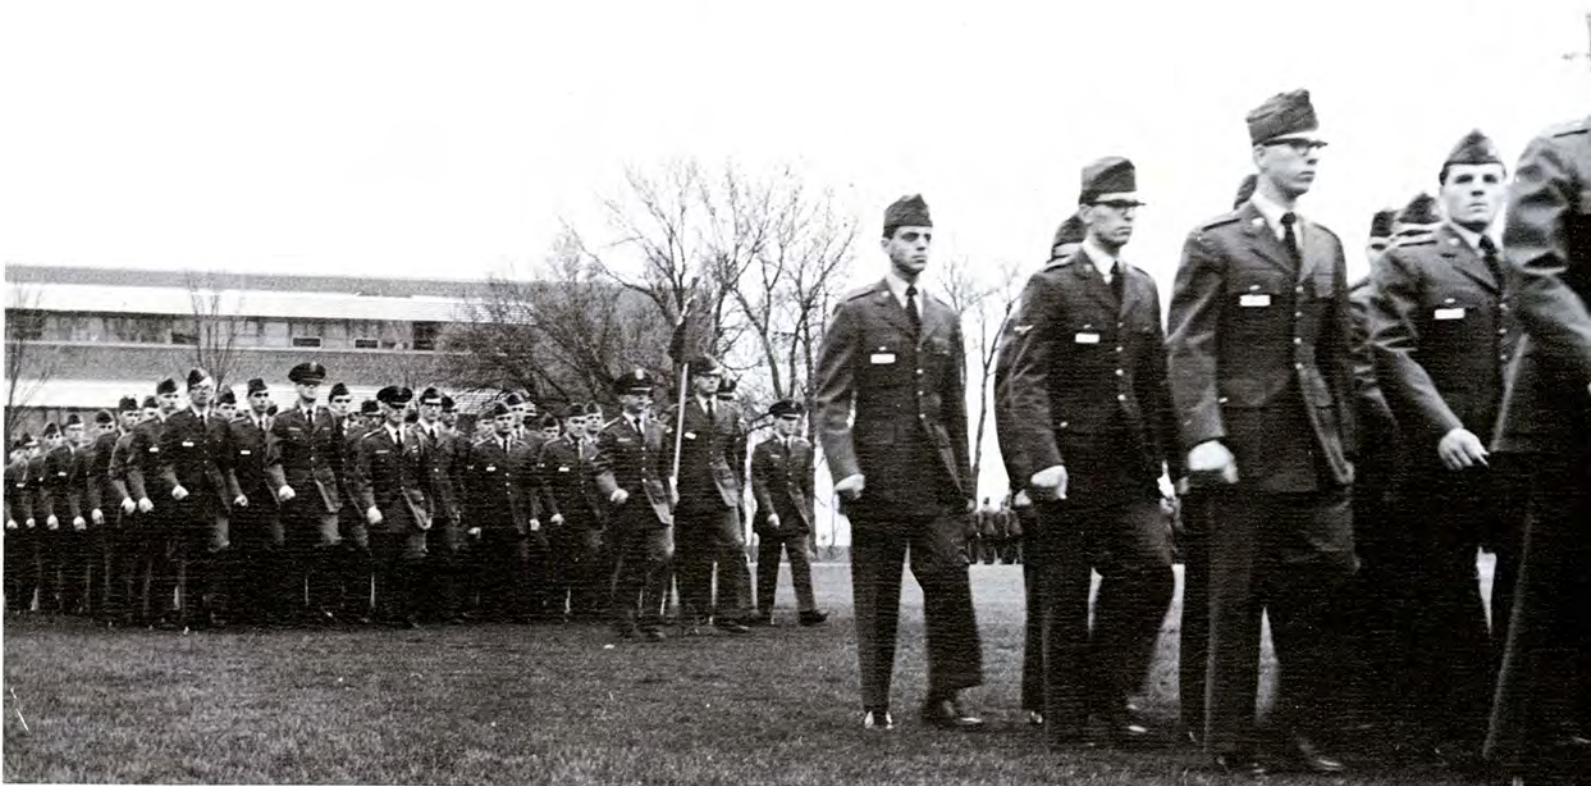

The girls did their part, too. Besides entering in barrel racing and goat tying events, SDSU cowgirls opened Saturday Stampede activities with a pony express ride to Sioux Falls early that morning to deliver tickets for Saturday's matinee to the Crippled Children's Hospital. Friday night's performance opened with the crowning of Linda Preszler Sec 1 as the 1967 Rodeo Queen. Other contestants were Barbara Clark S2, and Georgia Unzer H3.

Governor's Day

The eighth annual Governor's Day ceremonies got under way May 12 at 8 a.m. with a general orientation of a visiting inspection team. Governor Nils Boe addressed the Governor's Convocation in the auditorium at 10:30 at which time he commended State University students for their conduct "in an age when freedom and liberty are not always regarded as a privilege deserving of responsible treatment." He pointed out the importance of freedom of conscience and constructive criticism and said "the students of South Dakota have acted with stability and responsibility in these areas of democratic freedom."

A snappy salute and precision marching a warm smile and a friendly handshake help make Governor's Day.

A joint military review and memorial service on the campus green highlighted afternoon events. President Briggs delivered a memorial address after which a wreath was placed on the memorial grave stone by S. A. president Lyle Ireland. All campus ROTC units participated in the review. The Coteau Rangers, a special forces unit patterned after the Green Berets, marched for the first time with the other units. Approximately 75 awards were given ROTC members. Rainy weather has forced many of the activities inside during the past few years but this time participants and spectators were treated to plenty of sunshine.

Three Men on a Horse

The State University Theatre presented a fast-paced comedy, "Three Men on a Horse" which ran May 18-19 at the Auditorium. The play, a hit Broadway show of the 1930's, concerned the trials and tribulations of three gamblers who put all their financial trust in the predictions of a meek little fellow whose daily bus rides to work gave him time to dope race horses. Lead roles in the three-act production were played by Martin Brokenleg S2, Jean Moeckly S2 and Bruce Lorange G. Miss

Moeckly portrayed Mabel, (the role originally played by Shirley Booth in original Broadway run) girlfriend to Patsy (Lorange), one of the three gamblers relying on the "predictions" of Erwin Trowbridge (Brokenleg). The other two gamblers were played by Greg Culling S3 and John Meisch S3. Much of the action in the play centered around discussions which took place in a hotel bar run by John Murphy S1 as the bartender. Others in the cast of the reserved seat production included Dorothy Sunne S3, Perry Vining S1, Christopher Denton, Stan Latimer S1, Phil Hegg S2, Jerry Thurman A2, Margaret Stacey S3, Jane Waldowski S2, Bryan Peeke S3 and Gary Hocking S3. Technical Director for the Spring presentation was James Wilcox. Clarence Denton was in charge of production.

"Harold . . . there's your wife . . . with my husband!"

"I saw her first!"

Commencement

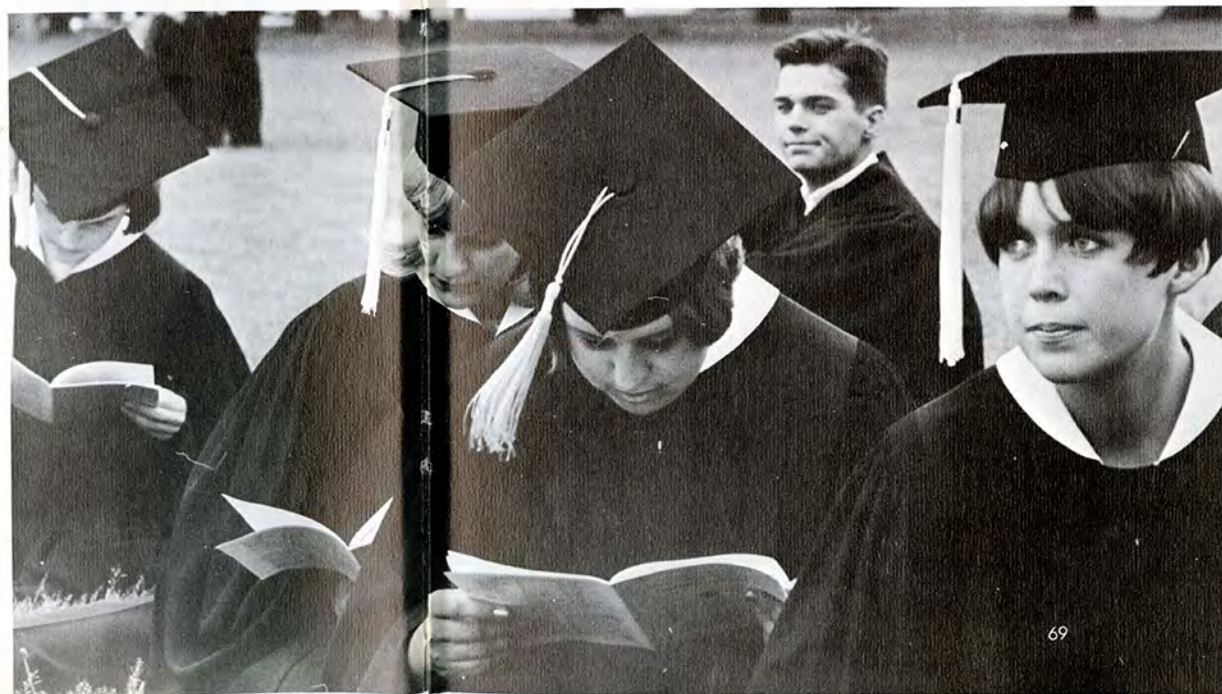

Wait till I tell Hubert I'm graduating cum laude.

On Sunday evening, June 4, the 81st annual Commencement exercises at Sylvan Theatre played to a "full house." Over 6000 persons filled the outdoor theatre to watch 500 graduates receive their diplomas and to listen to the main address given by Vice President Hubert Humphrey. Amid TV cameras, a large contingent of Secret Service agents and popping flashbulbs, graduates were awarded 475 bachelors degrees, 60 masters degrees, 1 doctorate and 14 two-year certificates of completion. The Vice President himself was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree—the highest honor attainable at State. For those graduating, the long walk in procession from Ag Hall leading up to that short sprint across the stage marked the end of what had been a way of life—all those years from kindergarten on up spent in studying, struggling and learning. This was really it. This was the end of one way of life and the very beginning of another. The cap and gown would soon come off and the responsibilities and situations to be faced would no longer be those of a student in a classroom of fellow students but those of an individual living in a pretty complex world. This was truly being "on your own."

"That's not 'Pomp and Circumstance', that's 'Yellow Rose of Texas.' "

Academe

Jack Rabbit Readers:

Universities and colleges develop traditions because certain ideas and specific functions meet with the favor of successive student bodies. Truly, the annual Jack Rabbit is a tradition on this campus, because it serves a purpose that can be met in no other way.

Each recipient of this book will have a pride of ownership when he first receives his or her copy; and this will develop into true pride of possession, over the years. Nothing you carry from this campus will revive so many pleasant memories and associations. It will be a continuing reference as long as you live.

There has been a point of pride for each Jack Rabbit staff to produce the most superior book in a growing list of outstanding productions. Their countless hours of planning, effort, and devotion will be increasingly appreciated by you in the years ahead.

We do trust this annual adds to your appreciation of this past school year and your entire collegiate career at South Dakota State University.

Sincerely,

H. M. Briggs

Dave Pearson

David F. Pearson holds the number two position in the administrative hierarchy at South Dakota State University. As chief assistant to President Briggs, Pearson has administrative responsibility for the offices of Student Personnel and Admissions and Records and for staff assignments. In addition, he handles many legal matters affecting the university and acts for the president in his absence.

Serving also as Director of Development on campus, Pearson directs the public relations program. This includes work on publicity, Parents' Day, high school relations and anything else connected with State's image.

A graduate of South Dakota State, Pearson also holds a law degree from the University of South Dakota.

Dean Bailey

Harold S. Bailey, Dean of Academic Affairs, has the responsibility of coordinating the work of the individual college deans with the president's program.

Formerly a professor of pharmaceutical chemistry with the College of Pharmacy, Dean Bailey assumed his present position six years ago.

This year he was very much involved with revising several courses within each college department. Many one and two credit courses were either eliminated or combined in order to improve curricula within the colleges.

Dean Bailey is also Dean of the Graduate School and serves as chairman of the Scholastic Standards Committee. Students with a refused status who wish to remain in school are usually required to have an interview with the Dean.

Dean Chapman

To aid in the balanced development of the students to the full extent of their aptitudes and interests is the purpose of the Office of Student Personnel.

In charge of providing the services necessary to achieve this goal is Dean Raymond Y. Chapman. He is responsible for developing cumulative information concerning each student, for testing, orientation and counseling of freshmen and for maintaining relations with high school students prior to their entrance into the university.

In addition, Dean Chapman serves as adviser to the foreign students and is the academic dean for students enrolled in General Registration and pre-professional curricula.

The Office also helps students with financial problems to obtain loans and employment.

James Pedersen

James O. Pedersen, Director of Admissions and Records, puts the final necessary signatures on diplomas of South Dakota State University graduates.

Responsible for watching over students from the time they enter the university until they graduate, Pedersen comes in contact with students in many ways during their college years.

His office is in charge of admitting all students. In addition, the office is responsible for tabulating grades and interpreting rules and regulations.

Other duties of the office of Admissions and Records include planning the yearly calendar and allocating classrooms.

This is Pedersen's second year as director of the office.

Dean Walder

Dean of Men, Orlin E. Walder, is a busy man on campus. Better known as the 'Prof', he holds down four positions—Dean of Men, Director of Student Affairs, Professor of Mathematics and Manager of Harding Hall.

A dynamic instructor, he teaches a course each year in advanced calculus. In addition, he is chairman of both the Union Executive Committee and the Student Conduct Committee, and is one of the two voting faculty members on Board of Control.

Prof. Walder is chiefly responsible for student disciplinary problems. He works closely with the Board of Control in solving student problems and planning action.

This year, much progress was made in updating rules and regulations involving student conduct.

Dean Volstorff

As Dean of Women, Vivian V. Volstorff is concerned with the welfare of women students on campus. Her work includes supervising six residence halls, public relations, personal counseling and student conduct.

She is a faculty representative on the Board of Control and serves as adviser to the Women's Self-Governing Association and the Women's Dorm Council.

In addition to her responsibilities as Dean of Women, Miss Volstorff teaches a course in contemporary world history and gives occasional lectures on international affairs and on college youth topics.

A member of the University staff since 1932, she has been responsible for initiating most of the social opportunities now available for women on campus.

College of Agriculture and Biological Sciences

Fungicides . . . calibration of spray applicators . . . cytogenetics . . . agrostology . . . phytopathogenesis . . . even the 'Aggies' are getting technical these days.

The heart of 'Moo-U' university, the College of Agriculture and Biological Sciences trains students for a multitude of careers.

Headed by Dean Duane Acker, the academic program in the college is two-fold. One program deals with the traditional field of agriculture and the other with biological sciences.

With demand for agriculture graduates steadily increasing, the college aims at developing well-rounded educated individuals capable of assuming responsible positions in today's agricultural fields.

Most graduates of the college enter the fields of farming and ranching production, government service, agricultural business and industry, agricultural extension and teaching.

The backbone of South Dakota's economy, agriculture has found a technical center at South Dakota State University.

Experimentation and investigation are carried out for the benefit of South Dakota farmers. Research is conducted dealing with problems of livestock production, dairying, crops, poultry, soils, veterinary, horticulture, farm economics, agricultural engineering and rural sociology.

The results of research form the basis for classroom instruction, extension work and a means of answering inquiries coming to the college.

The curricula lead to the bachelor of science degree. This year the college graduated 147 students.

Dean Duane Acker

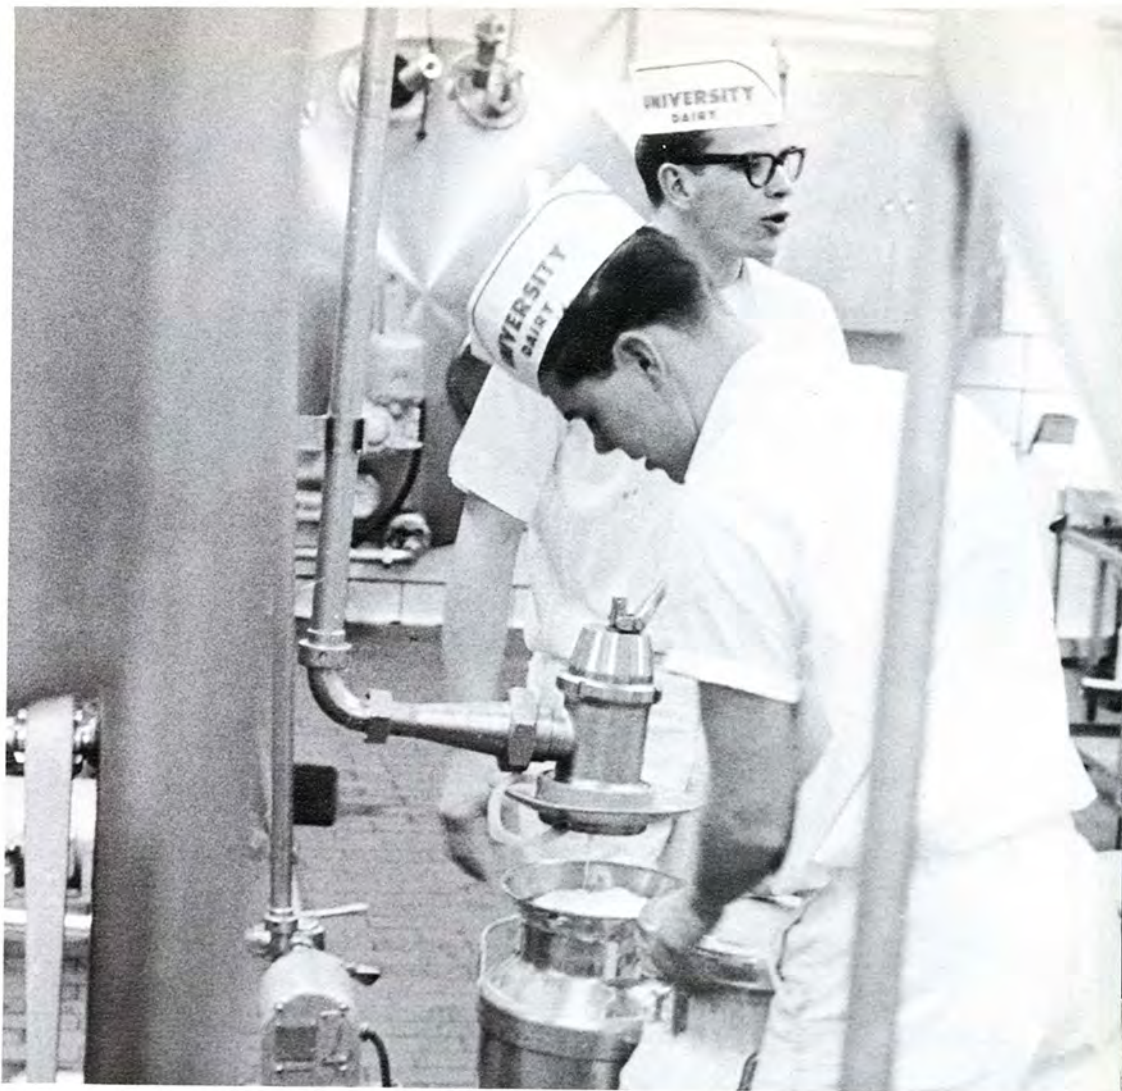

New discoveries to aid the field of agriculture can begin in State's laboratories.

Mechanical aspects of farm operation are learned by State's agriculture students.

Students enrolled in the agriculture curricula prepare for careers in technical, professional and business occupations dealing with producing, processing and distribution of farm products.

Persons employed in the agricultural industry add up to 40 per cent of the 65 million people employed in U. S.

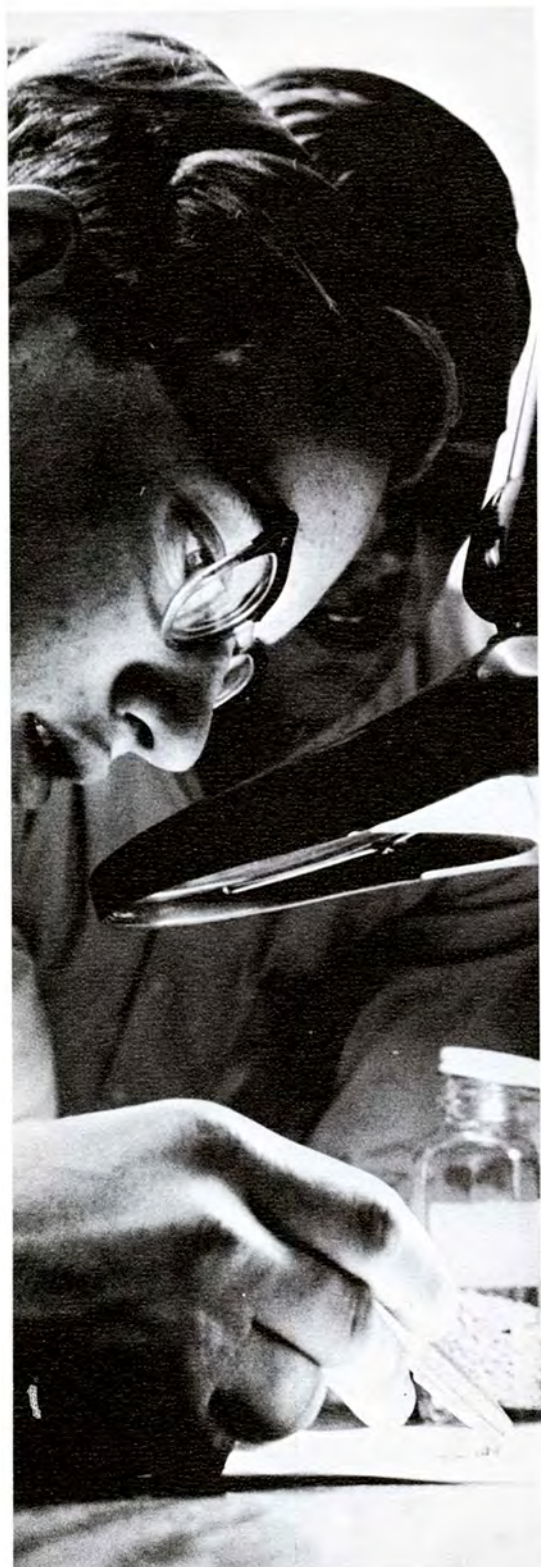

University Dairy provides a learning experience and a wide selection of dairy products.

Plant breeding and experimenting are important parts of agriculture at State University.

Students enrolled in the biological science curricula prepare for technical and professional occupations dealing with the basic fields of plant and animal life.

With more leisure time, the American public has put pressure on outdoor recreational facilities. More graduates are constantly being demanded to serve in such public agencies as park services, fish and wildlife agencies, high schools and colleges.

Seed testing involves precise analyses.

Meat judging by ag students is done in the classroom and on judging trips.

It's English, chemistry, history, math and speech in the fall; and zoology, art, music and French in the spring. With thirty majors now offered, students enrolled in the College of Arts and Science study a wide variety of subjects.

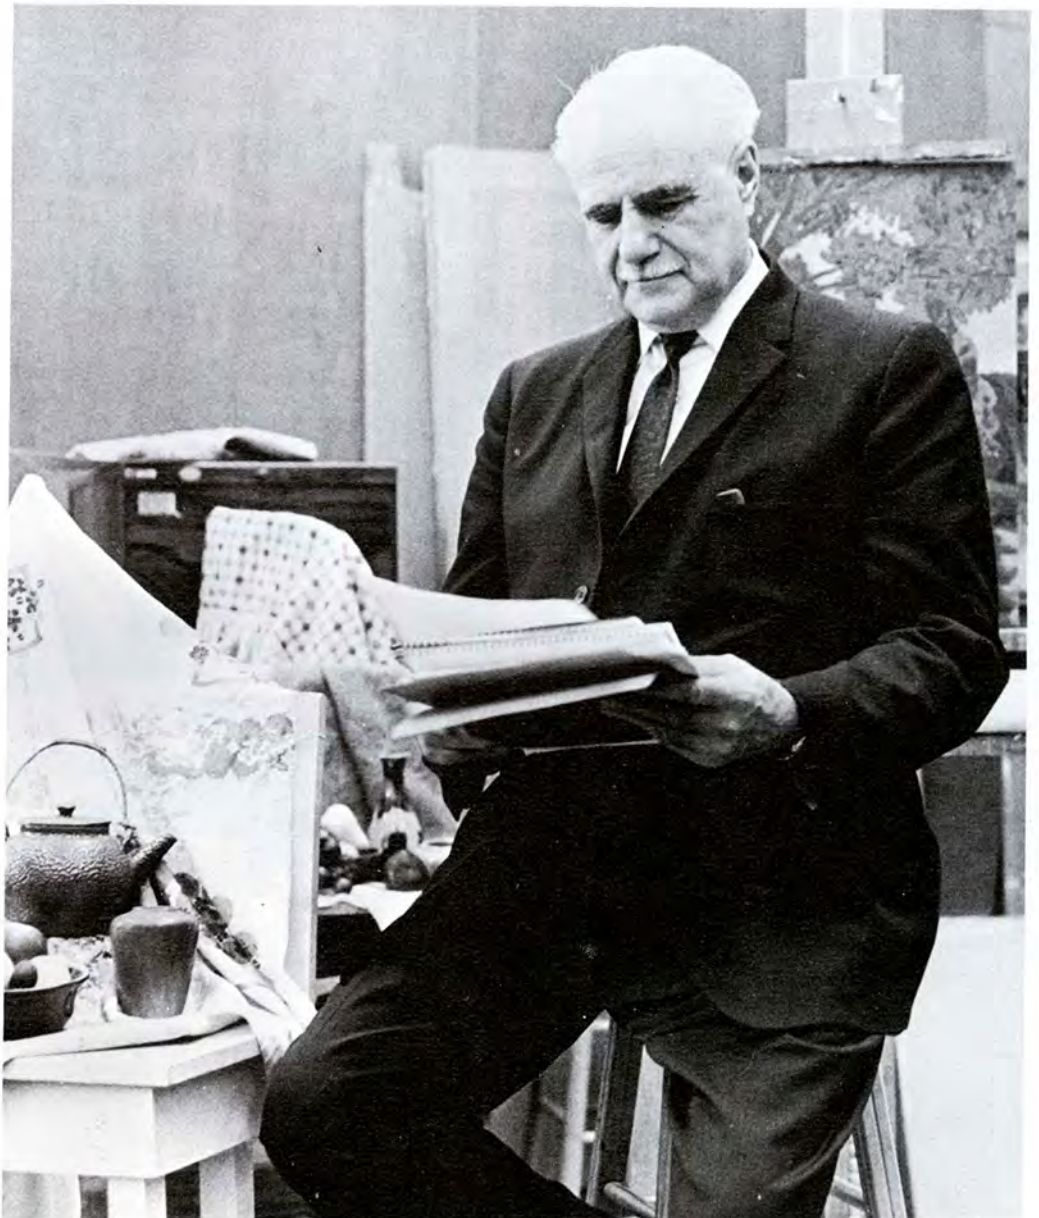

Headed by Dean Frank G. Schultz, the college is the largest of the seven academic units on campus. From art to zoology, the curricula are designed to prepare students for careers in education, government, business and other professional fields.

Either the bachelor of arts or bachelor of science degree may be earned. The first bachelor of arts degree conferred by State was received this year by Carol Suko, an English major from Custer, South Dakota.

In addition to the four-year curricula, two-year terminal courses leading to the Certificate of Completion are available in the fields of industrial arts, printing and secretarial science.

Dean Schultz, who has served in his present position for the past twenty-five years, will be handing over his job to Dr. Allen Barnes this fall. Well-known for his ever-present cigar, Dean Schultz has made many important administrative decisions affecting the growth of the College of Arts and Science.

Dean Frank G. Schultz

A geography course became part of the new Arts and Science curriculum at State University.

A. and S. students tune up for one of State's many musical productions.

Most of the basic college courses, such as English and algebra which are required of all freshman students, come under the jurisdiction of the College of Arts and Sciences.

Because of increasing enrollments, the use of instructional television has grown tremendously in order to relieve the pressures of great student numbers in the basic courses.

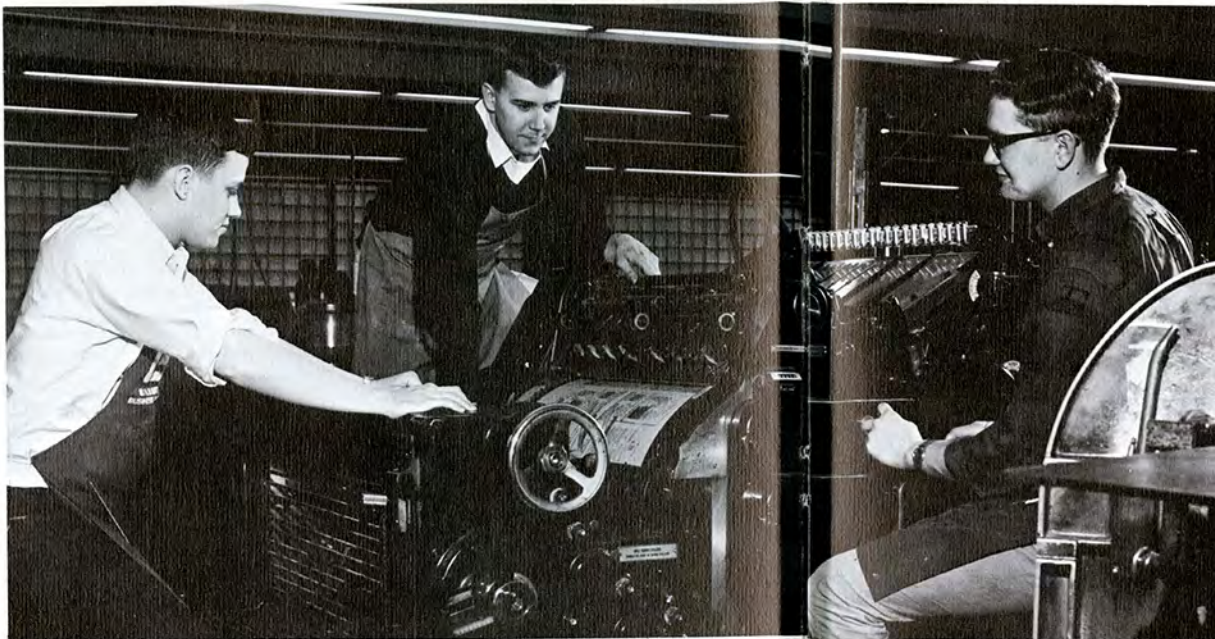

This year, about 750 students took the standard freshman English class by television during the fall semester. A similar number also took the second semester course by television.

General biology and algebra are also taught primarily with instructional television.

With the bachelor of arts degree now available, many students in the College of Arts and Science have revised their curricula in order to qualify for the arts degree.

In addition to two years of foreign language, the arts degree requires more humanities courses than the science degree.

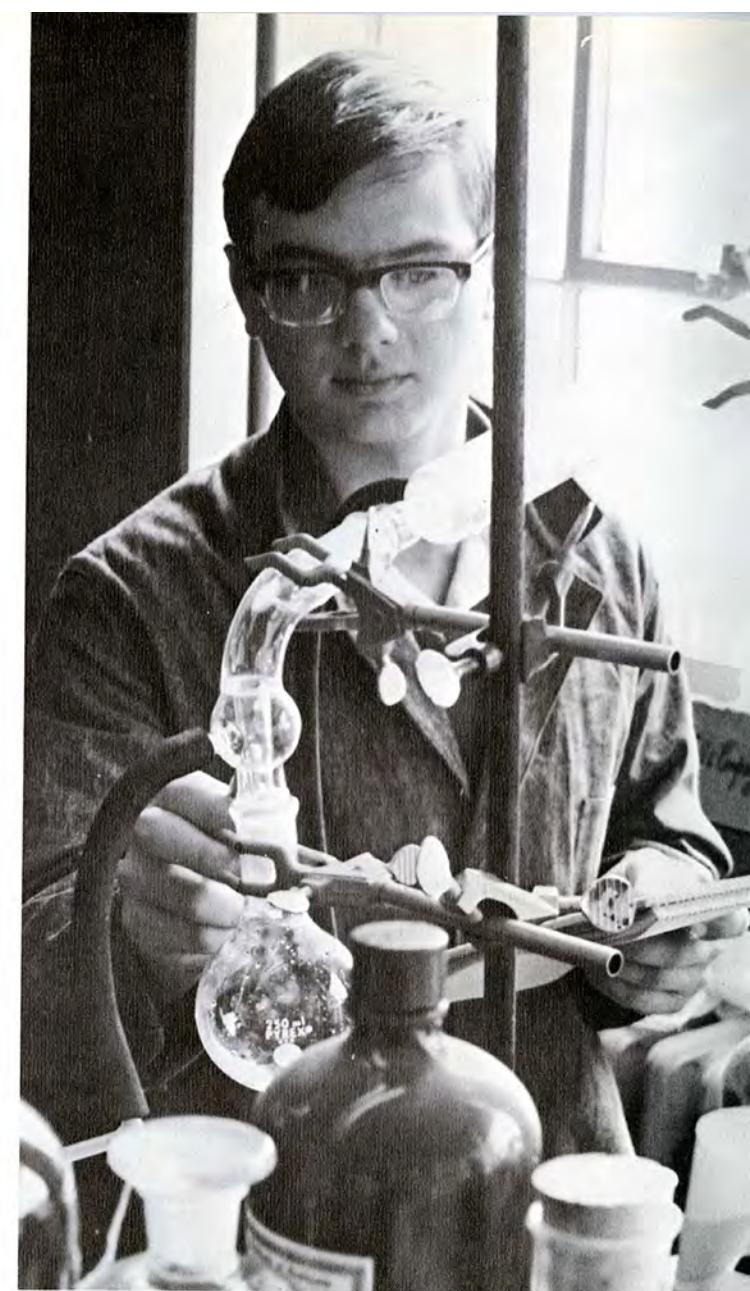

This year, the bachelor of arts degree was conferred on 12 students.

The College of Engineering offers four-year curricula leading to the bachelor of science degree in agricultural, electrical, civil and mechanical engineering and engineering physics. In addition, the mathematics and physics departments are under the jurisdiction of the college.

New in his position this year is John E. Lagerstrom, dean of the college.

Students enrolled in the college are required to take a battery of technical courses. In addition, each curriculum devotes considerable time to communications skills, humanities and social sciences to help the student broaden his background so that he will be prepared to work with men as well as with machines.

In order to help students understand the work in the field for which they are preparing, each curriculum except engineering physics includes at least one industrial inspection trip arranged and supervised by the department.

Engineering physics students usually take one or more trips sponsored by the Society of Engineering Physics.

The college also offers graduate work toward the master's and doctor's degrees.

A highlight of the college each year is Engineers' Week. Student organizations within the college work together to prepare displays of technical projects for a combined open house.

Dean John E. Lagerstrom

Hey, now . . . what's she doing over there with him?

Do you suppose if we just glued it back on, any one would notice?

Now, when I turn this button, she should start, so stand by and hope for the best.

Most engineering curricula require more hours for graduation than any other program on campus with the exception of the pharmacy program.

Students enrolled in agricultural engineering prepare for careers in land improvement, positions with farm machinery and tractor companies, building materials concerns, rural electrification and land and building appraisal work.

Fields open to civil engineering students include location design, construction and operation of highways, bridges and dams, and other facilities essential in modern life.

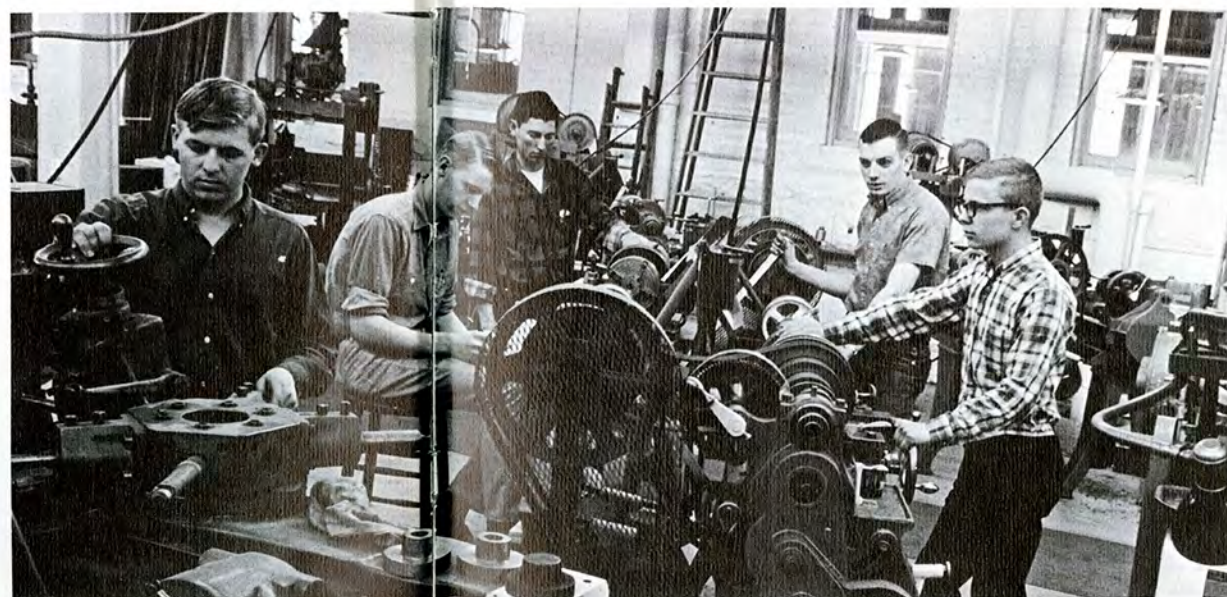

Miles and miles of tape, and still no answer!

Are you sure you guys know what you're doing?

Ah, come on fellas, you know this stuff will never grow.

Electrical engineers are introduced to present day practices in the fields of power and electronics.

Heat power, machine design and production and manufacturing are the three major fields of study available to mechanical engineering students.

Students enrolled in engineering physics prepare for careers in industry which require knowledge of both physical science and engineering techniques.

Frances Hettler is dean of the College of Home Economics. In addition to her administrative duties, Dean Hettler also lectures and teaches classes.

Students enrolled in the college may select one of six majors—education, textiles and clothing, foods and nutrition, child development, journalism and restaurant management.

Home economics majors receive a general education during the first two years and specialize in one of the six areas during their junior and senior years.

About 80 per cent of home economics students are enrolled in education courses and are qualified to teach in high schools following graduation.

The home economics education curriculum is approved by the vocational division of the United States Office of Education.

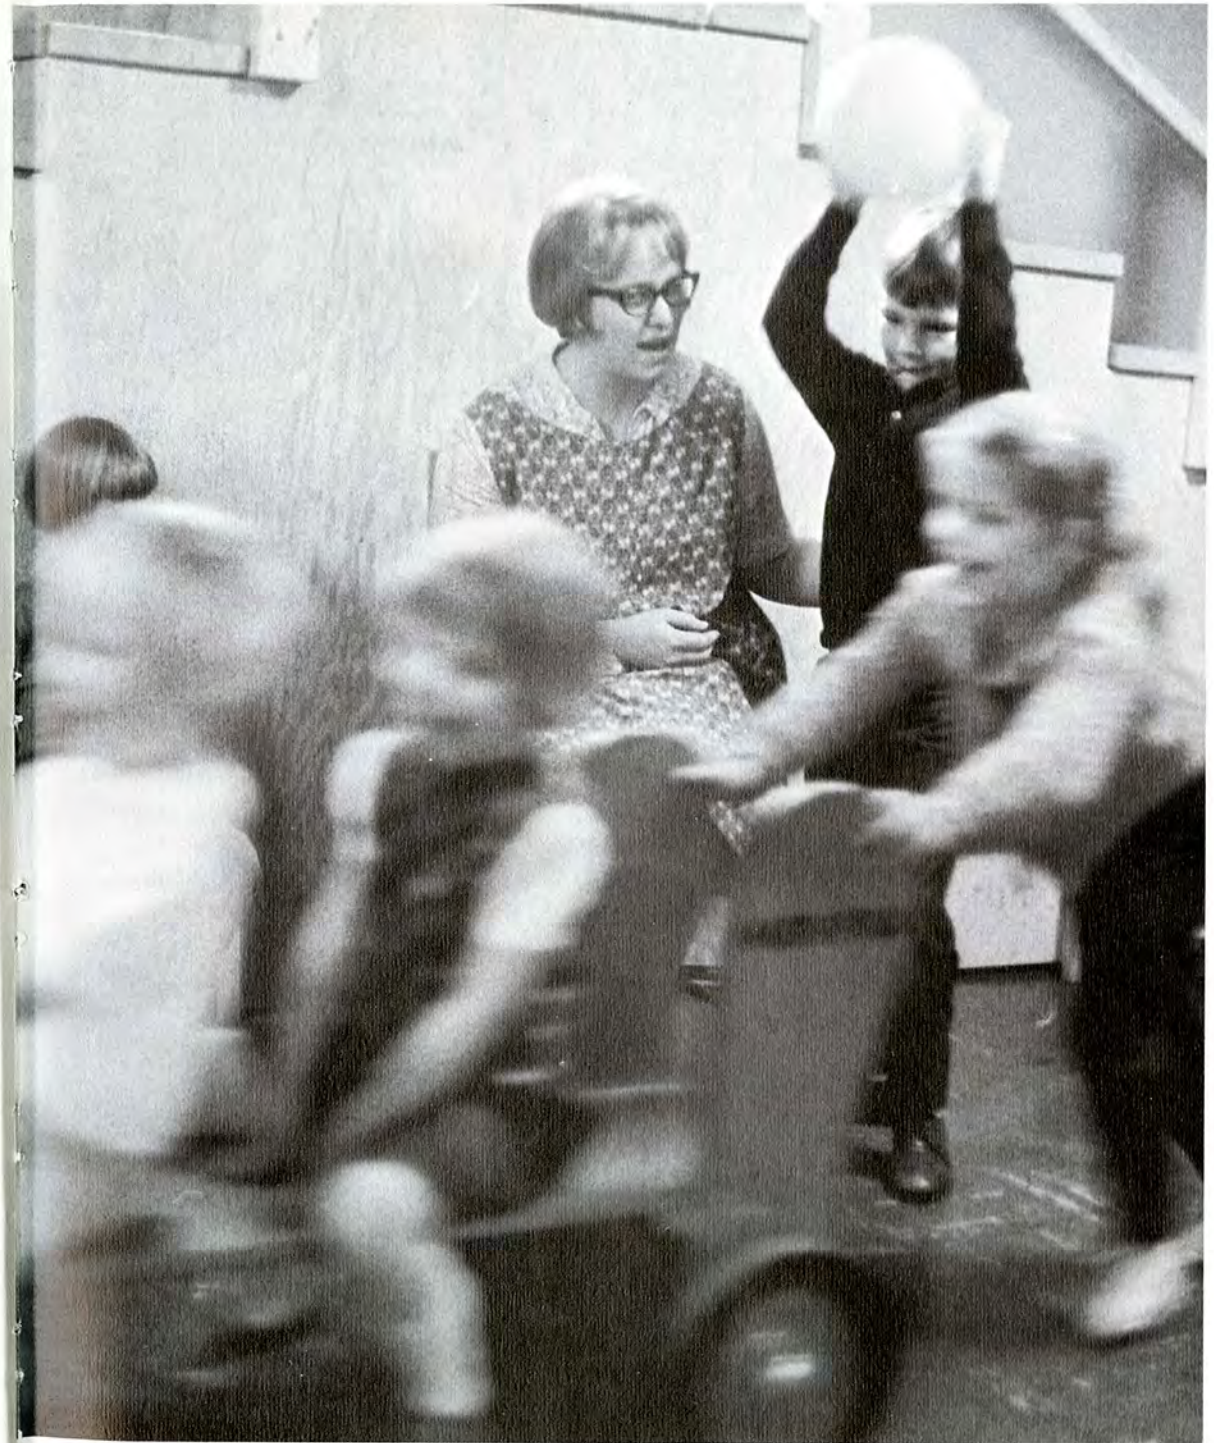

Home management house is a part of the home economics curricula which most senior home ecs look forward to.

Spending one-third semester in the house, the coeds gain actual experience in homemaking and group relations. The students plan their own meals, purchase supplies and prepare and serve the meals.

Another project which helps the students to understand group relations is the family life laboratory. The students work with nursery school children, observing their actions and personality development.

Dean Frances M. Hettler

Energy and enthusiasm of the nursery school set keeps many a State University child development major busy and bustling.

Home economics-journalism majors have the advantage of receiving accredited training in two professional areas. The textiles and clothing department offers opportunities in education, research and merchandizing.

The program in foods and nutrition meets the standards of the American Dietetic Association in permitting graduates to enter dietetic internship in approved hospitals.

Understanding a child's world means becoming part of that world for a while.

Students receiving degrees in restaurant management meet the academic requirements for the Executive Apprenticeship Training Program sponsored by the National Restaurant Association.

Although demand for graduates in this area is large, the department of restaurant management has the smallest enrollment in the College of Home Economics.

Skillful cooking and serving are a part of Home Ec.

From the sewing machine to the dishwasher, State's Home Economics majors learn careful planning and efficiency for the classroom and the home.

The home economics offices and classrooms are located in the northwest corner of the third floor of the Administration Building.

Hampered by lack of space, the Child Development and Family Relations Department uses rooms in the long-condemned East Men's Hall for part of its program.

Members of the Home Ec staff are anxiously awaiting completion of the new Classroom Building, which will provide the College with much needed lab and office facilities.

College of Nursing

Patient care charts . . . oxygen masks . . . "it sounds like a cliché I know, but really, I want to help people" . . . Florence Nightingale lamps . . . blue uniforms, little white caps . . . look so neat, so spotless, so efficient . . . so pretty too . . . what could be better when you're sick?

The College of Nursing at South Dakota State University is the only school of nursing in South Dakota accredited by the National League of Nursing.

Headed by Dean Inez Hinsvark, the college is also accredited by the South Dakota Board of Nursing and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, and is a member agency in the National League for Nursing Department of Baccalaureate and Higher Degree Programs.

The College of Nursing offers two diplomas, college and nursing, both in the span of four years.

Nursing students receive a comprehensive background in the physical, social and natural sciences. Fields in which they are trained are maternal-child health, medical-surgical nursing, communicable diseases, public health and psychiatric nursing.

In addition to classroom courses, students have an opportunity to participate in patient care at rural and urban hospitals, out-patient clinics and public health agencies.

In these hospitals and health agencies, students are taught principles of professional nursing care under the supervision of the South Dakota State University faculty.

The nursing curriculum leads to the bachelor of science degree. Graduates are eligible to write the State Board Examination for licensure as a registered nurse.

Dean Inez Hinsvark

Sophomore nursing majors practice in mock hospital rooms at Solberg Hall.

A nurse's duties can be awesome.

Learning the role of a nurse involves playing the part of a patient.

An additional opportunity available to junior nursing students is serving as a nurse in the Army or Navy.

In return for three years of active duty after graduation, the military provides tuition, fees, allowance for room and board and an allowance pay.

Shots can be fun!

What's it like to be a school nurse?

The use of instructional television has enabled nursing students to view firsthand patient practices.

The College of Nursing has a closed television circuit with the Brookings Hospital. While space restrictions in hospital surgery facilities would allow only a few students to watch an operation, the television program permits entire classes to look on.

Observing patients at the Brookings Hospital gives State University's nurses practical experience.

College of Pharmacy

Pharmacy is the art of preparing, preserving, compounding and dispensing drugs. One of the health professions, the field is vitally concerned with public health and safety.

Under the administration of Dean Raymond E. Hopponen, the College of Pharmacy offers a plan of study designed to prepare students for the professional practice of pharmacy.

Completion of the curriculum takes five years and it's a 'tough grind,' as any 'pill-pusher' will be quick to tell you.

During the first two years of the curricula, fundamental college courses are taken. The last three years of study are devoted to professional work.

The plan of study leads to the bachelor of science degree in Pharmacy. Upon graduation, students are eligible to apply for licensure in any of the states.

Graduates of the college pursue careers not only in drug stores, but in hospitals and as representatives of large companies.

Many graduates go into government work in the areas of Veterans' Administration Hospitals, the Food and Drug Administration and the Federal Bureau of Narcotics.

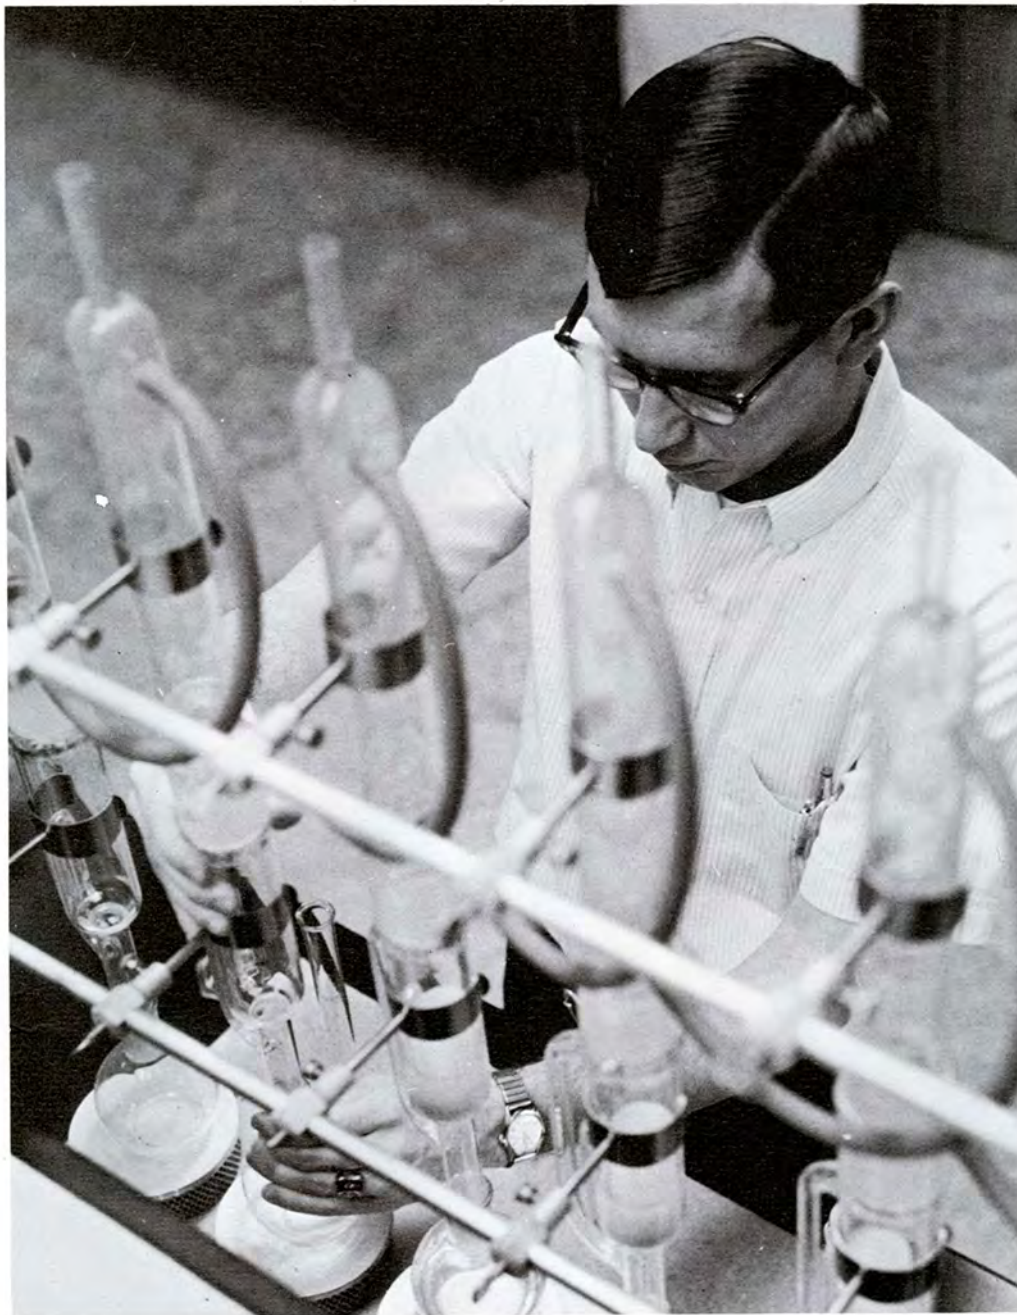

Pharmacy offers many careers which require additional study at the graduate level. The college offers graduate courses leading to the master's degree in pharmacy, pharmaceutical chemistry, pharmacology and pharmacognosy.

An organization which is open to all students enrolled in the College of Pharmacy is the American Pharmaceutical Association.

This group has a reputation for constructing award-winning floats for the Hobo Day Parade. This year the club's float won both the 'Most Beautiful' and the 'Most Outstanding' float awards.

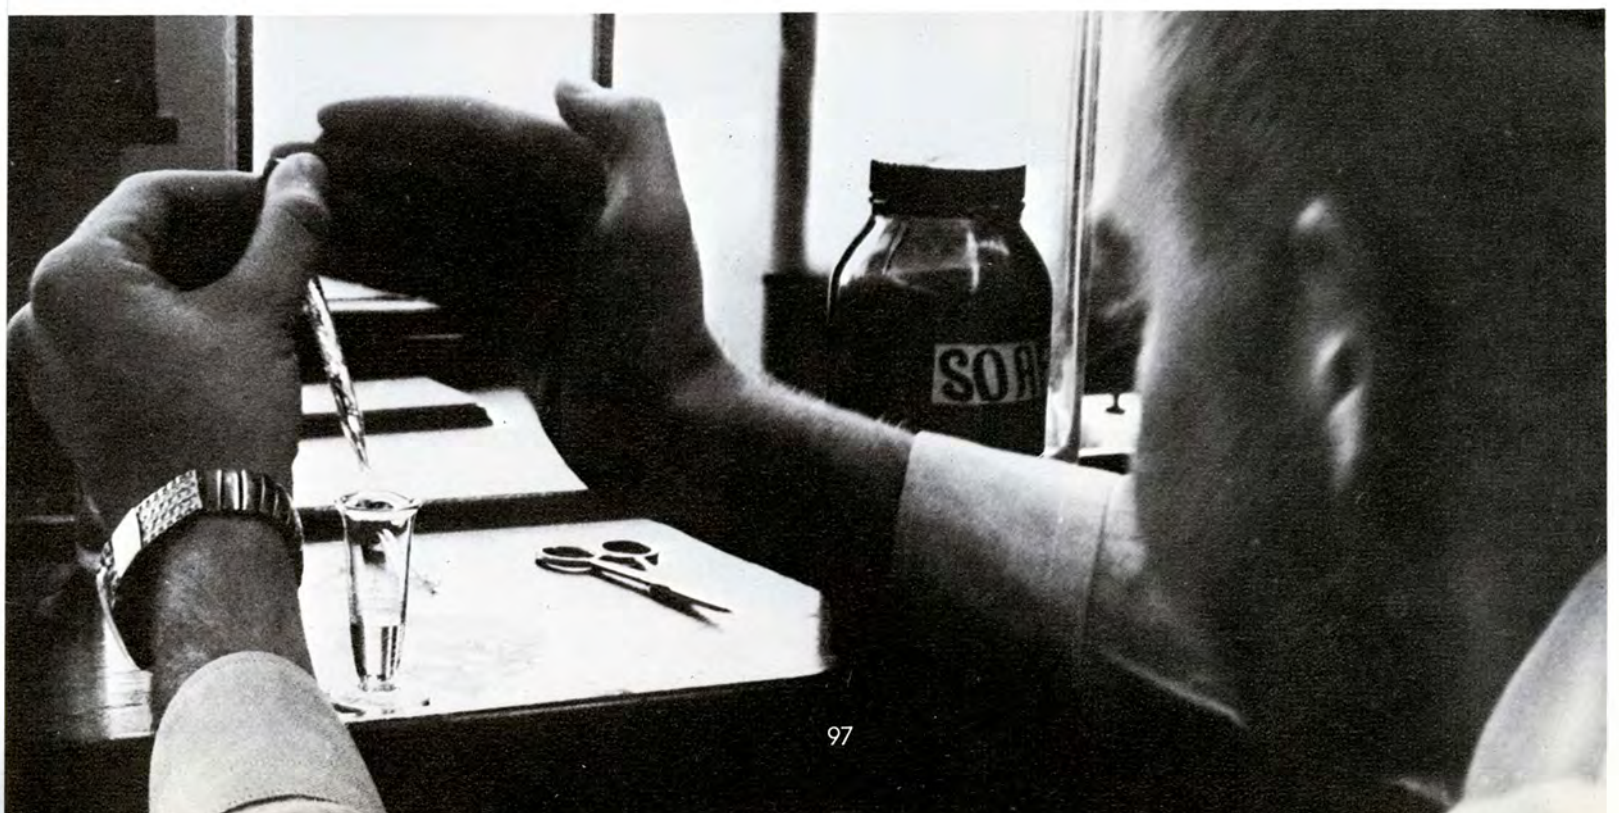

Dean Raymond E. Hopponen

Precise measuring is a part of pharmacy labs.

Enrollment in the college of Pharmacy this year was over 300. Formerly a field pursued almost exclusively by men, women are now establishing themselves in practice. This year, seven coeds were graduated from the college.

Outstanding scholarship by students in the College of Pharmacy is recognized in a number of ways. Fourth and fifth year students who have distinguished themselves academically are invited to join Rho Chi, an honor society in pharmacy.

Awards are presented each year to outstanding pharmacy students. Among the awards are the Lily Gold Medal, the Johnson and Johnson Award and the Merck Award.

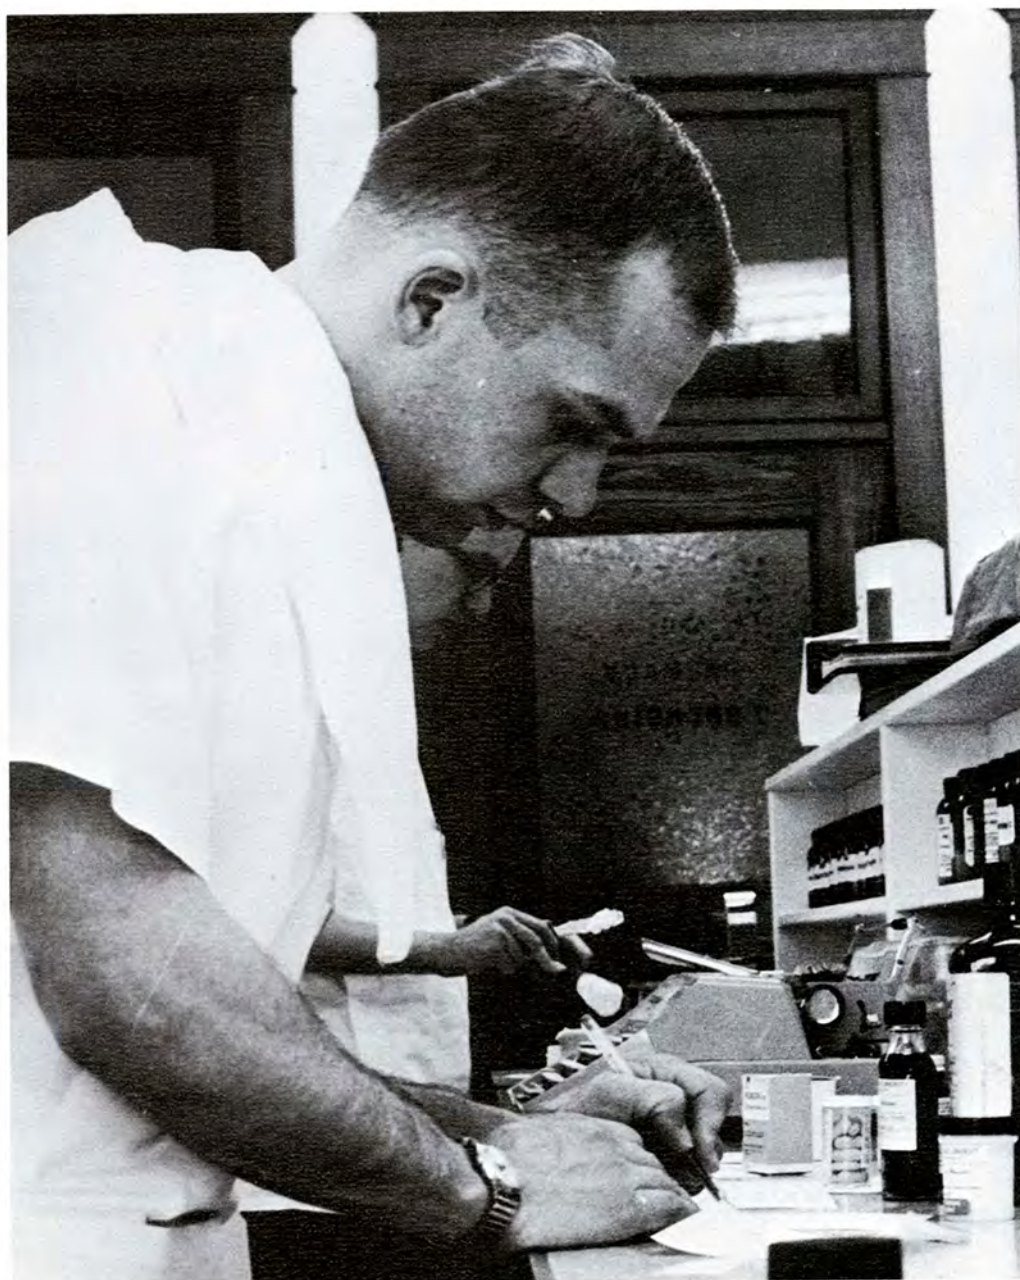

Scopes, books and a mortar and pestel are part of pharmacy students' days in lab.

Girl "pharmics" take care of plants for pharmaceutical gardens.

Jack Rabbits beware in pharmacy labs.

All State students benefit from the pharmacy-sponsored dispensary.

Army ROTC

All male students seeking a degree from South Dakota State University are required to take two years of military training as part of their curricula.

The Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps is one of the two choices available to incoming freshmen.

Upon completion of the basic two-year course, the Army program offers students an option to apply for advanced military training leading to commissioning as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army.

Headed by Colonel Dwight Adams, the objective of the advanced course is to produce junior officers capable of continued development as officers in the Army.

Organizations available to students enrolled in the AROTC program are Scabbard and Blade, and Pershing Rifles.

Guidon is the coed auxiliary to Scabbard and Blade. Pershing Rifles also has a coed auxiliary, the Pershingettes, a group which was formally installed this year.

Members of the Army ROTC participate in a spring and fall review. The fall review is held in connection with Parents' Day and the spring review is held on Governor's Day.

The women's organizations also march in the reviews.

A limited number of scholarships are available for advanced Army ROTC cadets. Scholarships are awarded on the basis of university grades, ROTC grades, a qualifying test, leadership and attitude of the cadet toward a career in the Army.

State's Army ROTC program has the largest enrollment in the 13-state Fifth Army area. Seventy-two cadets were commissioned as second lieutenants from SDSU this year.

Colonel Dwight L. Adams

Advanced ROTC juniors look over an M-1 rifle.

Air Force ROTC

The second choice open to freshmen is the Air Force program which is headed by Colonel Ray K. Amundson.

Similar in structure to the Army program, the Air Force program is also divided into two phases. The basic phase consists of two years of aerospace studies.

Upon completion of the two-year phase, the men may choose to apply for advanced Air Force ROTC. Advanced members are automatically members of Officers' Mess if they choose to join and are commissioned upon graduation.

Students who are designated Distinguished AFROTC cadets by the professor of aerospace studies are eligible for appointment as a regular officer. Final selection is made by the United States Air Force headquarters.

Arnold Air Society is the honorary organization connected with AFROTC and Angel Flight is its sister organization.

Members of the Air Force military participate in the fall and spring reviews along with the Army cadets.

Drill practice and classes are held each week at which cadets are required to wear uniforms. Uniforms are furnished by the program with the exception of dress uniforms which the cadets purchase.

Part of the program includes a four-week stint at summer camp, which is taken between the student's junior and senior year.

Cadets in both the AROTC and AFROTC programs receive monthly allowances. A pay raise was approved this year which will go into effect next fall. In addition, scholarships are available for qualified cadets.

The Military Ball was sponsored this year by Officers' Mess, an organization of both AROTC and AFROTC cadets.

Colonel Ray K. Amundson

Military strategy can be learned in the classroom and on the drill floor at State's Air Force ROTC department.

But the sections can't ALL be closed.

What do you mean you can't raise both hands at once?

The mattresses all went that-a-way.

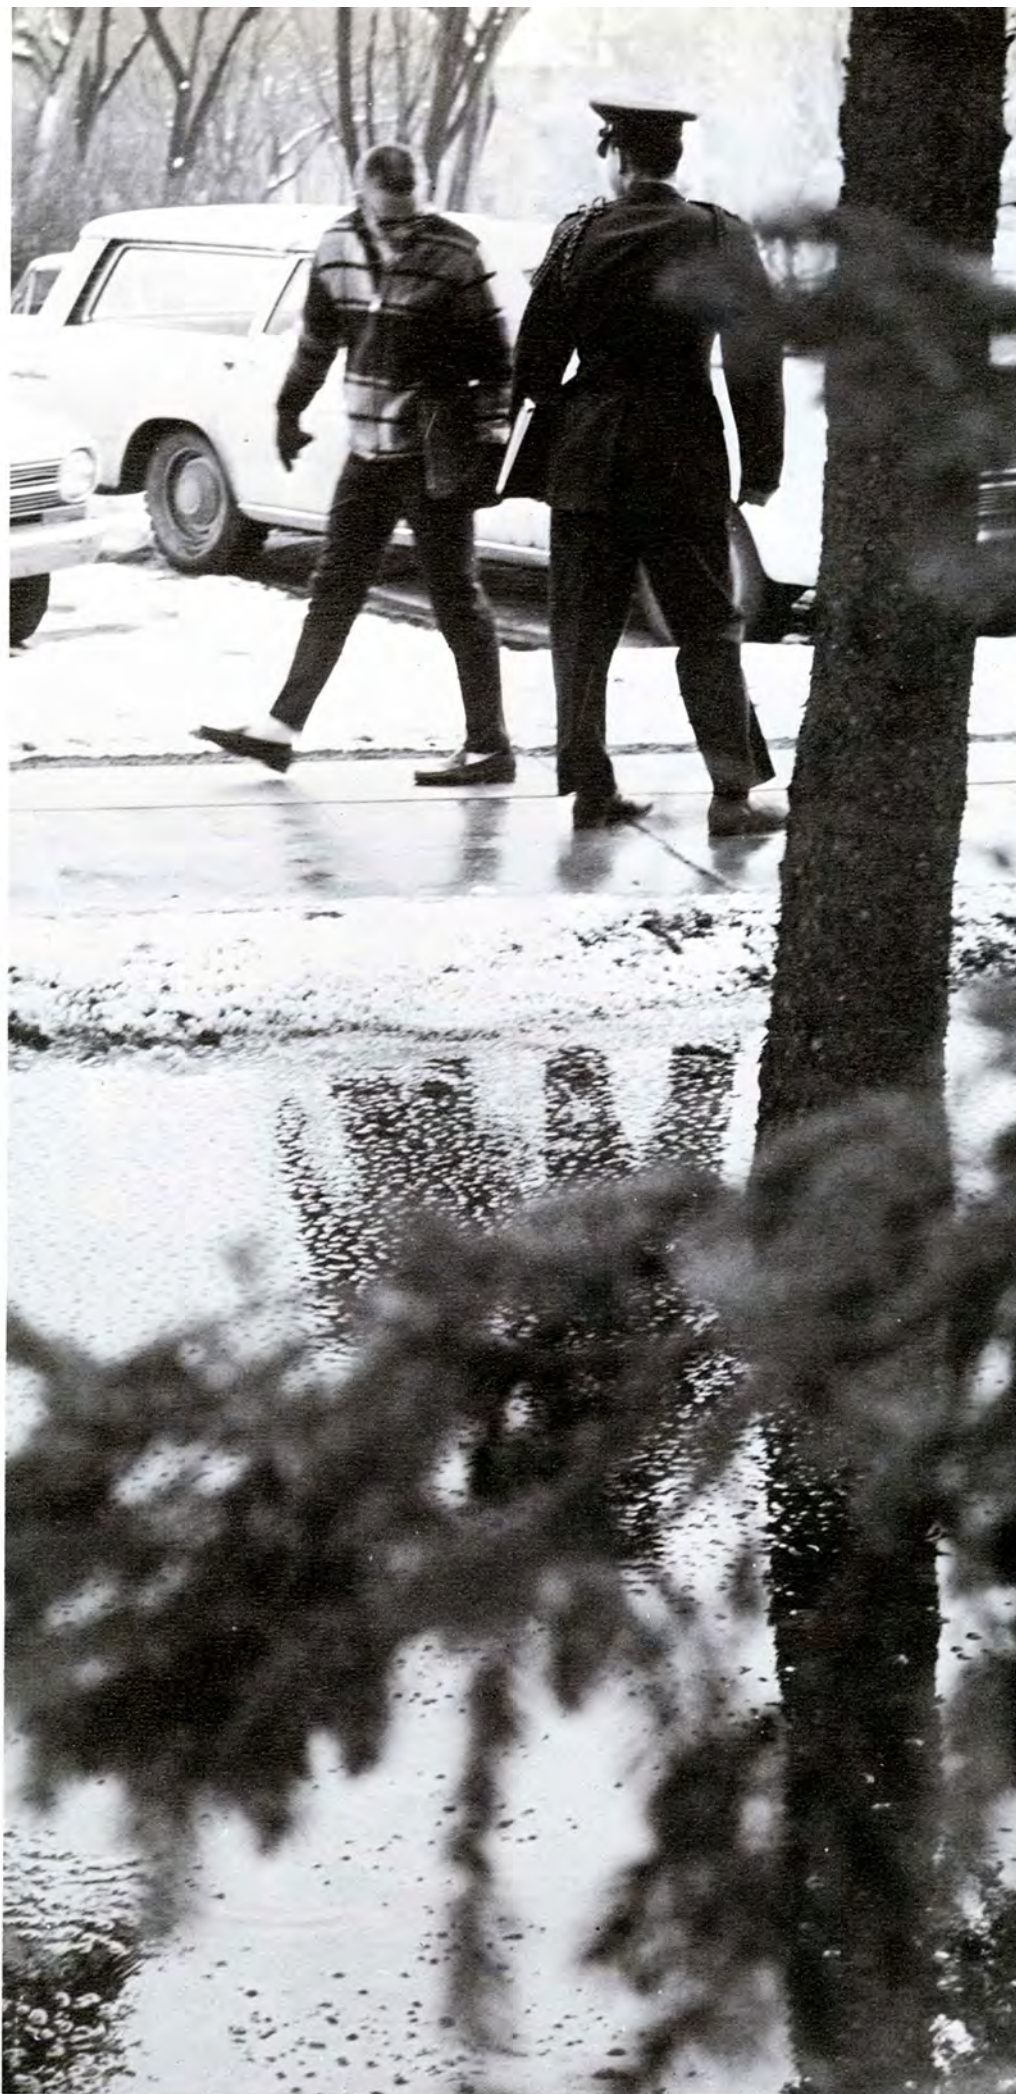

Get out of our way.

I certainly hope all the fans were off these.

Yes, of course I shined my shoes last night.

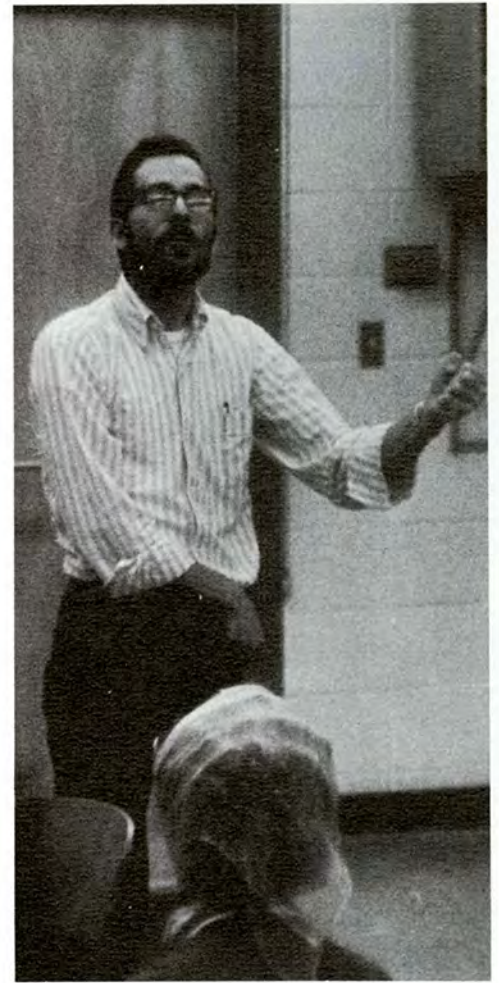

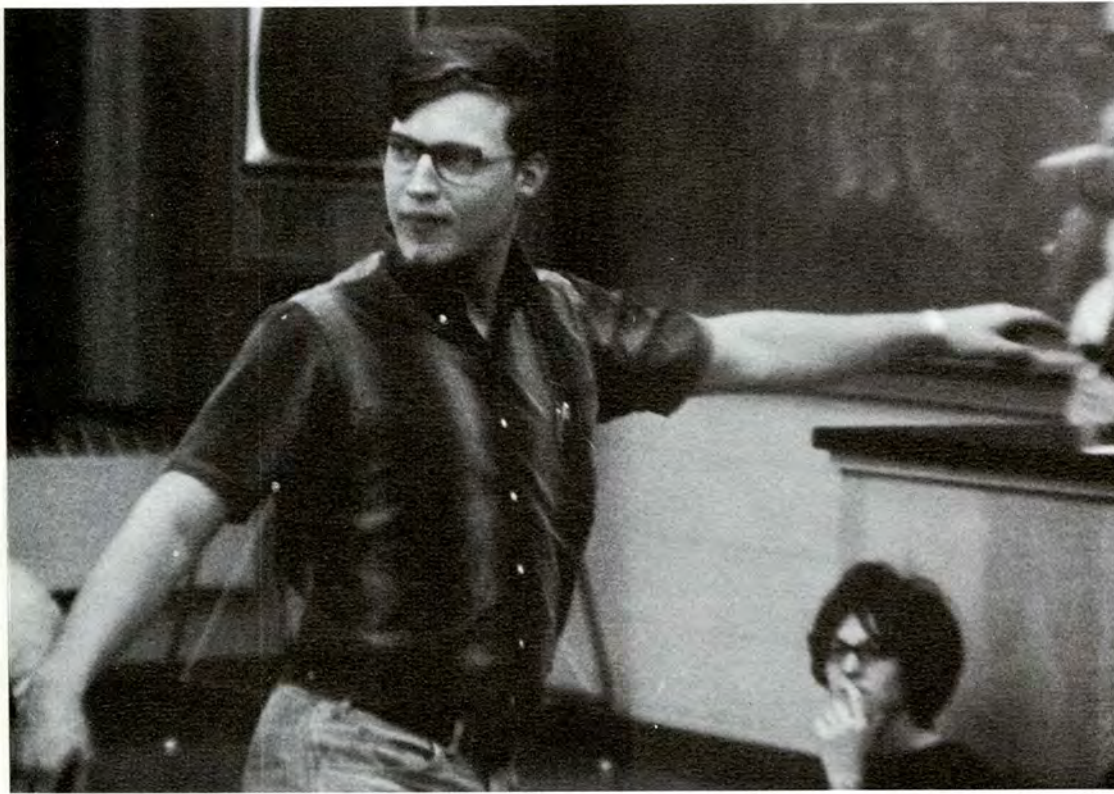

May I invite them in?

Give me liberty or give me death!

Tell me if I go too deep, O.K.?

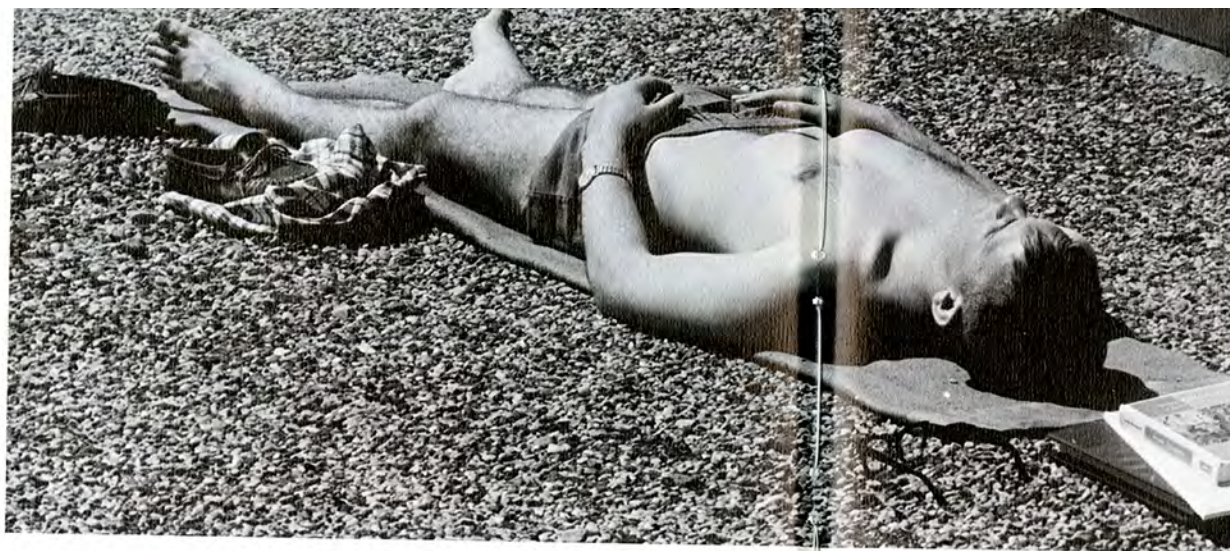

Why not give it a touch more blue—just right.

I can't figure out why they had us come so early.

Let it rain. I'm all wash-and-wear anyway.

You mean you don't like my hat?

But I thought this was a football game.

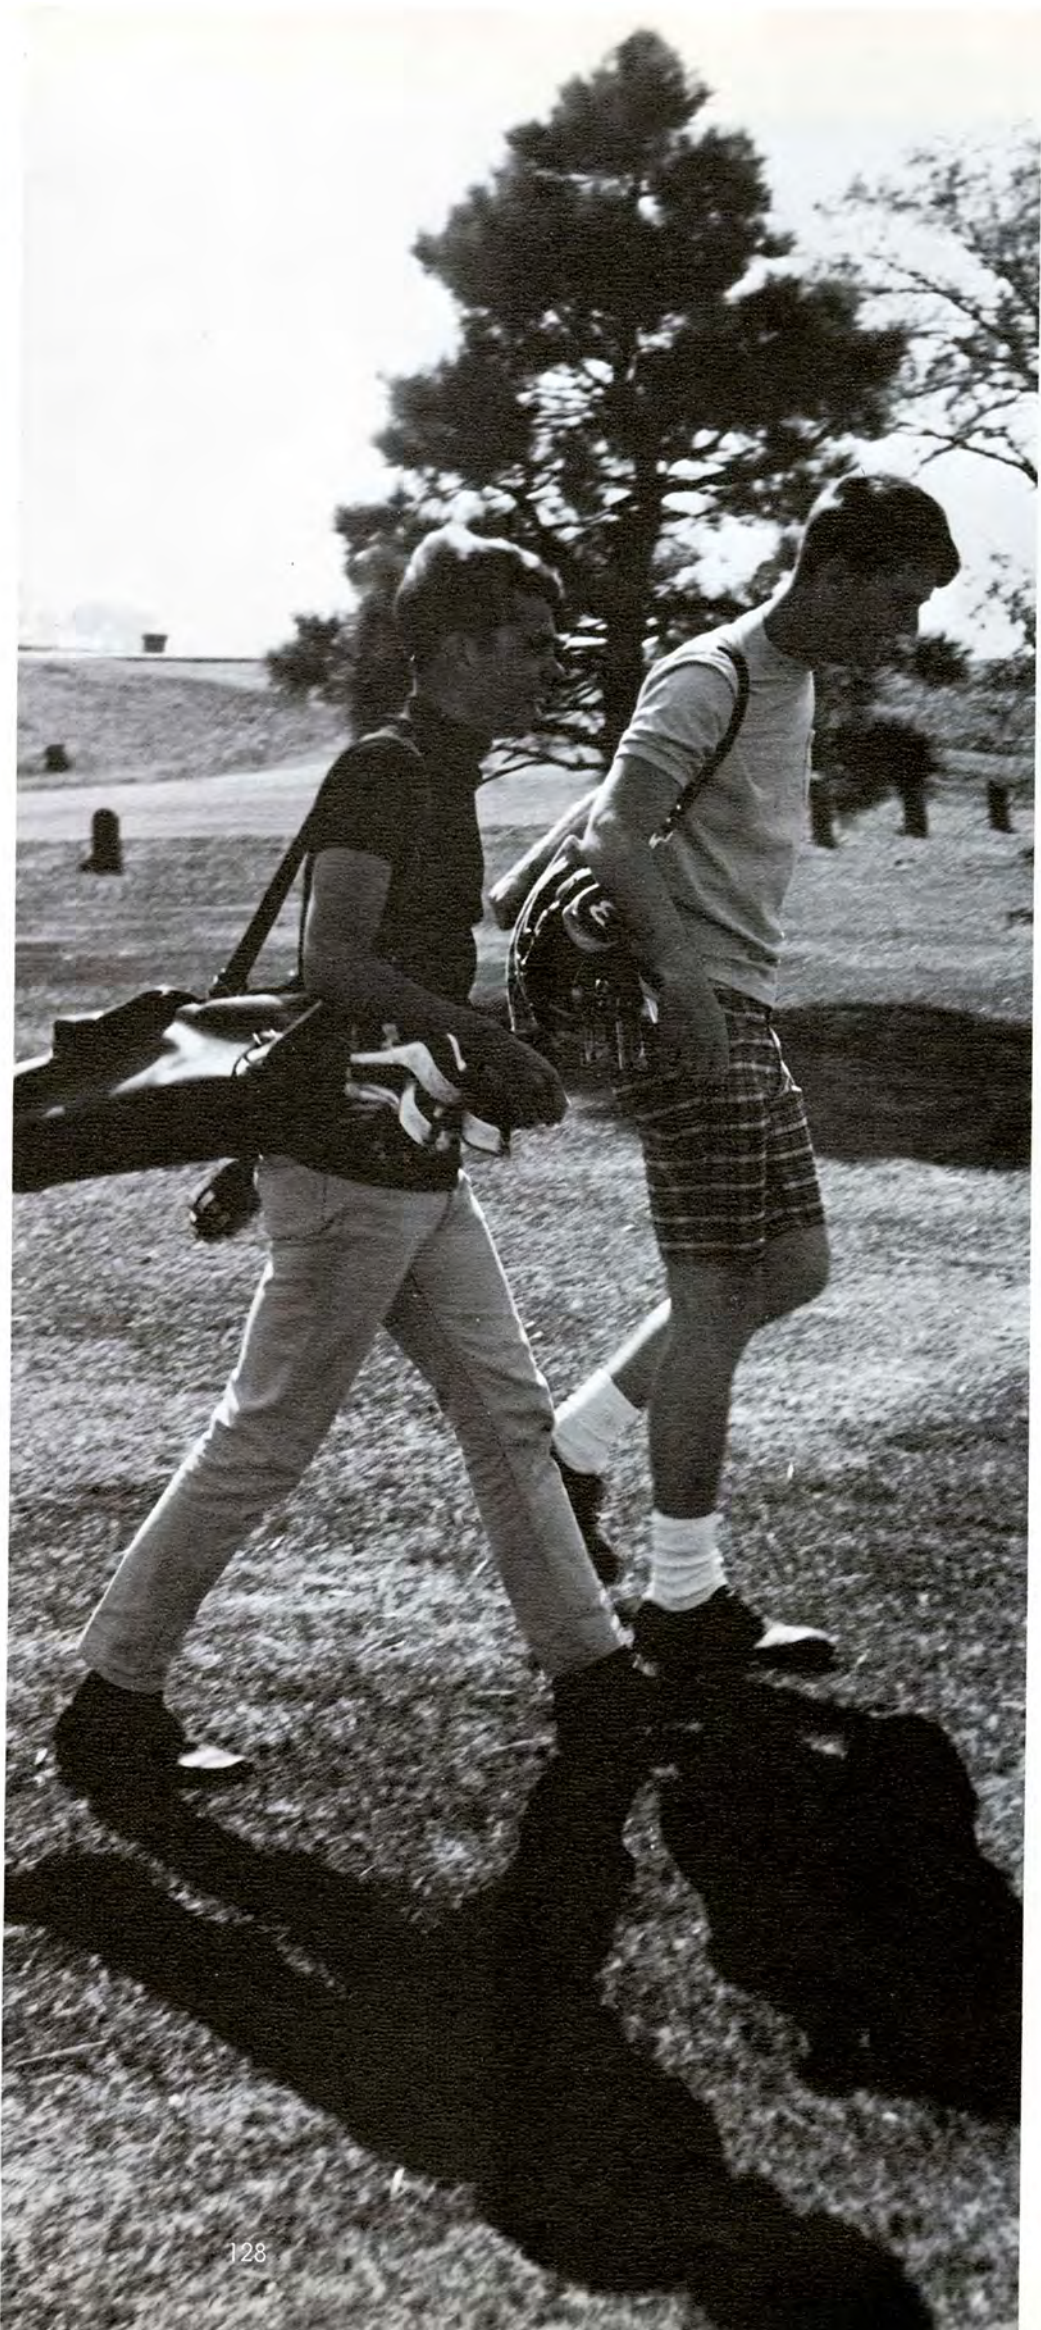

It's the only way to fly.

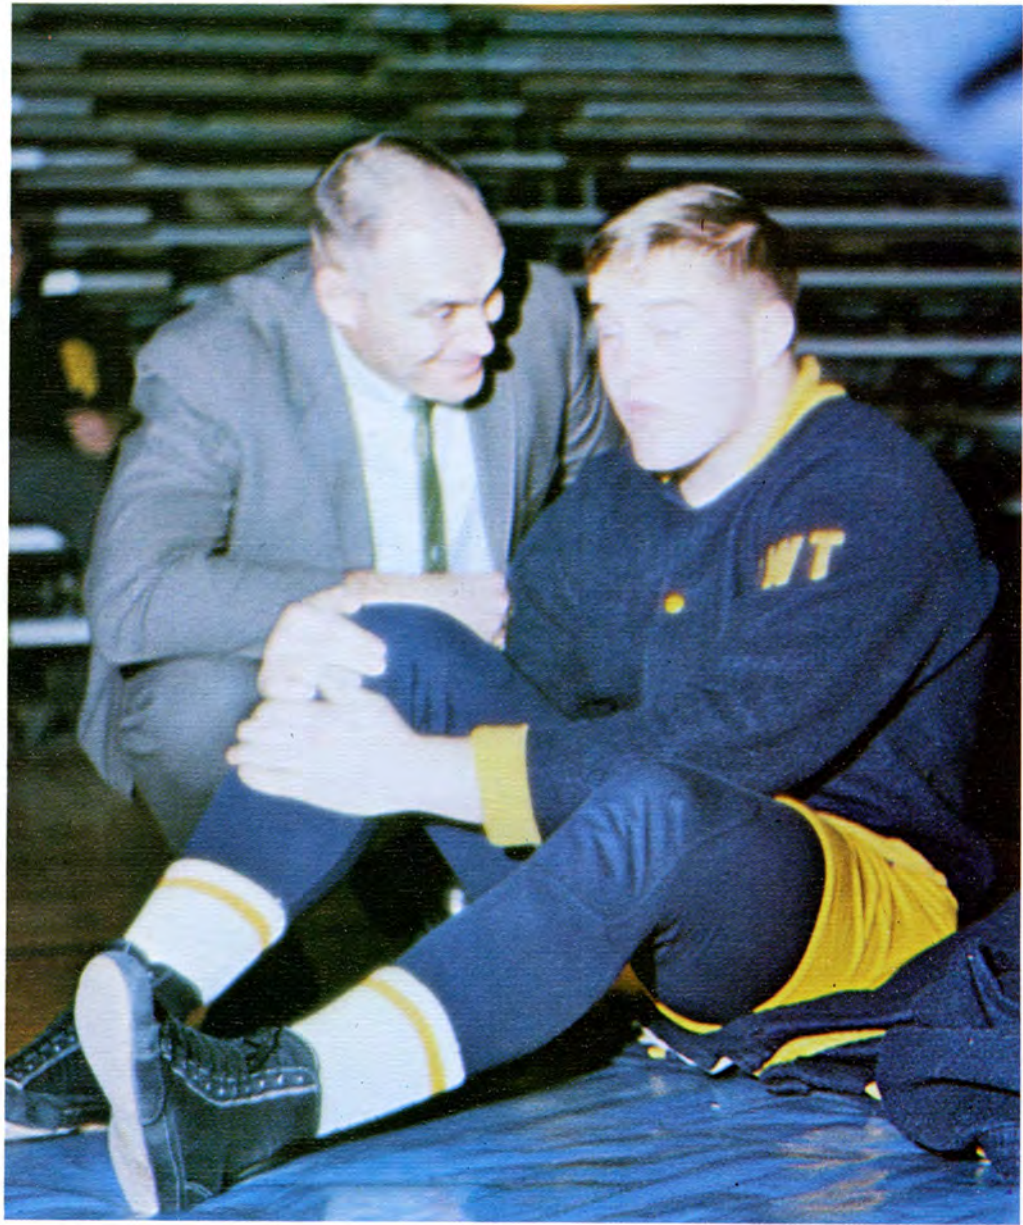

What on earth is a prerequisite?

Would any of you care to play basketball this Friday night?

It only hurts when I breathe.

One hundred miles to the gallon? Really?

Yea team.

Ah c'mon. Can't I have just one bat?

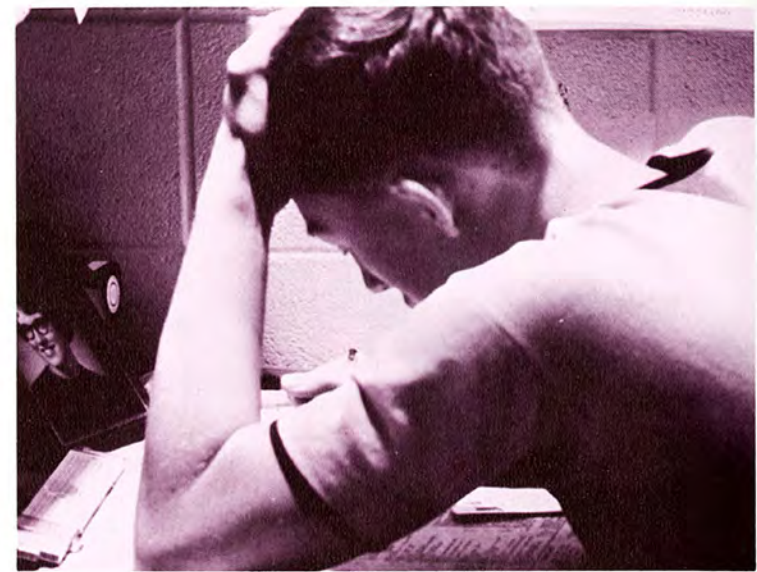

If you make a touchdown I'll let you wear my cap.

I thought this was supposed to be a CAR wash.

To honor those who served and died.

You drive, and I'll eat.

This certainly does beat going to class.

What football game?

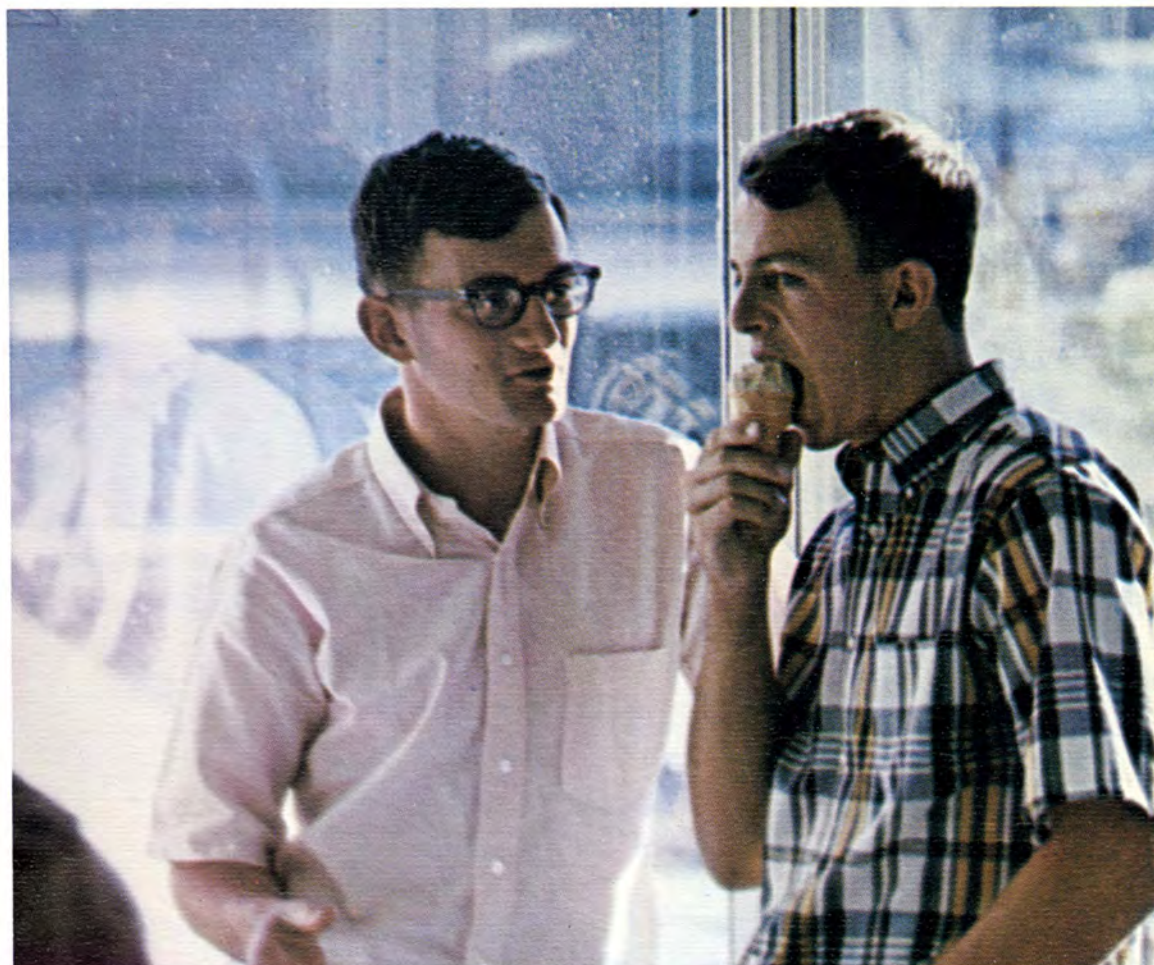

But I like marshmallow on my hot dogs.

Shhhhhh.

Let's see you eat it in one bite.

Hey, that's my suntan lotion you're using.

What do you mean, does it run?

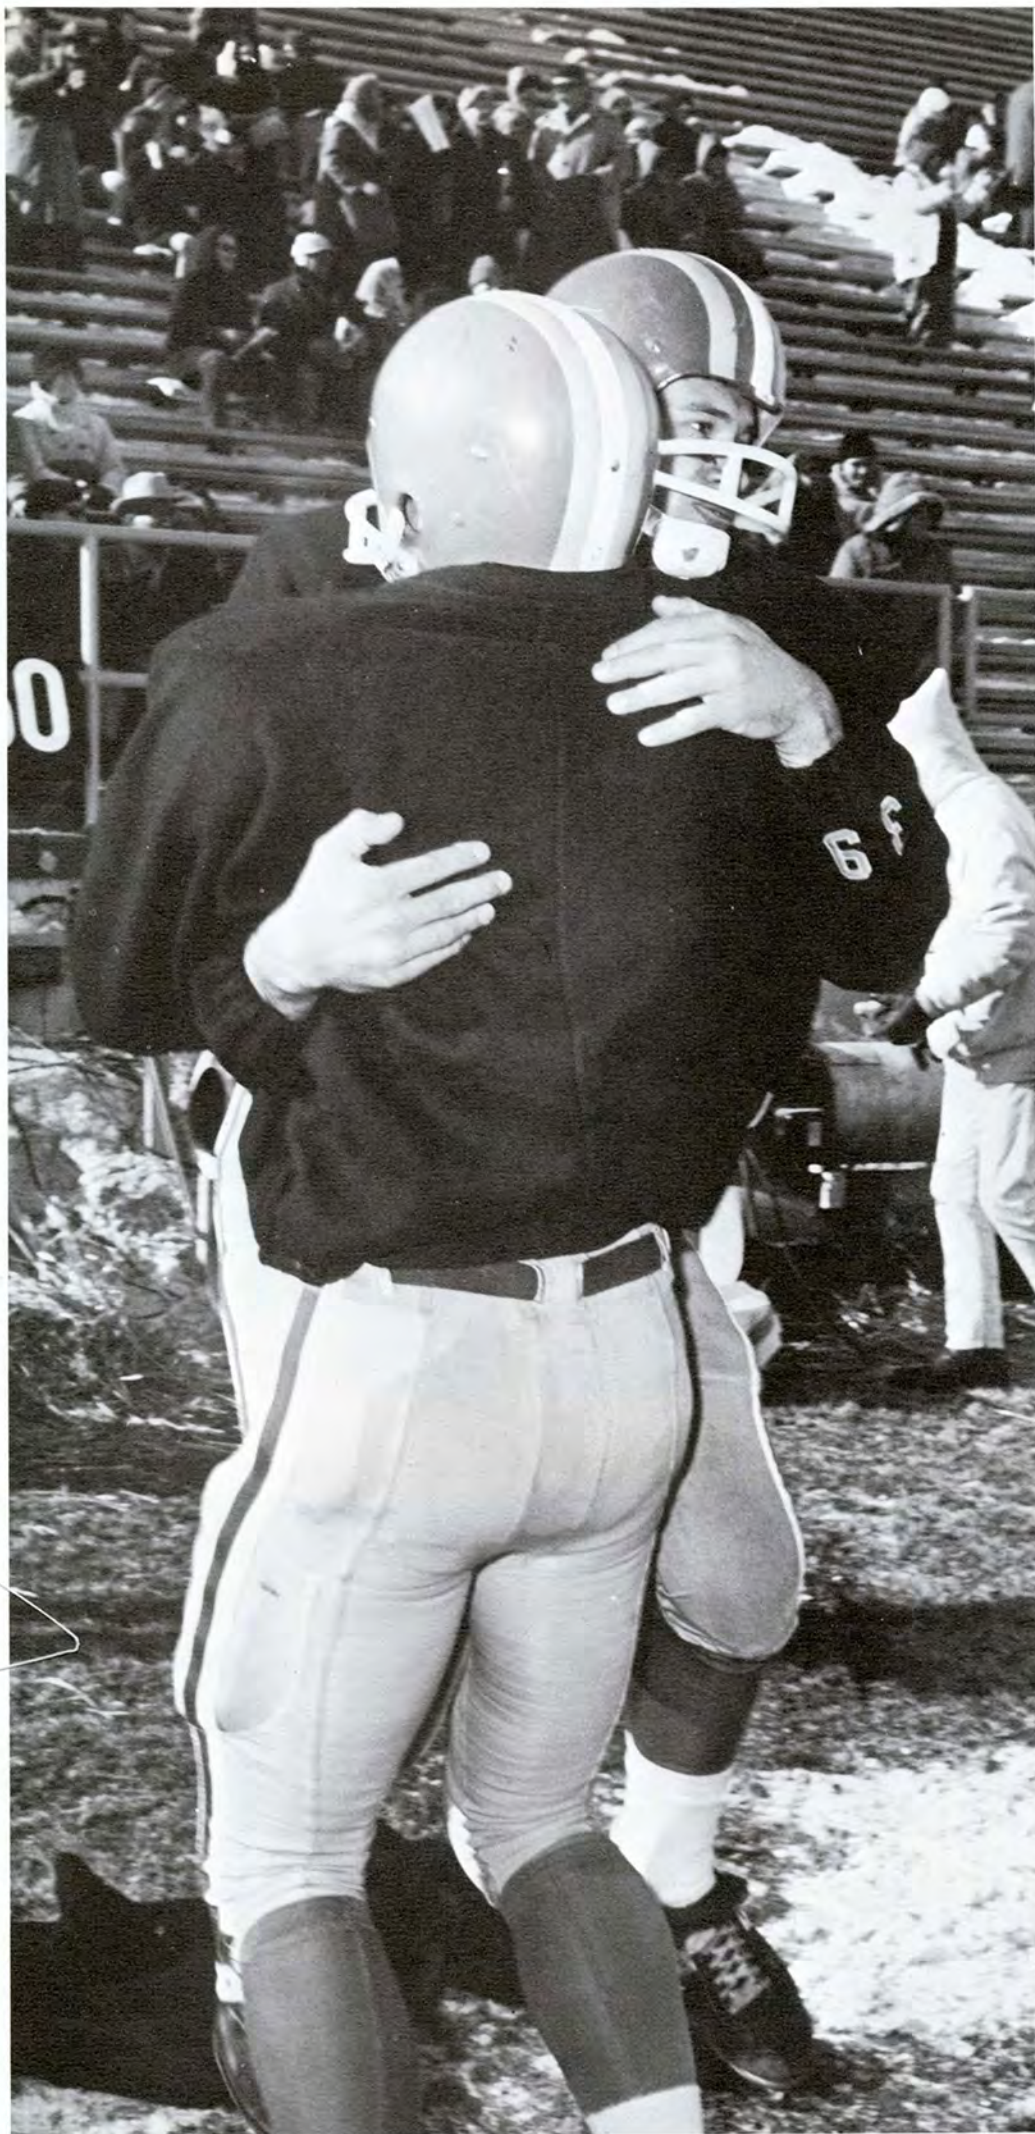

And I left home to come to college to do this.

When winter comes to the SDSU campus, it comes on strong

Don't be afraid, they're only the best in the conference.

And if I'm elected . . .

You mean I'm actually supposed to eat this?

A demonstration, SDSU style.

Well, it's this way boys.

Look out Picasso, here we come.

Prove that you're twenty-one.

I knew these books would get the best of me.

Over hill, over dale . . . what happened to the dusty trail?

Jack Rabbit Queen

Barb Hageman, freshman textiles and clothing major from Redfield, was named 1966-67 Jack Rabbit Queen.

Sponsored by the yearbook staff, the vivacious brunette won Picture Magazine's 1967 Campus Cover Girl Contest.

Miss Hageman lists reading and sewing as her favorite hobbies. She also enjoys tennis, swimming, skating and cheering on the team at State's basketball games and wrestling matches.

A member of WSGA and Home Economics Club, she is assistant dance chairman for next fall's Hobo Day.

Barb Hageman

Jane Waldowski

Miss SDSU

Jane Waldowski, sophomore music major from Webster, was crowned Miss SDSU for 1967-68 at the annual spring beauty pageant.

For the talent portion of the contest, the sprightly brunette sang and danced her way through a medley of songs from "Mary Poppins."

Miss Waldowski is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, Pasquettes, chorus, Petals and Swingle Swingers. Along with music and drama, she is interested in several sports, including swimming, skiing and boating.

Miss Printing

Reigning over Printing Week and the Printonian Ball was Sharon Moser, freshman sociology major from Pierre.

Miss Moser is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and likes almost all sports. Her favorite hobbies are sewing, dancing, music and volleyball.

Sharon Moser

Colleen Ream

Honorary Cadet Col.

A sophomore coed who loves music was chosen Honorary Cadet Colonel at this year's Military Ball.

Colleen Ream is an English major from Belle Fouché. An executive officer of Angel Flight, she was the area Little Colonel candidate and also a delegate to the National Angel Flight Conclave in Miami.

An active member of WSGA and WE-DC, Miss Ream has attended the Honors Convocation for the past two years.

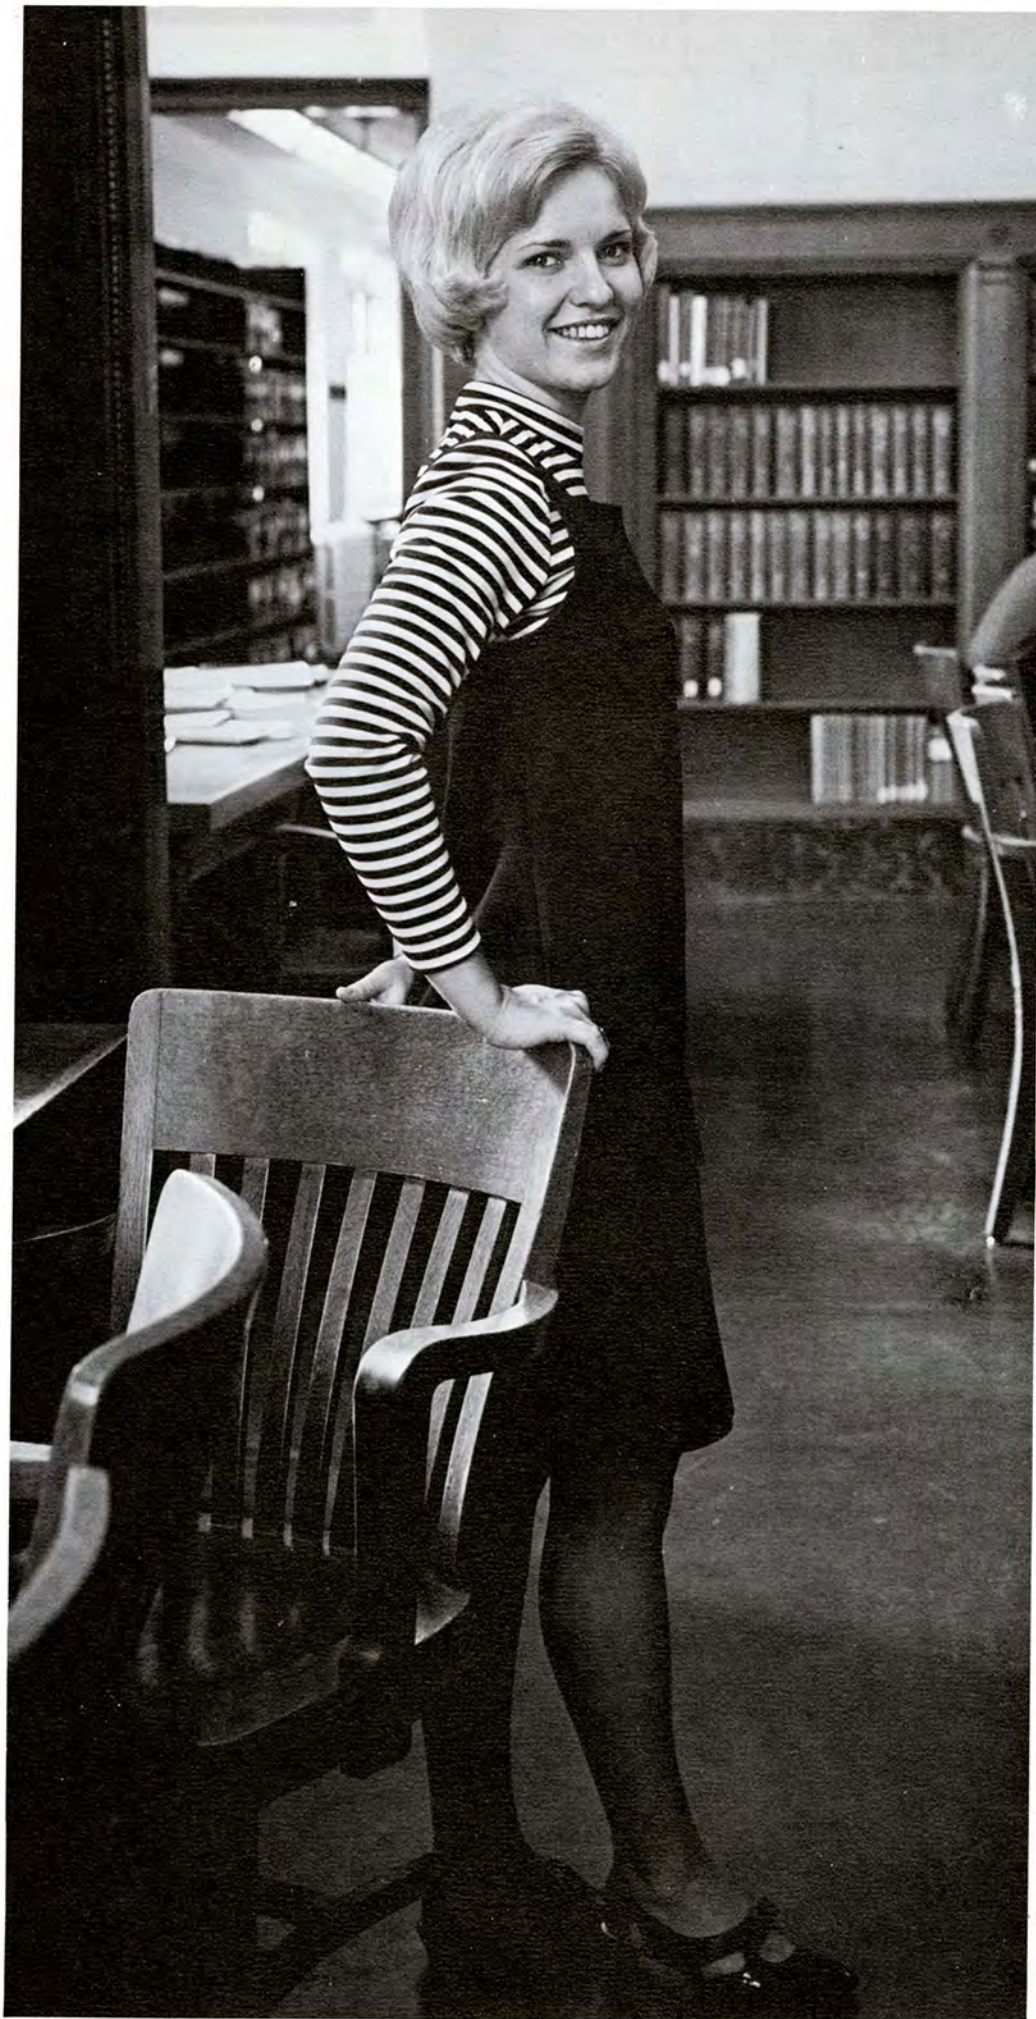

Her favorite hobbies are reading and spectator sports.

Wing Sweetheart

A child development major, Miss Ranek is active in Angel Flight and debate, and is the honorary sponsor for Pershing Rifles.

Her hobbies include horseback riding, sewing, speech activities and playing the piano.

Connie Ranek

Shari Goldner

Brigade Sweetheart

A Watertown coed, Shari Goldner, was selected as Brigade Sweetheart at the Military Ball. A sophomore English major, she is planning on teaching.

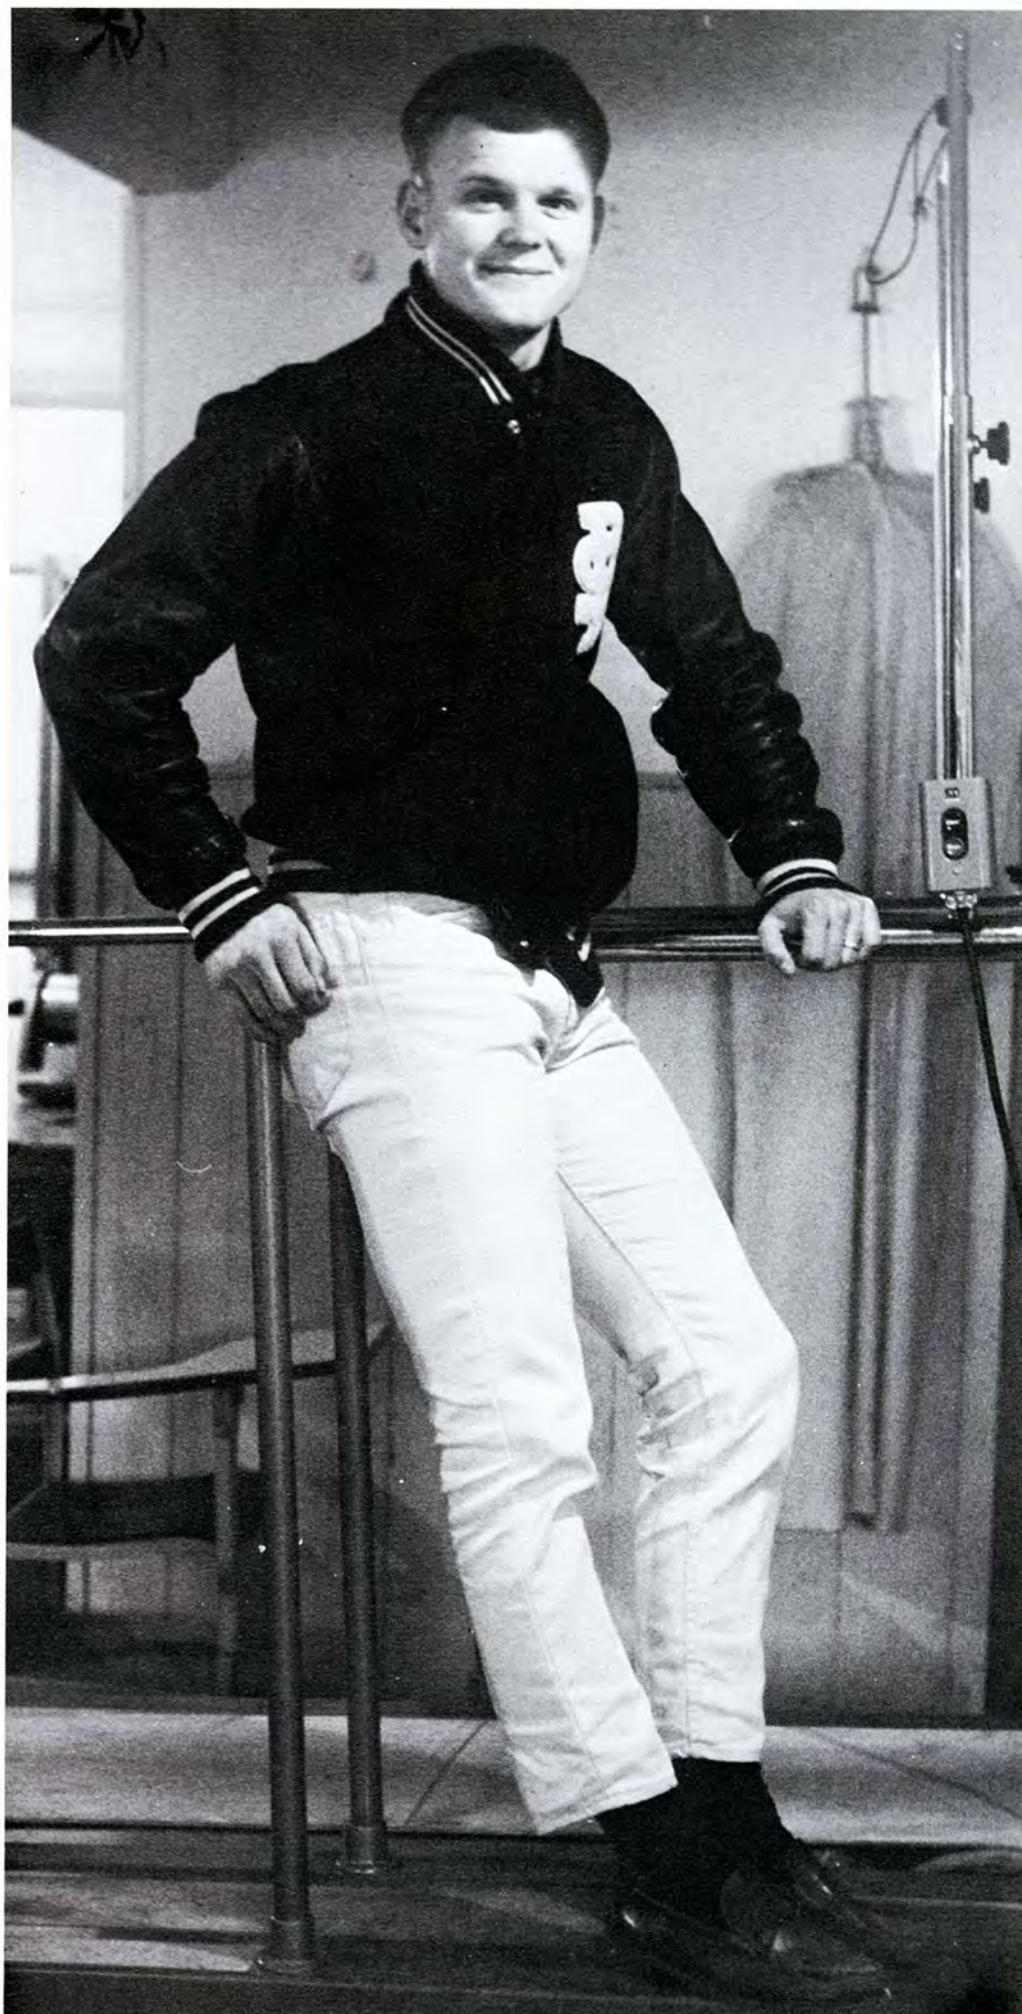

Active in Angel Flight, Alpha Lambda Delta and dormitory organizations, Miss Goldner lists archery and fishing as her main hobbies.

Pep King

Reigning as Pep King during Pep Week this year was Vern Schoolmeester, a junior from Edgerton, Minnesota.

Chosen for the honor by members of Stakota Club, Schoolmeester is a member of State's Jack Rabbits.

Schoolmeester headed the Jacks in scoring this year with a 14.7 average and was selected by the NCC as an all-conference guard.

Vern Schoolmeester

Pep Queen

Donna Sweeney, a junior foreign language major from Sioux Falls, reigned as Pep Queen this year.

A varsity cheerleader, she is active in several activities including Sigma Lambda Sigma, WEDC, WSGA and Angel Flight.

Miss Sweeney was secretary of her sophomore class. Her main hobbies are tennis, bridge and football.

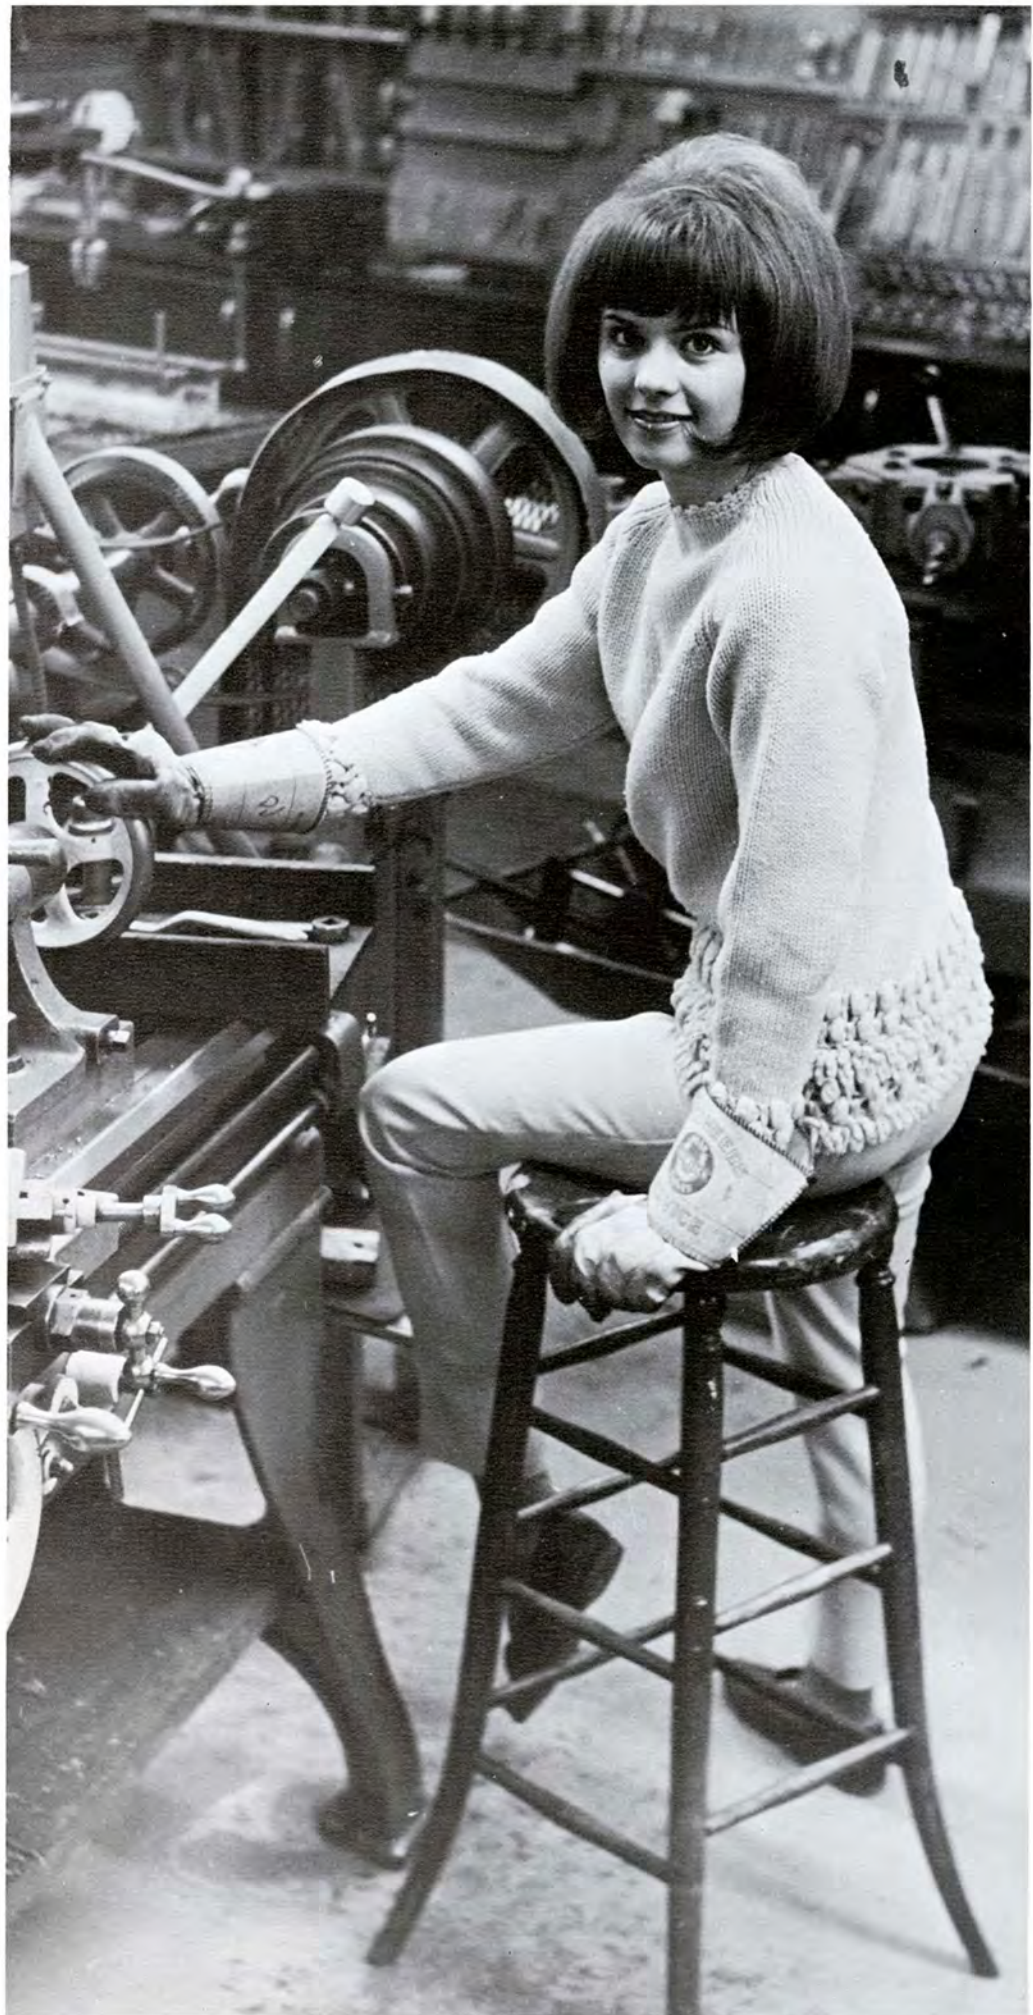

Donna Sweeney

Engr's Sweetheart

Engineer's Sweetheart this year was Janet Graverson, a junior biology major from Canton.

She is a member of marching band, Angel Flight, Kappa Delta Pi and Sigma Lambda Delta and will be a varsity cheerleader next fall.

An active coed who enjoys all sports, she names tennis and horseback riding as her favorites. In addition, she likes to read, play the piano and travel.

Janet Graverson

Cindy Thornton

Wrestling Queen

A sophomore coed majoring in physical education, Cindy Thornton, reigned as the 1966-67 Wrestling Queen.

Hailing from Sioux Falls, Miss Thornton is active in Pasquettes, Pershingettes, gymnastics, chorus and Physical Education Majors Club.

Her favorite sports activities are water skiing and swimming. Painting and singing are her other main hobbies.

Ag Queen

Jean Hass, senior foods and nutrition major from Flandreau, was chosen to reign over this year's Little International.

During her college career, Miss Hass has been active in Guidon, band, Phi Kappa Phi, Sigma Lambda Sigma, Phi Upsilon Omicron, Home Economics Club and Little International.

The Ag Queen was the 1966 Honorary Cadet Colonel. Her hobbies include sewing and reading.

Jean Hass

Women's Day Queen

Elaine Larson was chosen by all the other coeds on campus to reign as this year's Women's Day Queen.

The senior foreign languages major from Canby, Minnesota, was president of WEDC this year and was a member of Board of Control, Inter-dormitory Council and Phi Kappa Phi. In addition she has held offices and been active in Newman Club, Angel Flight and Sigma Lambda Sigma.

Life is this coed's favorite hobby. She enjoys photography, reading, sewing, sports, languages and fashions.

Elaine Larson

Rodeo Queen

Meadow is the home of Linda Preszler, freshman secretarial science major who was chosen as this year's Rodeo Queen.

Along with horses and rodeos, Miss Preszler enjoys sewing, singing, gymnastics and playing the organ and piano.

A member of Rodeo Club and Girl's Rodeo team, she was active in Pershingettes and Little International this year.

Linda Preszler

Sharon Sandwick

Track Queen

Track Queen this year was Sharon Sandwick, sophomore physical education major.

A native of Wallace, Miss Sandwick likes sports, just about any kind, and dancing.

She was a member of the Hobo Day Committee and secretary of SNEA this year.

A Phi O Queen

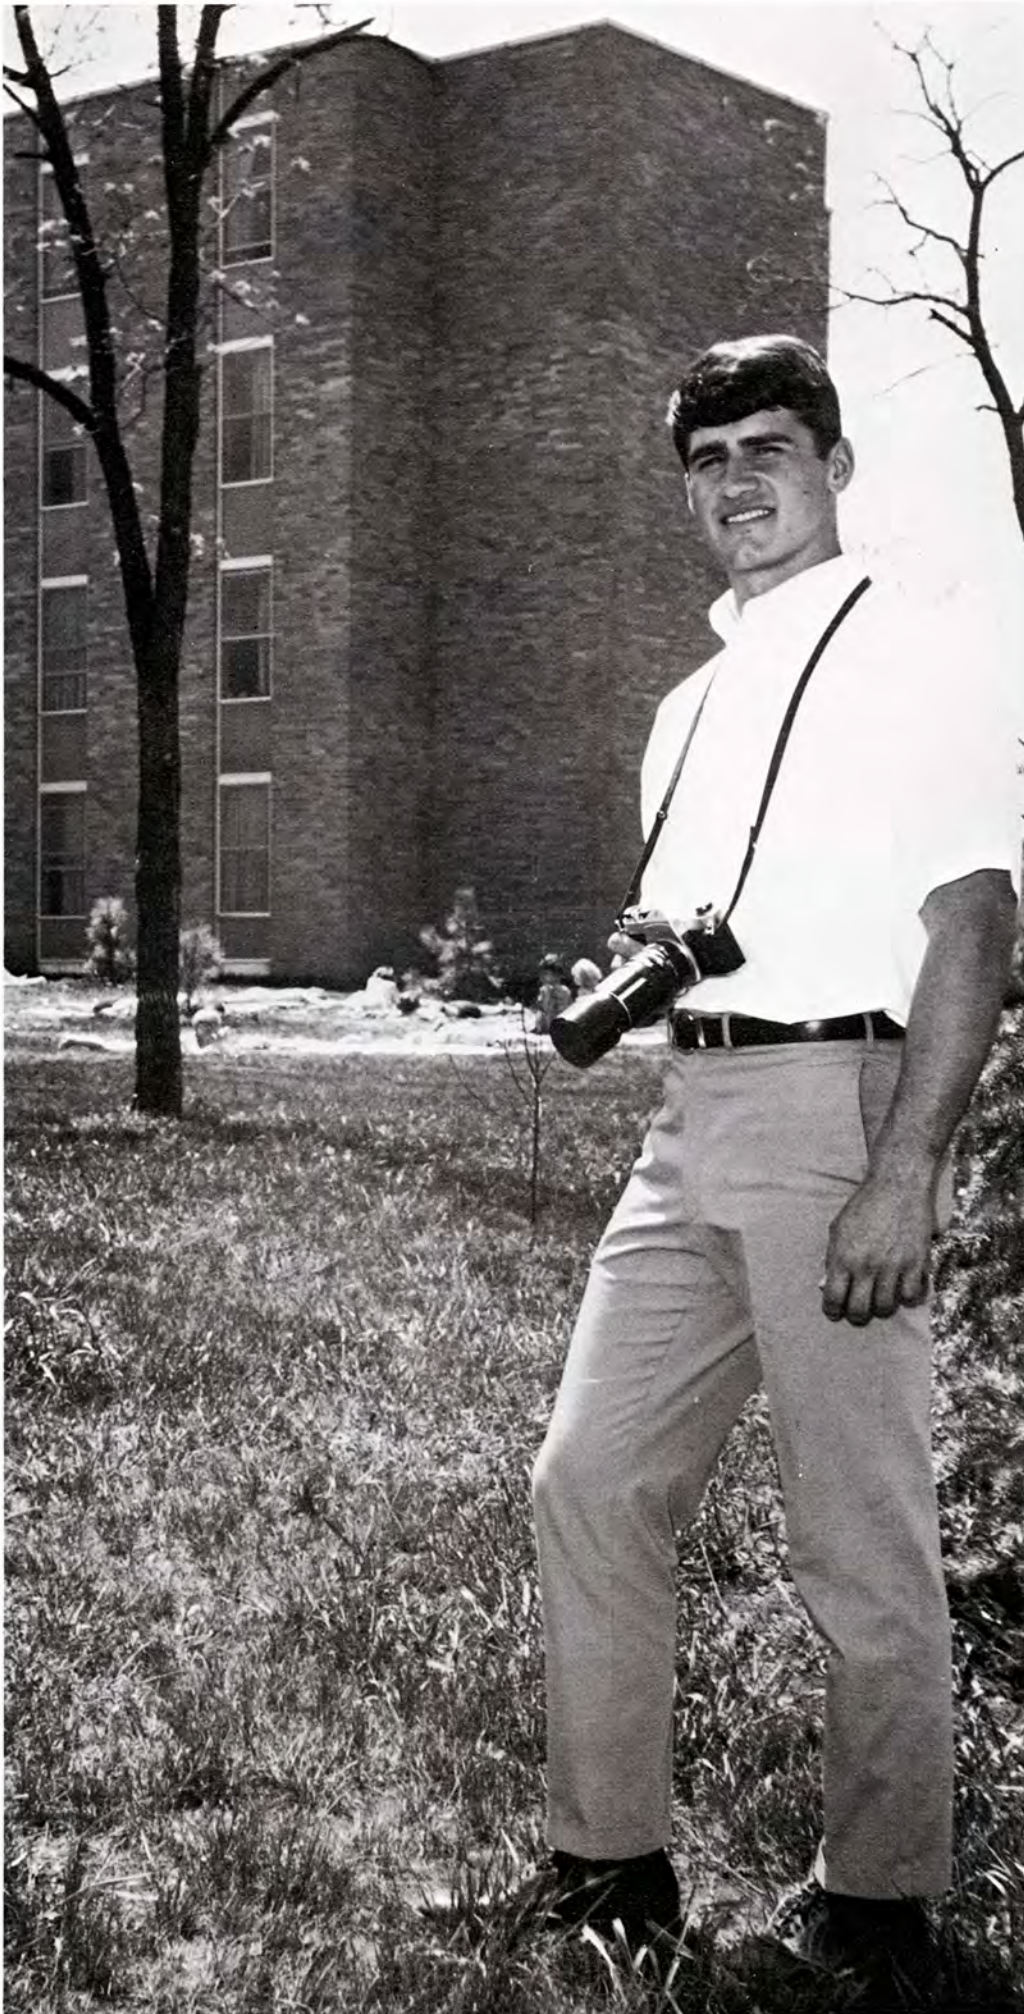

Collecting Japanese articles is just one of the many hobbies of Carole Pommer, Alpha Phi Omega Queen.

A member of SDSU Chorus, Miss Pommer is also interested in archeology and enjoys swimming, tennis and reading.

She is a freshman history major and hails from Clark.

Carole Pommer

Coed Ball King

The Ladies' choice at the Coed Ball this year was Jeff Chicoine, senior agricultural economics major from Elk Point.

A varsity football player, the Coed Ball King is a member of Monogram Club, Blue Key, Circle K, Toastmaster's Club, Lambda Chi Alpha and Prexy Club.

Chicoine also participated in intramural sports during his college years. His main hobbies are sports and reading.

Kappa Kappa Psi

Promotion of the university band program is the primary objective of Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary band fraternity.

In cooperation with its sister sorority, Tau Beta Sigma, the fraternity helps sponsor a theme dance, jazz concert and bandmasters' clinic.

Officers this year were Robert Donaldson, president; Doug Holzkamp, vice president; Gary Hocking, secretary, and Fred Shinnick, treasurer. Adviser for the group was Warren Hatfield.

FRONT ROW: Duane Ohnstad. SECOND ROW: David Mathison, James Hvistendahl, Douglas Holzkamp. THIRD ROW: Robert Donaldson.

Am. Chem. Society

Members of the American Chemical Society sponsor visiting lecturers and visits to local research facilities in order to broaden their knowledge of the chemistry profession.

Members must be either general or professional chemistry majors.

Officers of the organization this year were Loren G. Larsen, president; Cheryl Voelker, secretary, and Jack Veal, treasurer. Serving as adviser for the 20-member group was Dr. Rolland R. Rue.

Bacti Club

Students interested in exchanging ideas and information about bacteriology, microbiology and related fields have the Bacteriology Club available to them.

Members of the club sponsor an all-university dance, picnics and a publication called the "Bacteriologist."

Officers leading the club this year were Zoell Colburn, president; Linda Pontius, vice president, and Pat Campbell, secretary-treasurer. Paul Middaugh served as adviser for the 30-member group.

Ag Ed Club

Purpose of the Agricultural Education Club is to help its members prepare for their professional duties.

Each year the club selects the outstanding vocational agriculture instructor in the state and the outstanding agricultural education major from each class.

In addition, the club sponsors a Skills Day, float for Hobo Day and banquet, and assists with the State FFA convention.

Officers for the 1966-67 school year were Myron Sonne, president; Wayne Woodraska, vice president; Ed Soukup, secretary; Terry Howard, treasurer; Bill Blair, reporter, and Kent Frerichs, social chairman. Adviser for the 80 member group was H. W. Gadda.

Blue Key

"Serving, I Live" is the motto of Blue Key, national honorary service fraternity. Among the purposes of the organization are to stimulate ambition for intellectual achievements and to study student problems and assist in their solution.

Blue Key sponsors student tours during Freshman Week, the Blue Key Smoker, and the beard and pigtail judging contest during Hobo Week. In addition, the members build the Hobo Day float on which Miss SDSU rides.

Officers this year were Martin Johnson, president; Jack Barron, vice president, and Ron Huether, secretary. Adviser to the 30 members was Dr. Howard Sauer.

Ag-Bio Prexy Council

The purpose of the Ag-Bio Prexy Council is to coordinate the activities of the clubs within the College of Agriculture and Biological Sciences.

With a membership of 15, the Council is in charge of the Ag-Bio Recognition Banquet, helps with Little International and sponsors a chili supper and chicken fry.

Officers for the Council this year were Myron Sonne, president; Wally Koester, vice president; Clyde Jestfield, secretary and Larry Jorgenson, treasurer.

Women's Dorm Council

The Women's Executive Dormitory Council is the executive board of the Women's Self-Governing Association.

The board is comprised of the presidents of the women's dormitories plus four officers who are elected each spring by the entire body of women students.

This year's officers were Elaine Larson, president; Donna Sweeney, vice president; Judy Pueppke, secretary; and Judy Frank, treasurer.

In addition to helping formulate and regulate housing rules, the board sponsors open houses, exchange dinners, a Christmas party and lawn displays for Hobo Day.

Engineer's Joint Council

The Joint Engineer's Council regulates and coordinates the activities sponsored by the different engineering organizations on campus.

Comprised of representatives from each of the individual engineering societies, the group sponsors Engineer's Week, including the smoker, the dance, open house and the Engineer's Sweetheart contest.

Officers leading the 12 members this year were Jim Elsing, president; Jim Lucas, vice-president; and Paul Vanderlinde, secretary-treasurer.

Dakota Debs

To provide entertainment at sports events is the key objective of Dakota Debs, an all women's drill team.

The 28 members spend several hours working up routines which are performed during halftime of basketball games.

The members, who are chosen on the basis of height, weight and ability, also march in the Hobo Day parade.

Officers for the team were Betty Anderson, president; Connie Shirley, vice president; Diane Cockle, secretary; and Virginia King, treasurer. Pete Torino was their adviser.

"What do you mean, I'm out of step? Nobody ever watches our feet anyway."

Chi Omega

Xi Theta Chapter of Chi Omega is the first women's social sorority on State's campus.

During its first year of existence, the sorority served for the American Association of University Women's benefit bridge in order to raise money for scholarships.

Social activities included a pre-Coed Ball party and a spring picnic.

Purposes of the 19-member group are friendship, scholarship, high ideals, vocational goals and social and civic service.

Officers this year were Suzanne Volin, president; Kathy Stodolski, vice president; Betty McIlravy, secretary, and Jessica Nelson, treasurer.

Chapter correspondent was Diane Rude; social chairman, Diane Todd; rush chairman, Suzanne Wittmayer; song leader, Barb Shinnick, and pledge trainer, Kandi Kortan.

Board of Control

The Board of Control is the governing body of the student association and was headed this year by Lyle Ireland and Gene Henry, president and vice president of the Student Association. Other officers included Suzanne Wittmayer, secretary; Diane Scott, social chairman and Fred Metcalf, assistant social chairman.

The Board of Control sponsors such activities as the "Big Name" concerts, Hobo Day street dance, undergraduate research contest, fall leadership camp and the Parents Day coffee hour.

Advisers are Orlin Walder, Dean of Men and Vivian Volstorff, Dean of Women.

Thirty issues of the Collegian during the school year inform students on campus events, reflect student opinion, and discuss campus-related topics.

State's campus newspaper requires a staff of 17 students. Newswriting and reporting students also cover beats for the paper.

The Collegian sponsors Best Player awards in football, baseball and track. It also makes an annual reporter award.

First semester 1966 the Collegian earned a "First Class," rating from the American Collegiate Press Association.

Staff members for 1966 included John Whalen, editor; Mike Cooper, managing editor; Janet Warren, assistant managing editor; Fred Breukelman, associate editor; Jim Meachen, sports editor; Gary Barnes, business manager; Dorette Anderson, campus editor; Terry Nielson, associate sports editor; Steve Miller, editorial assistant; Shirley Lea, feature editor; Bonnie Bennett, society editor; Peggy Syreika, circulation manager; Chuck Najacht, advertising manager; and Bill Gross, Duane Winter, Jim Hansen and Don Umberger, advertising salesmen.

We'll just have to save this and use it next week.

You mean we're all through for this week?

Sure it's the truth. You know I always tell the truth.

FROM LEFT: Don Graham, Jim Brix, Jim Elsing, Mike Cannon, Tom Olsen, Roger Clausen, Gerald Sprague.

Union Board

The Union Board, whose members are elected by the student body, sponsors activities to broaden student's cultural, educational, recreational, and social experiences through the student union.

Each year the Union Board sponsors the Mistletoe Ball, Union Birthday Party, Harding Lectures, bridge lessons, Mardi Gras, and football movies. This year two new activities were added to this list. To promote a closer student-faculty relationship, a program was organized where twice a month students were given the opportunity to meet with one member of the faculty at an informal "Lunch with the Prof."

During final tests another new program was initiated to help students relieve tension without being destructive. An old car was bought and placed outside the union, and for 10¢ a student could take out his aggressions with two pounds with a sledge hammer. Less aggressive students could throw paint at a huge canvas on the east side of the union. For relaxation they provided old-time movies.

Mike Cannon, president; Jim Elsing, vice president; Cindy Shinnick, secretary; and Tom Olson, treasurer led the Board this year. Roger Clausen was adviser.

Hobo Day Committee

Bewhiskered gents and girls smoking cigars, or at least pretending to—these are the members of the Hobo Day committee whose main purpose is to achieve a successful Homecoming on the campus of SDSU. Although most freshmen would swear that the committee had been organized just to give them troubles and headaches, when they're already plagued with being lost in a new school.

Sporting black hats and long, black judicial robes, members of the committee spy out and quickly sentence misbehaving freshmen—to the wearing of green vee's and to private appearances before the Kangaroo Court.

Besides hosting Freshman Week, the committee organizes all Hobo Week activities and the parade.

Johnston.

Cheering Squad

GO STATE GO! These words are familiar sounds to all sports enthusiasts on the campus of SDSU. And to seven particular girls, the words carry even more meaning—the seven varsity cheerleaders who have been chosen to lead their classmates in school cheers.

The cheerleaders lead school yells and songs for all home football and basketball games and for as many out-of-town games as they are able to attend.

Helped by four male cheerleaders during the football season, the varsity cheerleaders create the heart of school spirit and with their boundless and exuberant enthusiasm, they generate spirit and enthusiasm in all who attend school athletic contests.

Beginning with practice in the spring as soon as new cheerleaders are selected, by the Board of Control, the varsity cheerleaders perfect new yells and routines for the coming year.

Each fall freshman cheerleading squads are also chosen to cheer the Bunny teams on to victory.

Pub Council

Supervision of the Collegian, the Jack Rabbit, the Bum and the Dakotan is the responsibility of the Publications Council.

New publications starting on campus and advertising in all campus publications are approved by the Council.

Members are selected from faculty, Board of Control, the Collegian and the Jack Rabbit.

FROM LEFT: Pat Leary, Jim Lueneburg, Charles Najacht, Dan Johnson, Delmer Gross, Mike Cooper, Jim Mayer.

Men's Residence Association

As they come into the final stretch, it's the white leading by a bedpost.

Men's Residence Association, headed by president Gary Leeling, is an organization whose purpose is to promote residence self government and provide ideal conditions for the educational, social, and cultural development of its members.

The MRA sponsors an annual scholarship banquet, and has organized the completion and expansion of the athletic courts.

All men living in residence halls are members of the MRA, and are governed by it. Other officers for the 1966-1967 school year were Henry Heirigs, vice president; Tom Daschle, secretary; and Roger Thorsten-son, treasurer.

Hey, don't push it down so far!

A new project sponsored by the MRA in cooperation with the Women's Executive Dorm Council, was Residence Hall Week. Festivities began with a bed race, with winners being crowned king and queen of Residence Hall Week.

The week's activities included a college bowl in which members of teams from each dorm competed for $75 cash prizes, a bicycle race, dormitory open house, and a dance with music by the Outsiders.

Hey gang, what happened to the band?

Band

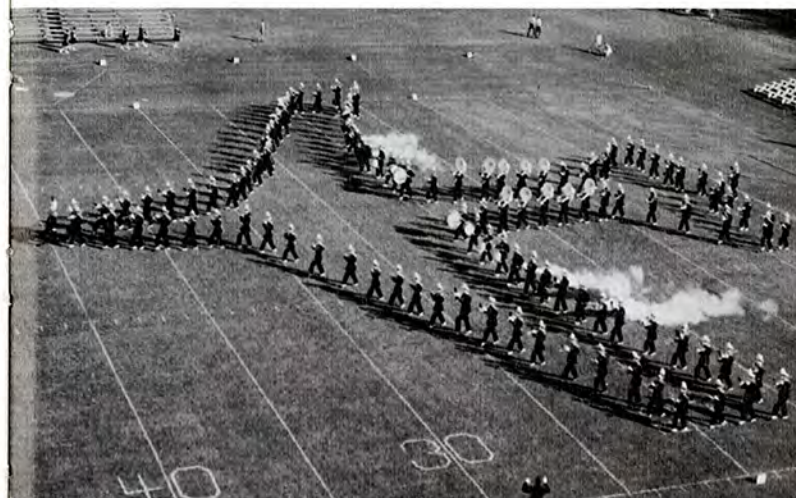

High-stepping majorettes put the Jack Rabbit marching band through their paces during the football season.

And as football drew to a close for another year, band members turned in their marching shoes for concert chairs and less rousing music, although their enthusiasm was in no way diminished.

"Pride of the Dakotas!" Members of State's 150-member marching band gave of free afternoons to practice precision marching. Their efforts paid off soundly as they sent the Hobo Day parade off to a rousing start, traveled to that lesser "U" for an appearance, and presented original drills and maneuvers at half-time ceremonies throughout the football season.

The grand finale came as members spiffed up and shined their instruments extra-bright for a television appearance—half-time activities for a Minnesota Viking football game.

Keep going, we're just about off the ground.

Pasquettes

Royally arrayed in gold and black, the Pasquettes, women's choral group, presented a charming picture, but also proved to be worth their weight in gold as they raised their lilting, musical voices in merry gifts of song at several occasions during the school year.

The Pasquettes performed at various functions on campus and in the surrounding area during the year. They concluded their season with two special performances—an afternoon concert for Women's Day and with a special group of selections for the Governor's Day program.

Pasque Petals, a select group of female vocalists chosen from the larger group of Pasquettes, presented several performances during the year—both as part of their parent group and on their own in concerts and as special entertainment for banquets and luncheons.

Statesmen

The Statesmen, 100-voice male choir, under the direction of Lyle Merriman, sang their way across the state from Brookings to Rapid City during the second semester. They presented concerts for several high schools and communities during their welcome and much-enjoyed vacation from classes and books.

On campus, they were also busy, as they presented a couple of concerts for students during the school year. In November, they teamed up with the Jack Rabbit marching band for a televised performance of halftime activities for a Minnesota Vikings professional football game.

A highlight of dorm life for women students came as the Statesmen serenaded them in their dorms after closing hours with scheduled performances during Hobo Week, at Christmas time, and with a couple of impromptu performances during semester test weeks.

Chorus

Combining both male and female vocal groups into one large singing group—the SDSU chorus—music director Karl Theman worked to successfully blend and coordinate the voices of its 130 singing members to achieve three successful major productions during the school year.

The chorus presented two major concerts during the school term, under the direction of Karl Theman. "The Messiah" was presented during the fall semester before Christmas and the spring cantata of "Elijah" was presented at Eastertime. At both concerts, vocal soloists and the entire singing group were accompanied by a symphonic band composed of State musicians and interested townspeople.

Also during the spring semester, the members of the chorus teamed up with the Speech Department to present a very successful production of the musical "Brigadoon." The chorus provided the background music while speech and music students told the delightful story of a magic, make-believe world where wishes do come true.

The chorus is organized in addition to the Pasquettes and Statesmen music groups to afford an opportunity for more students to take part in musical activities on campus and primarily to create a greater understanding of music and to foster the development of interest in music and music clubs at State.

Phi Upsilon Omicron

FRONT ROW: Adele Trapp, Jan Sinclair, Sharyl Johanson, Beverlee Akland, Elaine Gilbertson, Joanne Parry, Ramona Rea, Linda Odegard. Scabbard & Blade

Scabbard and Blade is a service organization composed of junior and senior Army ROTC cadets selected from the upper one-third of the ROTC class.

The purposes of the organization are to develop good and efficient officers and to spread intelligent information concerning military requirements.

Members help with the Military Ball, sell kick-off balloons on Hobo Day, usher at football games and administer proficiency tests to junior cadets.

Guidon, coed auxiliary to Army ROTC, is both a service organization and an honorary society for junior and senior women. Members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, leadership and service to the university.

Besides serving as ushers and hostesses for school functions, Guidon co-sponsors a bridal show in the spring, and awards a $100 scholarship to a freshman girl each year.

Officers for the 1966-1967 school year were Cheryl Voelker, president; Jean Hass, vice president; Marlene Smith, secretary; Joyce Hodgson, treasurer; Joann Heimann, clerk; and Marian Henjum, national coordinator.

Pershing Rifles

Pershing Rifles is a national military society for basic Army ROTC cadets. Purpose of the organization is to foster a spirit of friendship and cooperation among the men of the Military and to maintain a highly efficient drill company.

This year the campus chapter served as the host company for the Regimental Drill Assembly on April 21 and 22.

LSA

To afford a means for Lutheran students to deepen and express their Christian faith is the purpose of the Lutheran Student Association.

LSA sponsors Sunday evening meals, vesper services, Sunday morning services, retreats and conferences for their 200 members.

The group also sends deputation teams to church groups in the area and participates in Religion and Life Week.

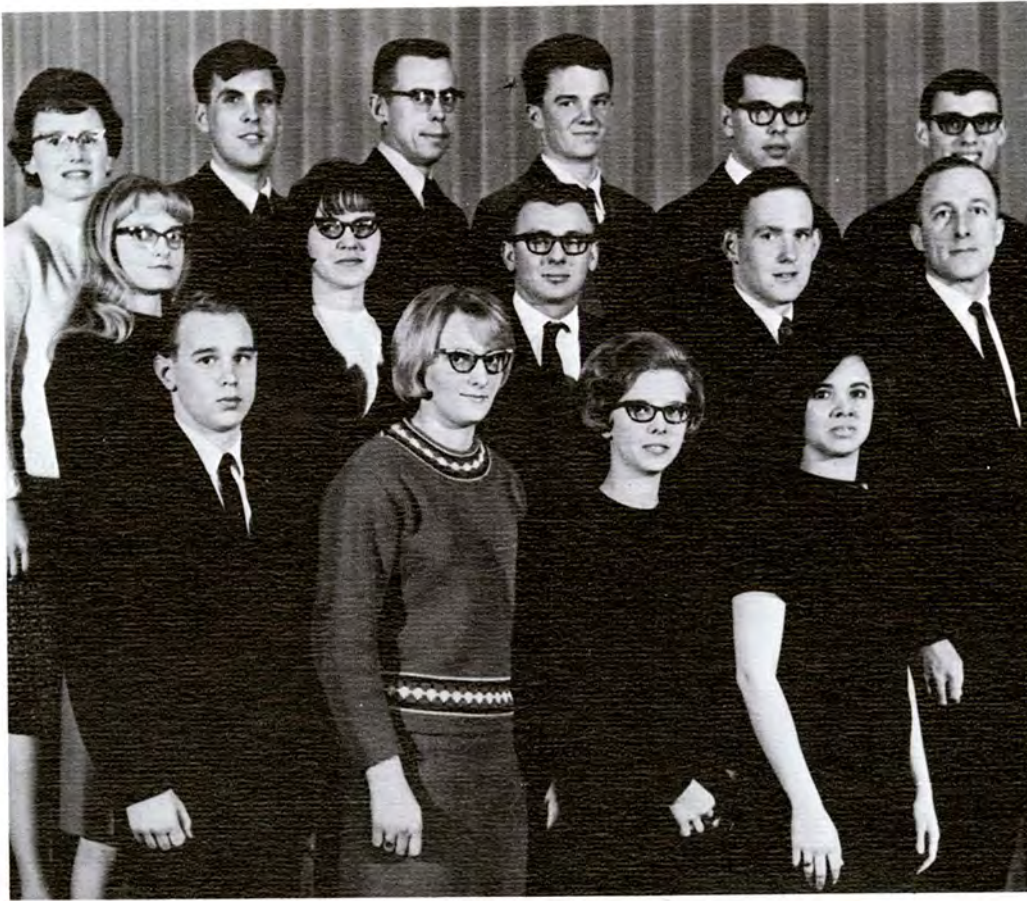

Officers this year were Larry Creswell, president; Dean Hendrickson, vice president; Sandy Severson, secretary, and Kathy Siverson, treasurer.

What do you mean, where is everybody?

Roger Williams Fellowship

Bible study, prayers, special programs and activities for college youth are some of the means used by the Roger Williams Fellowship in order to promote Christian fellowship for college young people.

The 20 members of the organization meet each week for Sunday supper and Bible study.

Leading the Fellowship this year were Pat Mize, president; John Pickering, vice president; and Deanna Jucht, secretary-treasurer. Dr. and Mrs. Durwood Beatty were the advisers.

Bethel Student Fellowship

An affiliate of the Bethel Baptist Church of Brookings, the Bethel Baptist Student Fellowship furnishes its members with a medium of Christian fellowship and growth.

Members of the Fellowship meet each week for a Sunday worship service and mid-week prayer services. In addition they prepare a Sunday supper each week and hold Bible studies and Sunday school classes.

Serving as adviser for the group was B. E. Lundberg. Officers this year were Peter Nyquist, president, and Wayne Ayres, vice president.

FRONT ROW: Myron Carlson. SECOND ROW: Carolyn Moore, Richard Motter. THIRD ROW: Gary Carlson.

Catholic Campus Parish

1150 Catholic students belong to the Catholic Campus Parish. Activities are planned to provide religious, intellectual and social experiences for Catholic students.

A mardi gras, religious classes, folk masses, CFM, retreats, religious art show, and a Student World Day of Prayer are among the activities sponsored by Catholic Campus Parish.

FROM LEFT: Eugene Henry, William Folk, Elaine Larson, Mrs. William Folk, Roseann Rumpza, Gretchen Kapaun, Barbara Renner, Robert Kodis, Brian Hurley, Father Louis Kroeger, Judy Bruce, Mrs. Major Boddicker, Major Boddicker, Fred Shinnick, LaVonne Yarina, Kathy Stodolski, Father Victor Poirier, Marilyn Cash, Nelle Hartwig.

Catholic Campus Parish held a folk mass complete with guitars every Wednesday. Pictured here are Fr. Louis Kroeger, Fr. Victor Poirier and Patrick Cannon.

Students take breaks from study at the Center.

Connie Shirley and David Mathison co-chairmanned the Second Annual Religious Art Show. A liturgical vestment displayed at the show was made by Joyce Haak, a State alumnus.

Fred Shinnick, president; John Briscoe, vice president; and Kathy Stodolski, secretary led Catholic Campus Parish for 1966-67. Directors of the center are Father Louis Kroeger and Father Victor Poirier.

Lutheran Collegians

Encouragement of Christian actions among college students is the purpose of the Lutheran Collegians.

Through a program based on Christian knowledge and service, the organization works to conserve and develop Christian faith according to true Lutheran principles.

Vesper services and group discussions on topics of student interest are held each week. Various programs of entertainment are sponsored by the 20 members during the year.

Officers this year included Dallas Miller, president; Sharon Walth, vice president; Marie Forde, secretary; Janis Beskow, treasurer, and the Rev. Larry Ellenberger, adviser.

Religious Council

The Religious Council is designed to help promote cooperation among the religious organizations on campus.

Each of the 12 Council members is a representative of one of the different religious sects on campus. By coordinating their ideas, they attempt to provide activities which will stimulate religious thinking and help develop a religious atmosphere on campus.

Among the projects sponsored by the Council are the Religion and Life Committee Programs and the Religious Coffee House.

This year's officers were Harry Engberg-president; Dennie Paul, vice president; and Diana Rude, treasurer. Serving as adviser was Mr. Fee.

Lots of suds and elbow-grease made a successful Gamma Delta car wash.

Gamma Delta

"To guide us, in service to God and our fellow man through knowledge of God's Word" is the purpose of Gamma Delta.

Gamma Delta is an international association of Lutheran college and university students of the Synodical Conference.

The campus chapter of Gamma Delta meets twice weekly. Bible discussions are held on Thursday evenings and student-led vespers follow the weekly supper on Sundays.

Gamma Delta also sponsors a coffee hour and provides choir service for the 11:00 a. m. Sunday service at the Brookings Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church.

Officers this year were Leland Bierman, president; Roger Bailey, vice president; Shirley Klein, secretary; and Ginger Ehlers, treasurer. Adviser for the group was Wayne Knabach.

The University Christian Fellowship is made up of several religious faiths. Students from Presbyterian, United Church of Christ, Disciples of Christ, Reformed and Quaker backgrounds join in fellowship and study activities at the UCF center.

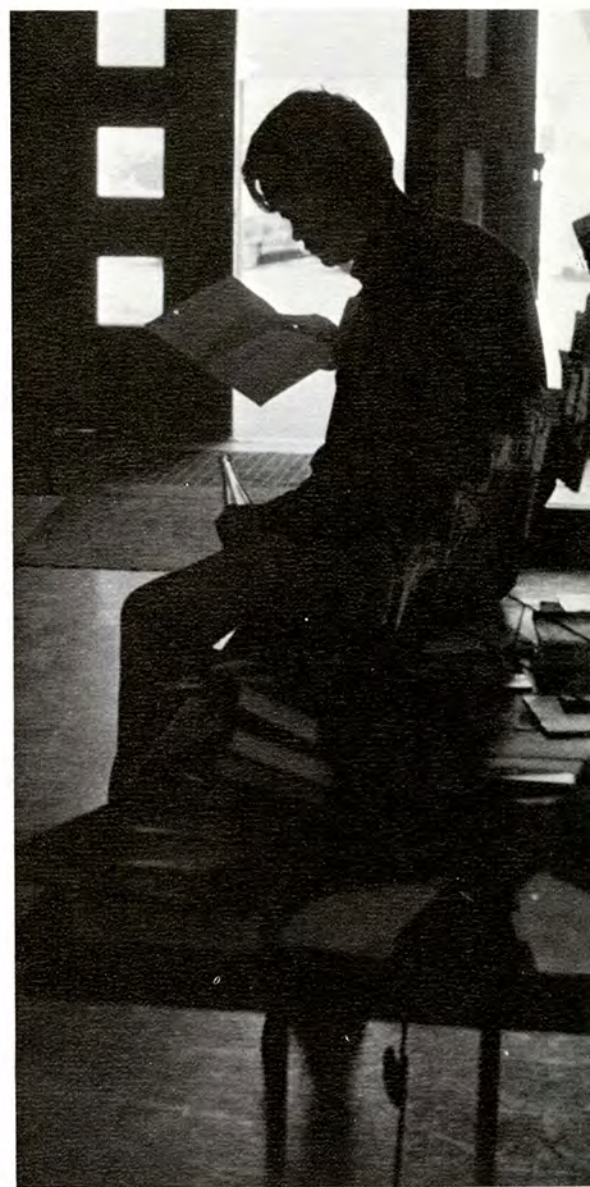

The weekly program at the UCF house includes koinonia study groups every Monday and Tuesday, open house for foreign students every Wednesday, and Sunday evening suppers which are open to everyone.

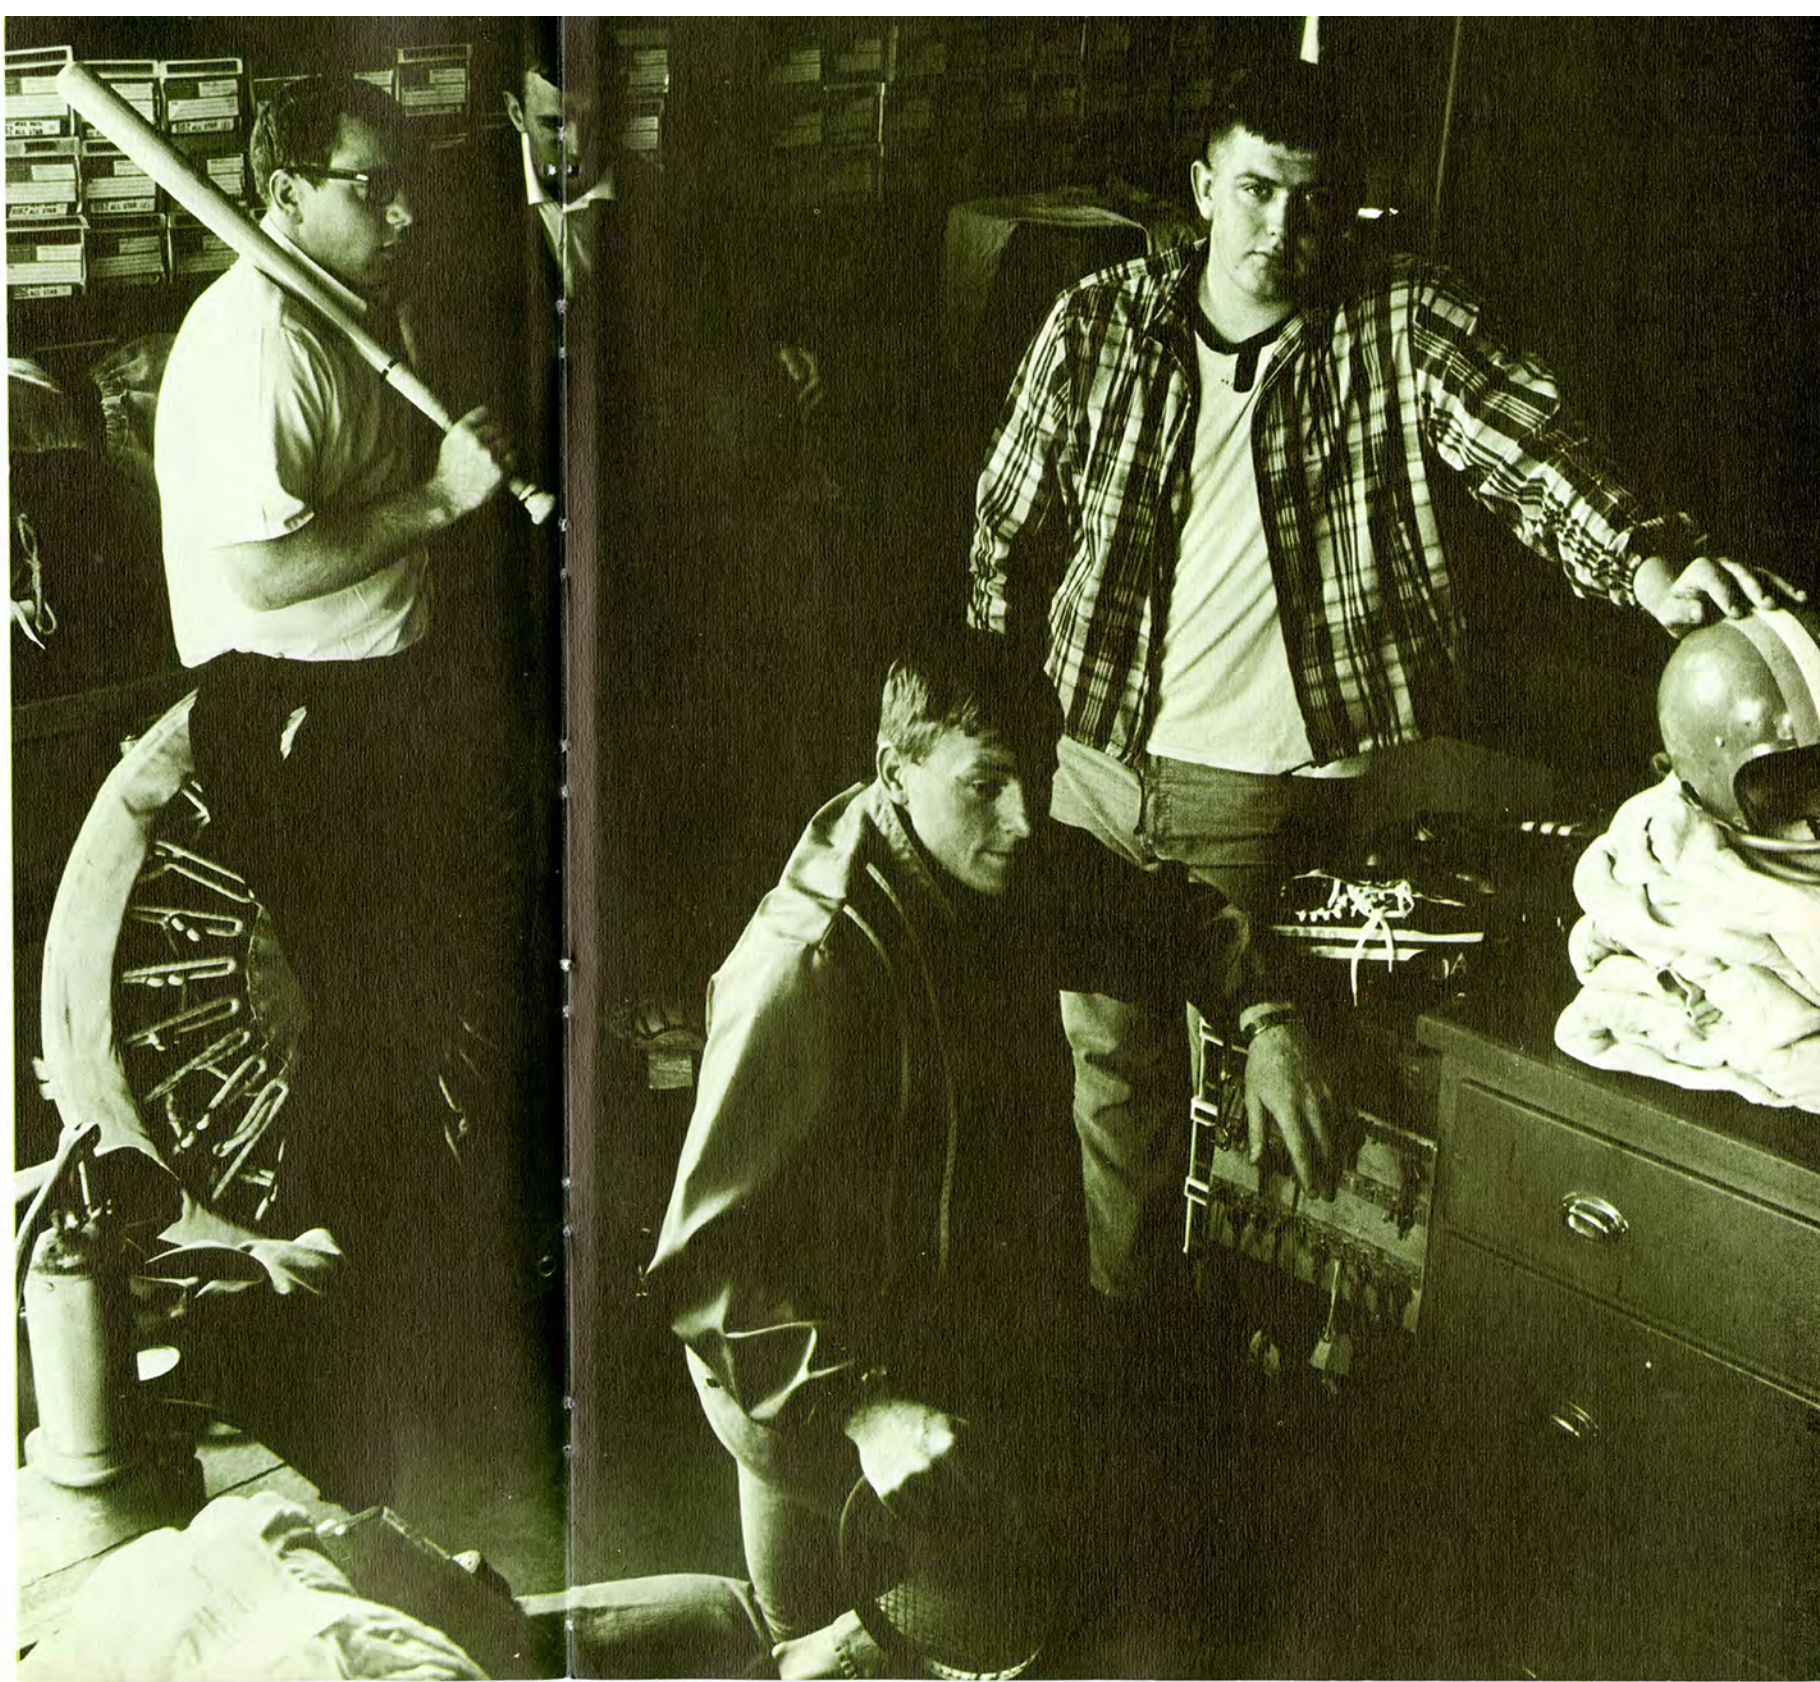

You see, it's this way . . .

Officers for the 1966-1967 school year were Max Evens and Roger Ripley, co-presidents; Patti Walker and Marsha Mount, co-vice presidents; Lynn Zerchling and Ruth Balo, secretaries; and Terry Howard, Oran Sattler and Dennis Unkenholz, treasurers. Russel Traver and Julia Hazzard were advisers for the group.

Athletics

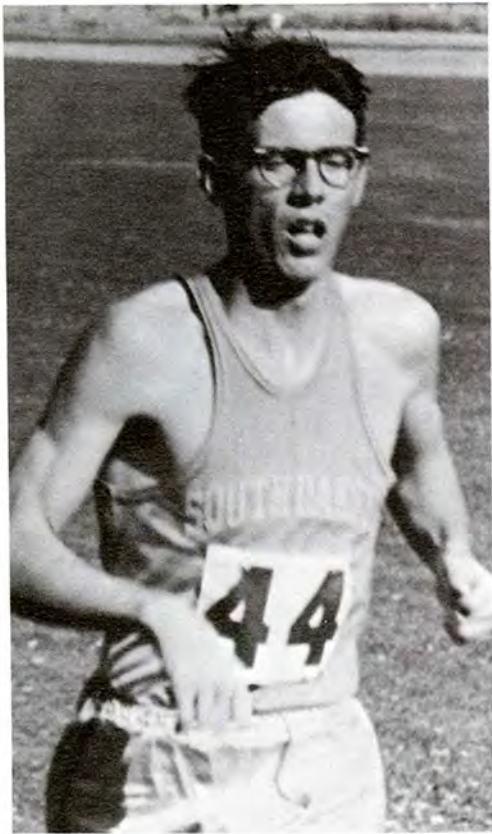

Cross-Country

For the State cross-country four-mile runners, better known as Dooley's boys, it was a year of challenges, challenges that were met and successfully overcome. Coach Aubrey Dooley's harriers attained heights never before reached by a State cross-country team. Led by Jay Dirksen and Lindy Cosgrove, the Jacks swept through an invitational and dual meet schedule taking four team first places and one second. The lone blemish came with a second place finish in the All-Comer's Meet in the season's first test in Brookings. But this was only the beginning. Our beloved harriers swept to an unprecedented ninth NCC title in ten years.

The team was in a huddle . . .

Hey, wait for me, guys.

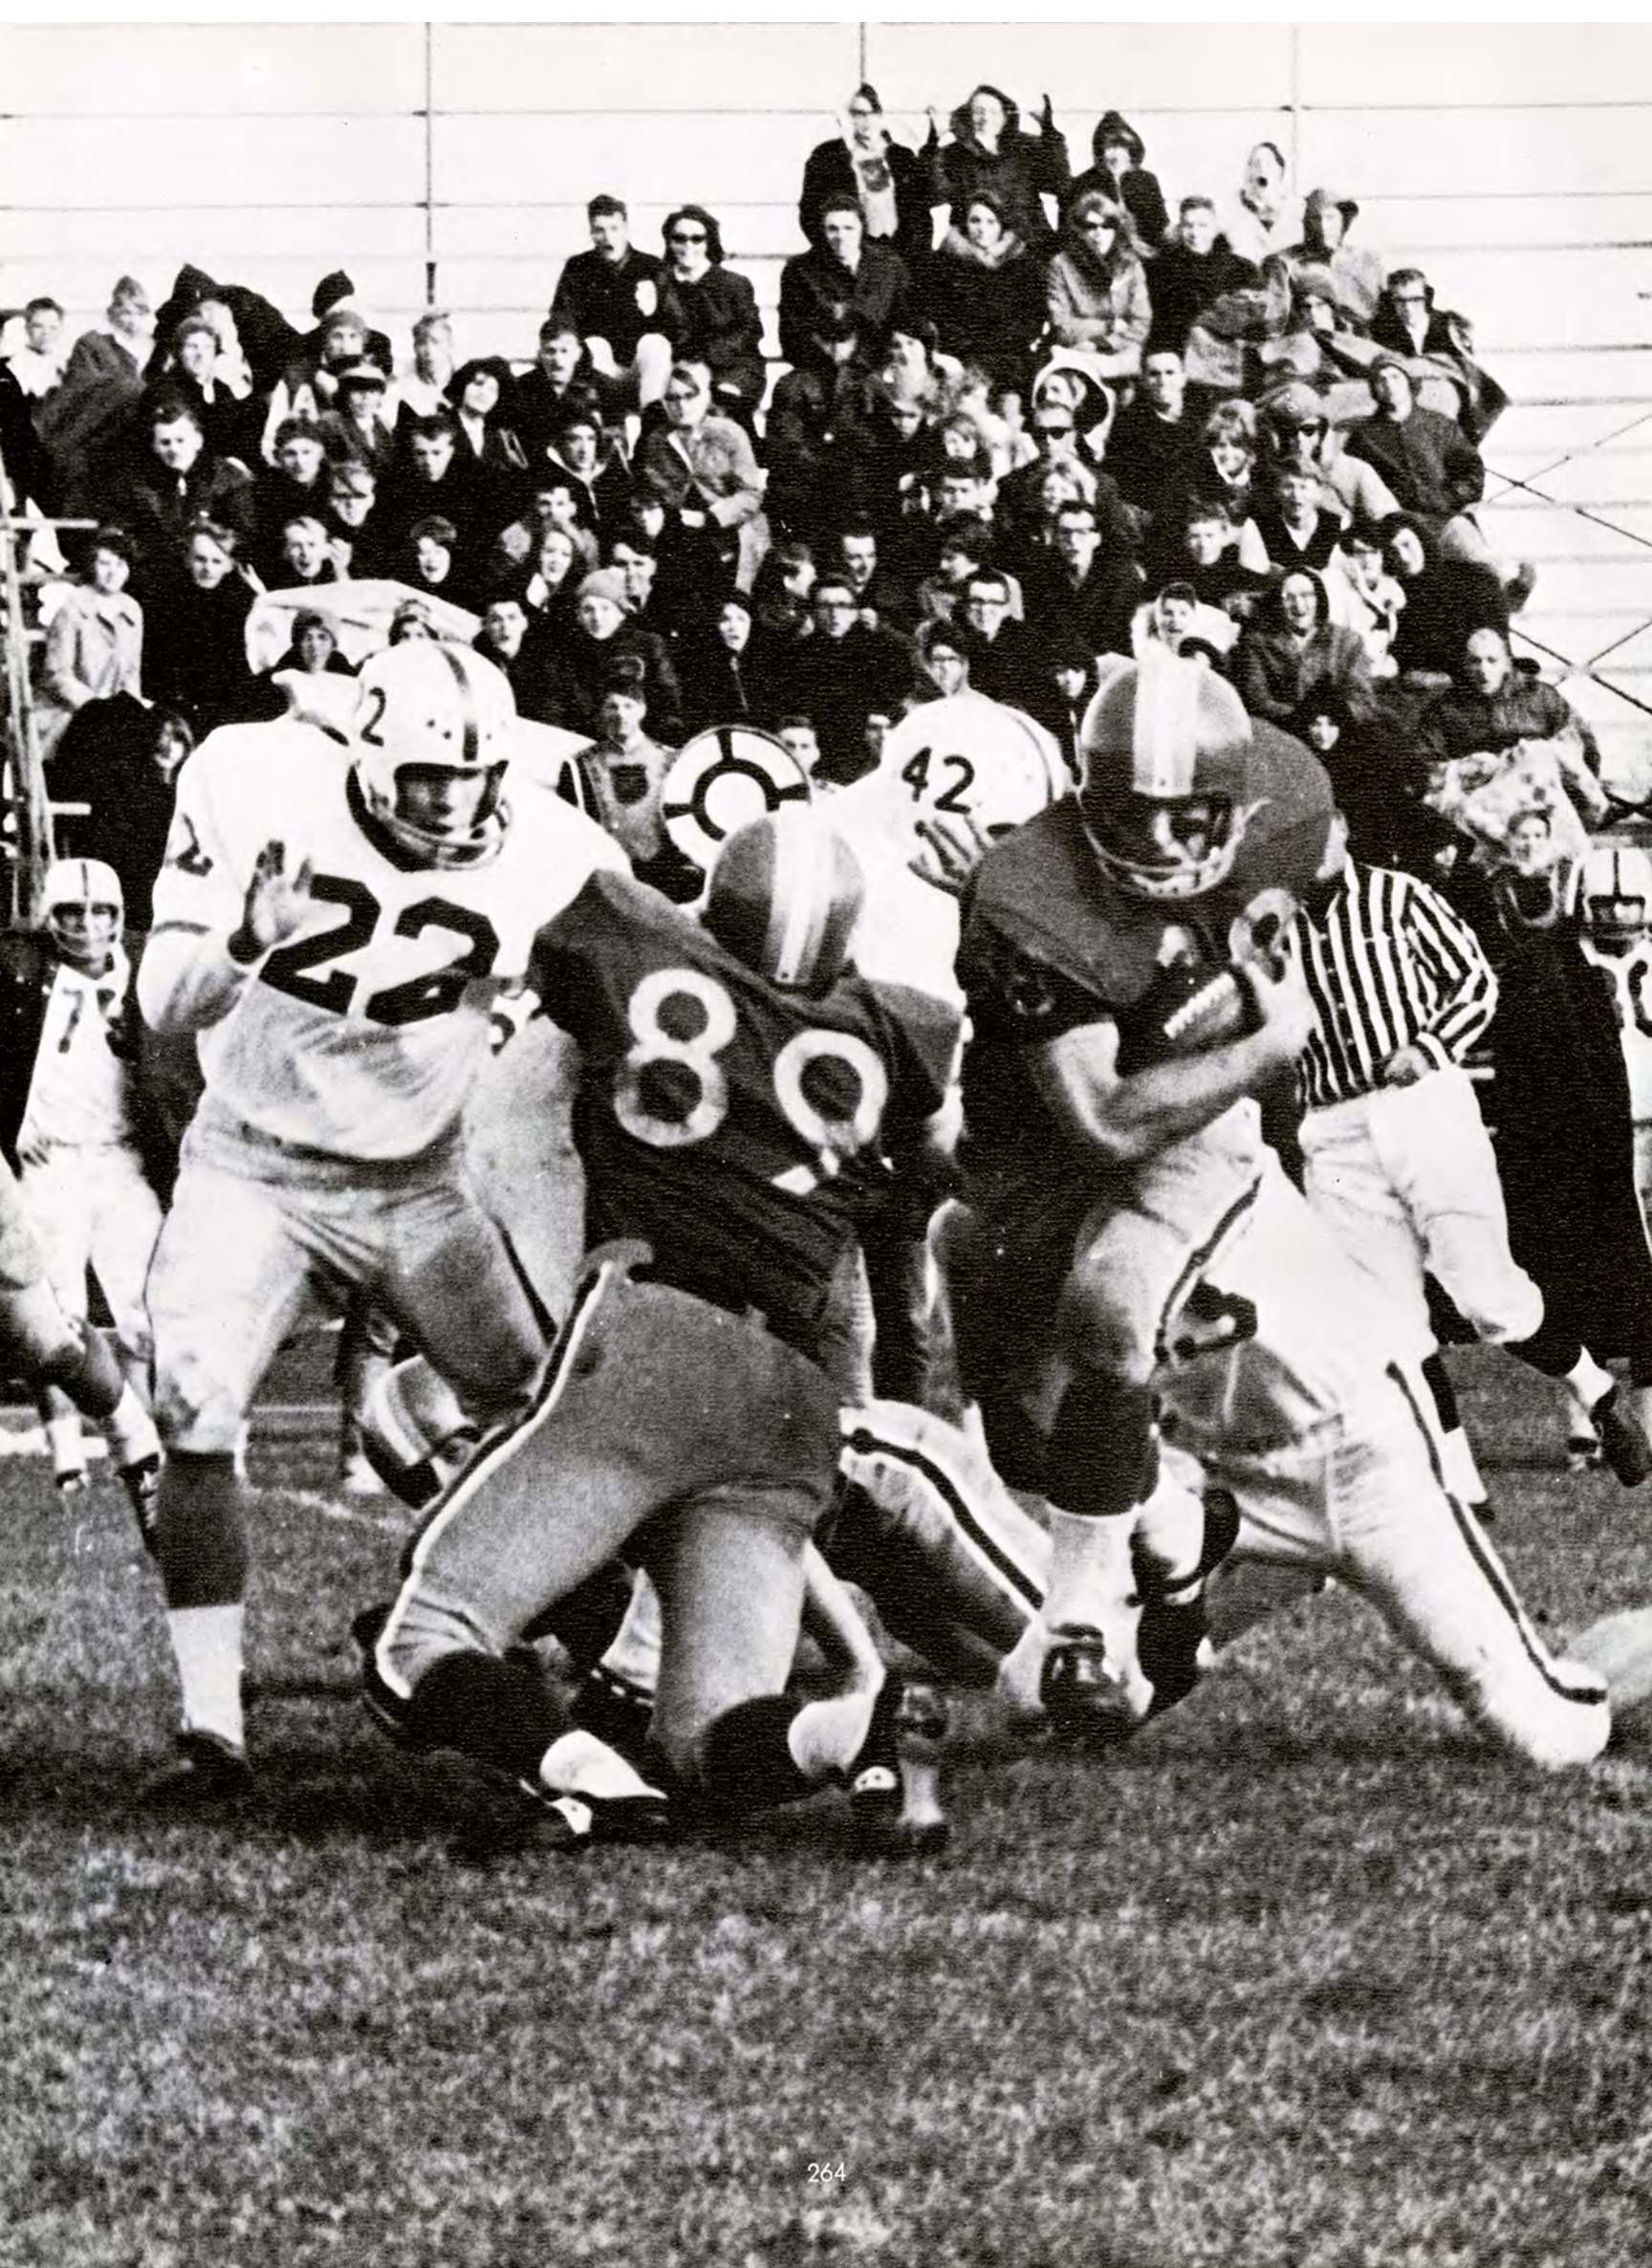

I'm ready to go.

They did it in grand fashion by taking the first five places and scoring a perfect fifteen points. Finishing order for the yellow and blue were Cosgrove, Dirksen, Bjerke, Bartholomew, and Long. Winning the meet in 20:11.5, potential nineteen minute-four miler Lindy Cosgrove demonstrated that constant improvement pays off. State's performance was summed up best by Coach Dooley who commented, "I've never seen anything like it." To put the frosting on this season's cake, the Jack harriers finished fifth in the NCAA cross-country meet, their best ever for the event. This cross-country season can best be condensed into one word, successful; something that very few other State teams could say!

Time out!

Football

When one thinks of collegiate football, he pictures a stadium bulging with fans, and a smart-looking high stepping band performing intricate maneuvers at half-time. As for the players, the halfbacks are 9.8 second 100 yard dash men who have the moves of a Turkish belly dancer, the fullbacks are 230 pounds of bone-crushing muscle, the quarterbacks are skillful field generals who can throw the ball the length of the field, and the animal-like linemen are so mean that they would just as soon kill you as look at you. If this is your image of collegiate football, you were lucky if you watched the "tube" this past season because only the band lived up to its end of the image at State's Coughlin-Alumni Stadium in 1966. The Jack's finished the season with 3-7 total, 2-4 conference record good for a three way tie for fourth place in the NCC.

The season opener for the Jack Rabbits against powerful Montana State was no contest at all as our Jacks succumbed 41-6. Outrushing us 327 yards to 49, and out first downing us 22 to 6, Montana State was lucky that we even showed up for the contest. The Jacks defeated a young and inexperienced University of Minnesota-Duluth Branch, 27-0 as Macik had a field day running for 142 yards and two touchdowns.

Give me one big fight!

Two more inches and it's ours.

In the first home game drizzling rain, 30 mph winds, and 56° weather greeted the Colorado State University Rams. But these Rams looked and played more like the Los Angeles Rams as they powered their day to a 45-14 victory. The Bison from NDSU, number one ranked small college team in the nation, lived up to its rating in defeating the Jacks 35-6. Darwin Gannerman had a record setting 95-yard kickoff return for the Jacks' only score. Morningside showed State fans how a "fair" football team could make the Jacks look bad as the Chiefs won the race to put points on the scoreboard 41-21. The UND Sioux, using the Avis theory of "we are not number one, so we try harder," literally scalped our Jacks on Hobo Day 43-0. State bums had little to cheer about as the Sioux Corey Colehour passed for 310 yards in giving the Jacks their worst Hobo Day defeat.

The score's tied, so give it all you've got.

Gently boys, gently.

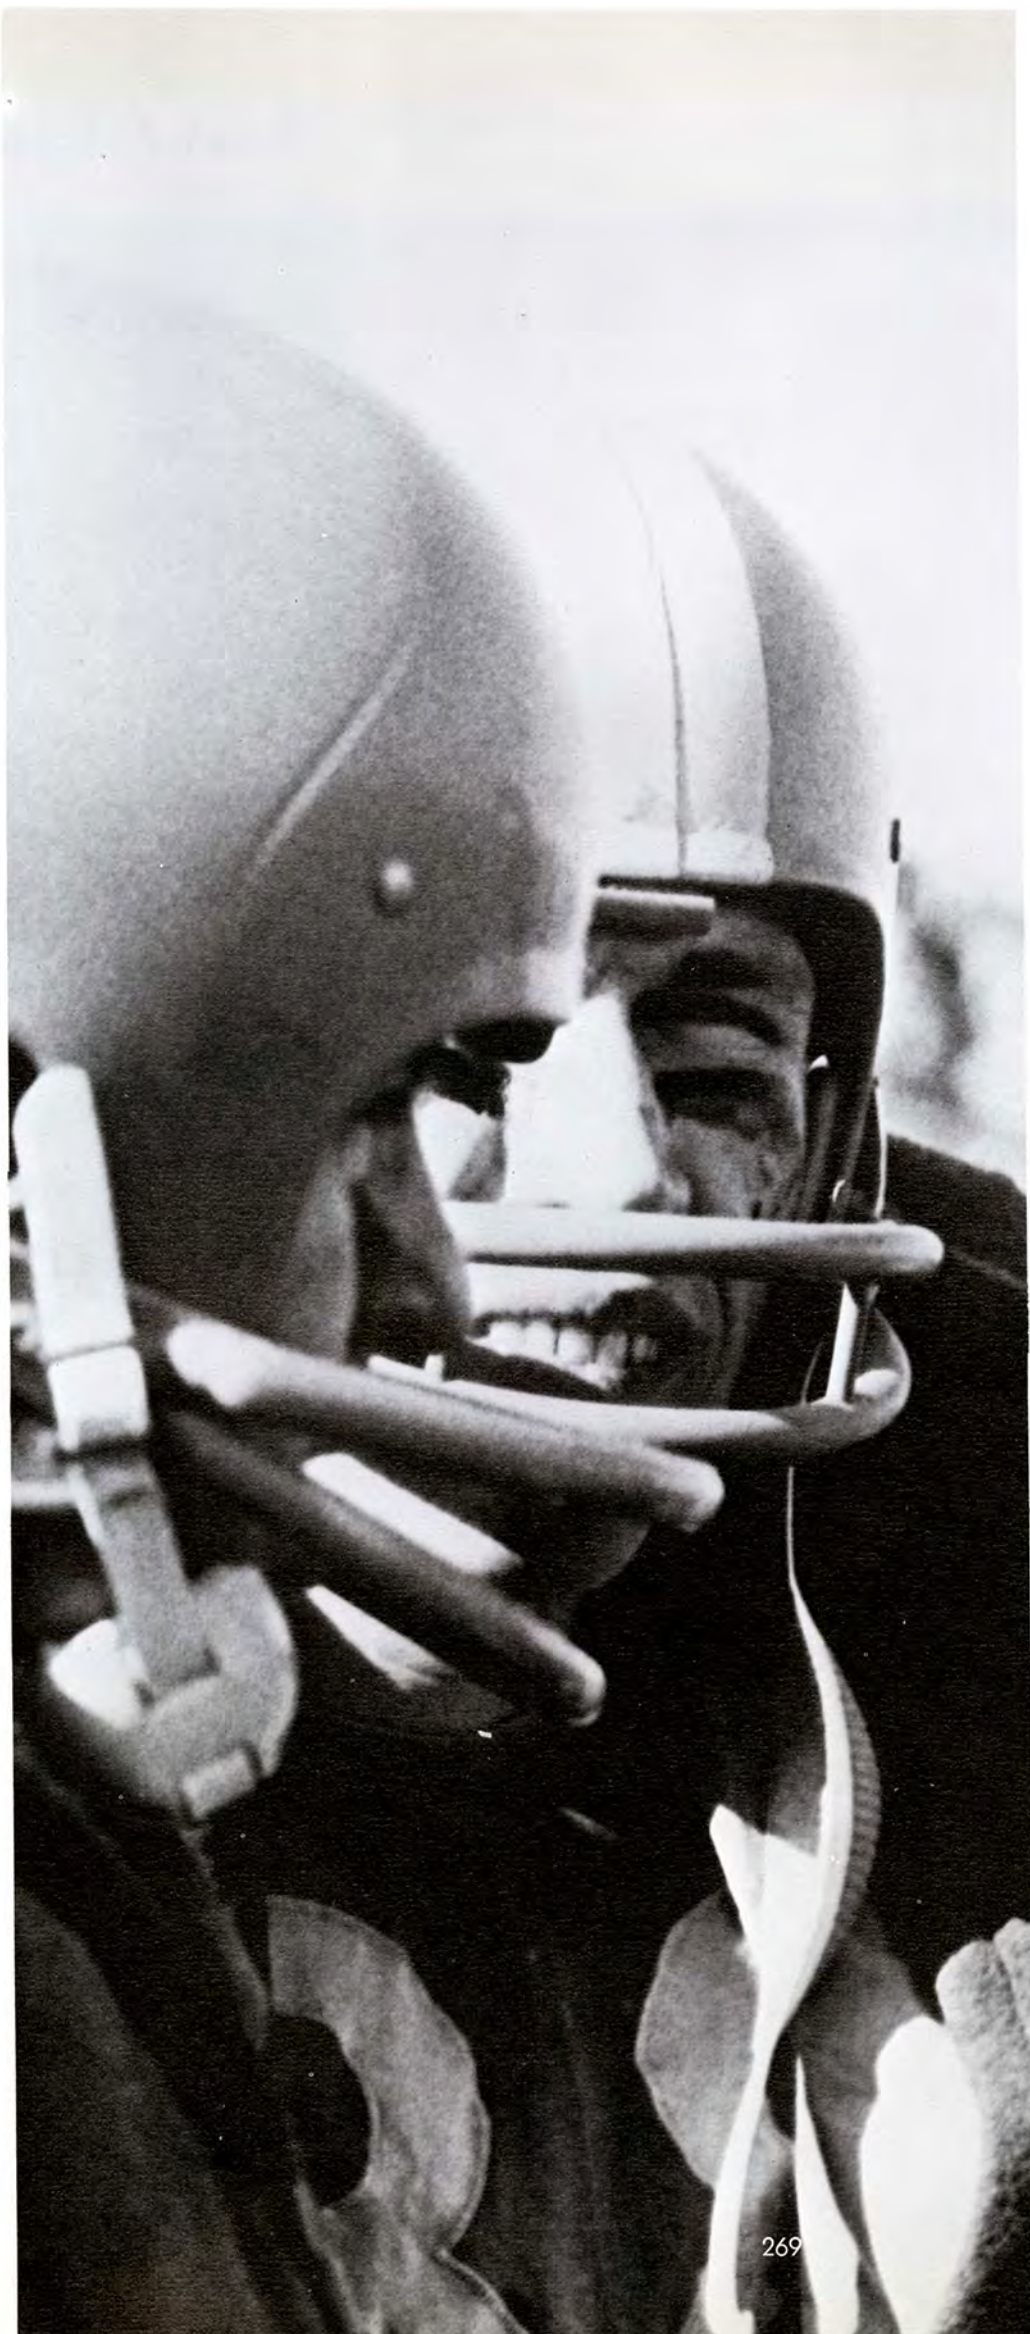

Say Ahhhh.

Just a little bit more and I'm over!

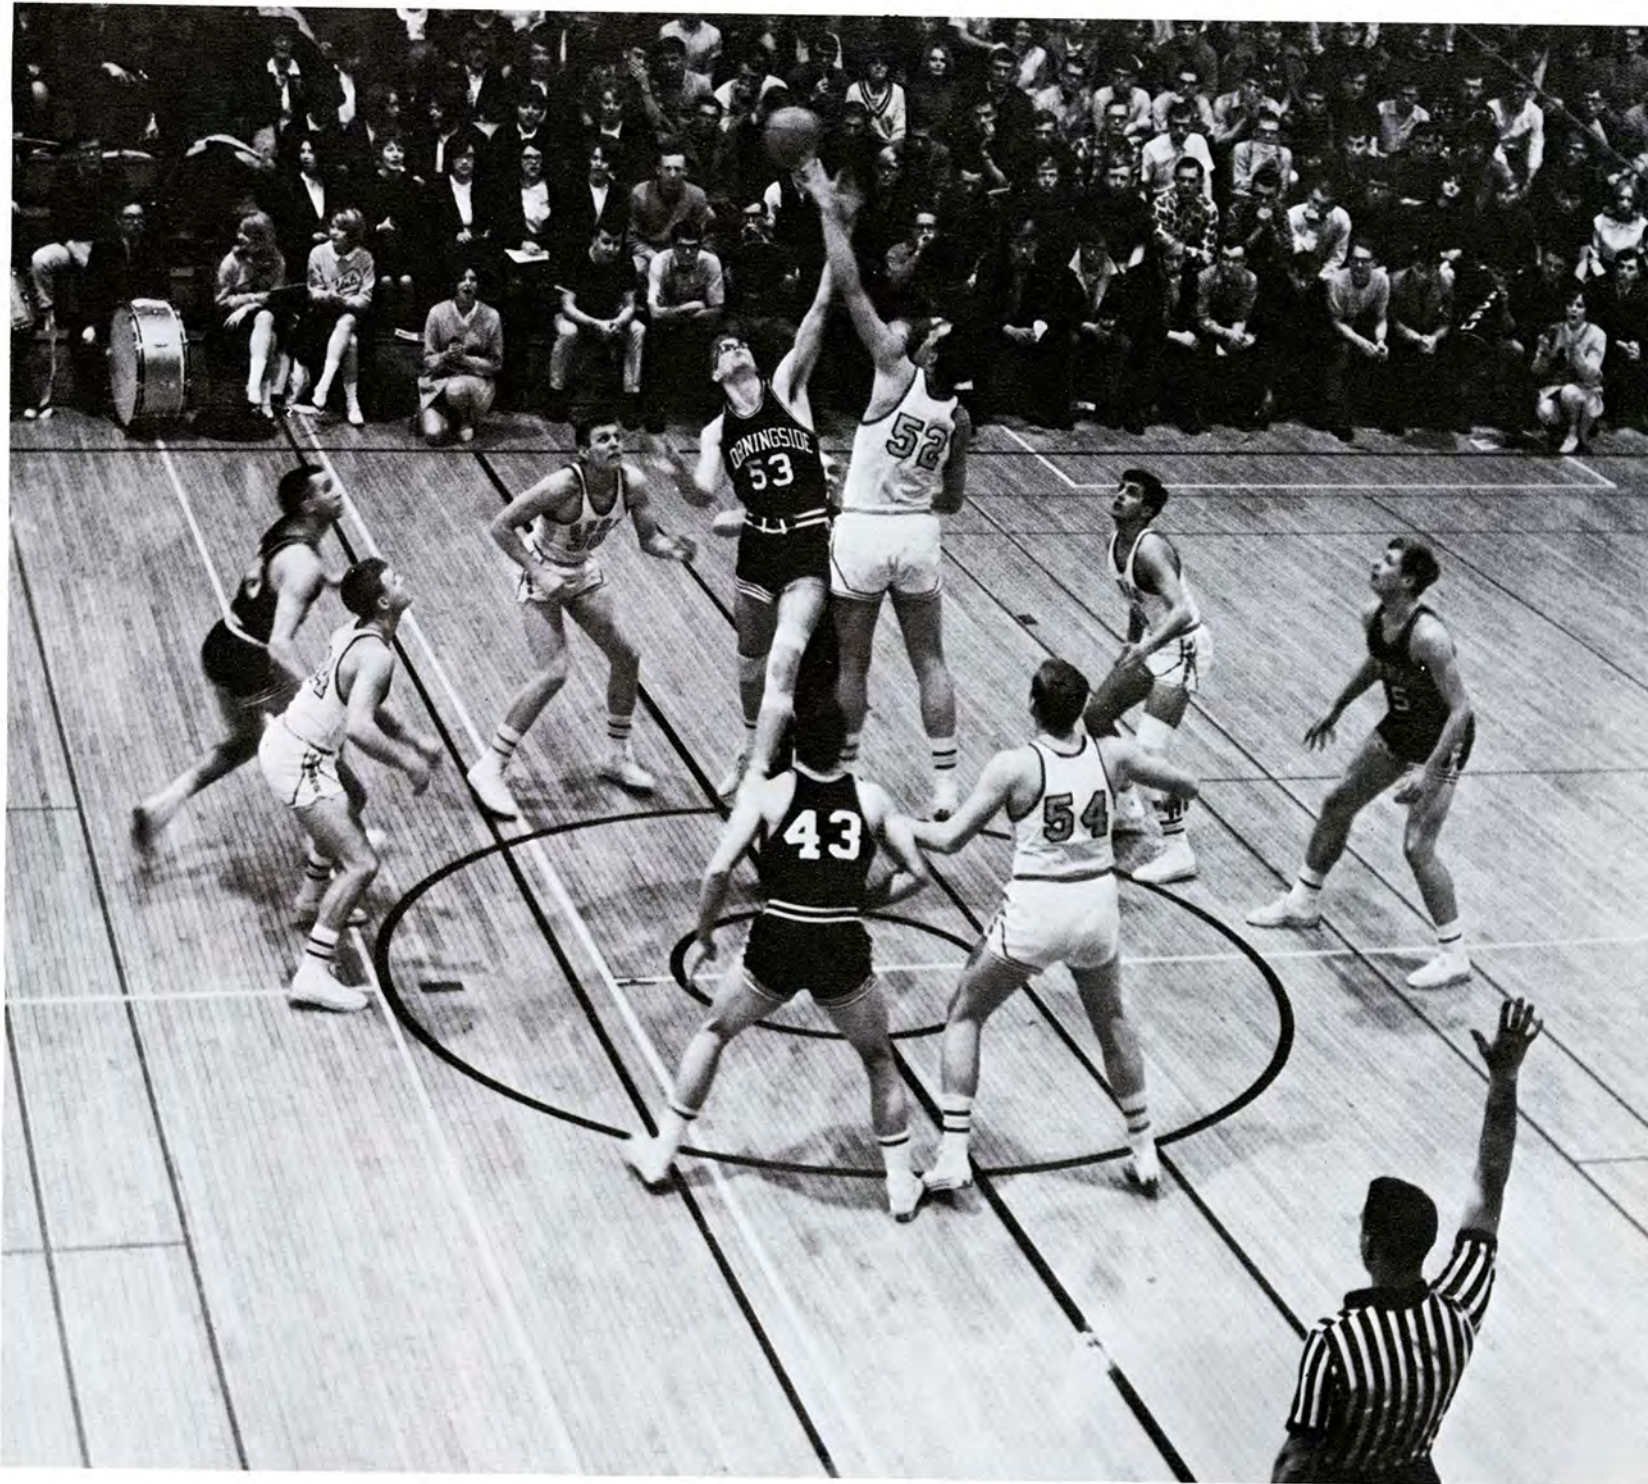

The Ginnmen finally shedded the turmoil of the last four lopsided losses on a slick handoff to the Coyotes from Vermillion by upsetting them 22-18. The difference in victory was the Jack's team effort in this spirited game, Bob Nelson's toe which provided three field goals, and the offensive line which finally turned animal.

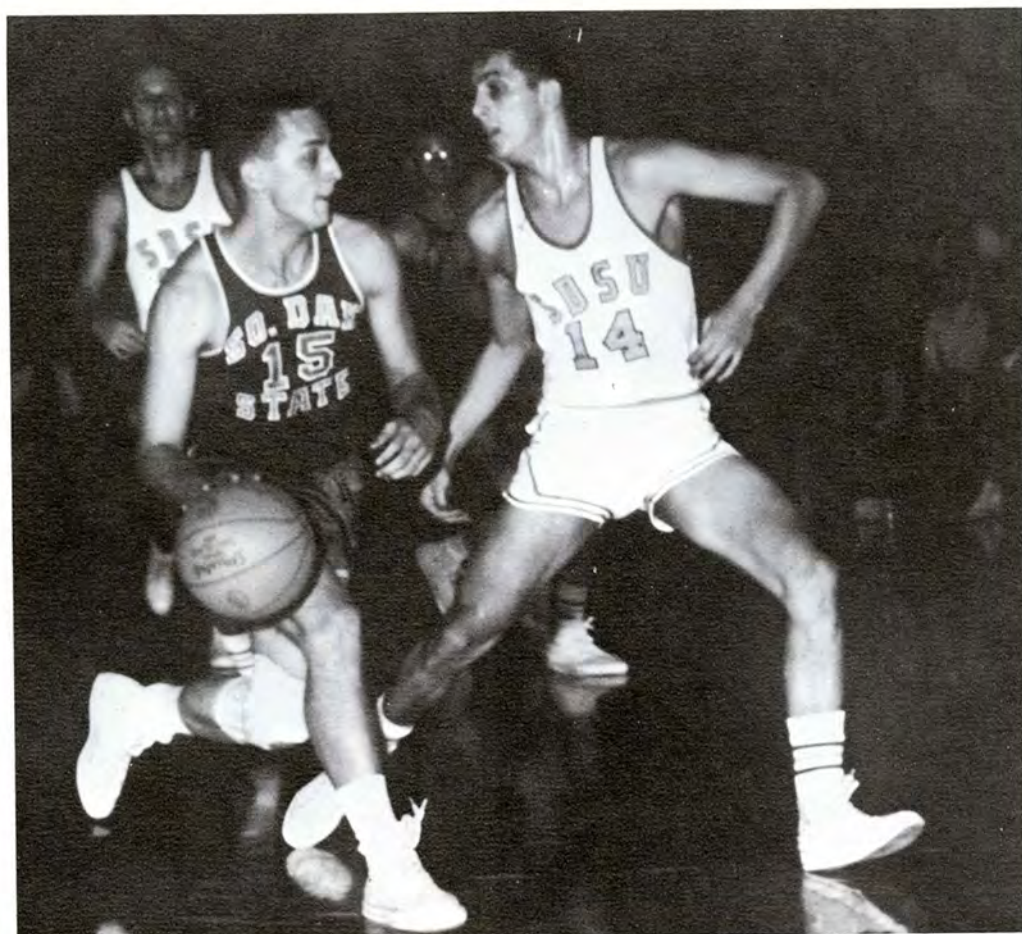

State returned to its former losing ways in defeat by SCI 13-7 in spite of Hoeg's 111 yards rushing for State, and a 31-7 shelling by mediocre Colorado State College. Then on a snowy 20° Veteran's day before several thousand fans, State took out their season long frustrations on Augustana in a 19-13 victory. With Augie heavily favored, the Sioux Falls Argus Leader went out too far on a limb in billing this the championship of South Dakota collegiate football. It was the Jacks and not the Vikings who could lay claim to being "top dog" in football as they came from a 13-6 half-time deficit to play their best half of the year to win their third game.

Even though the Jacks were not striving to be number one in the nation as in years past, the Jacks in 1966 were number one in South Dakota. It was a year in which 17 records were broken and tied, most of them by the opposition. It was the year when the Meyer-Maras combination had finally graduated and gave way to a balanced, but impotent attack. It was a year of Macik's long runs, Gonnerman's steady, inspiring all-around play, "Sornie's" beautiful catches, and a year when everyone was heard saying, "wait 'til next year . . ."

Basketball

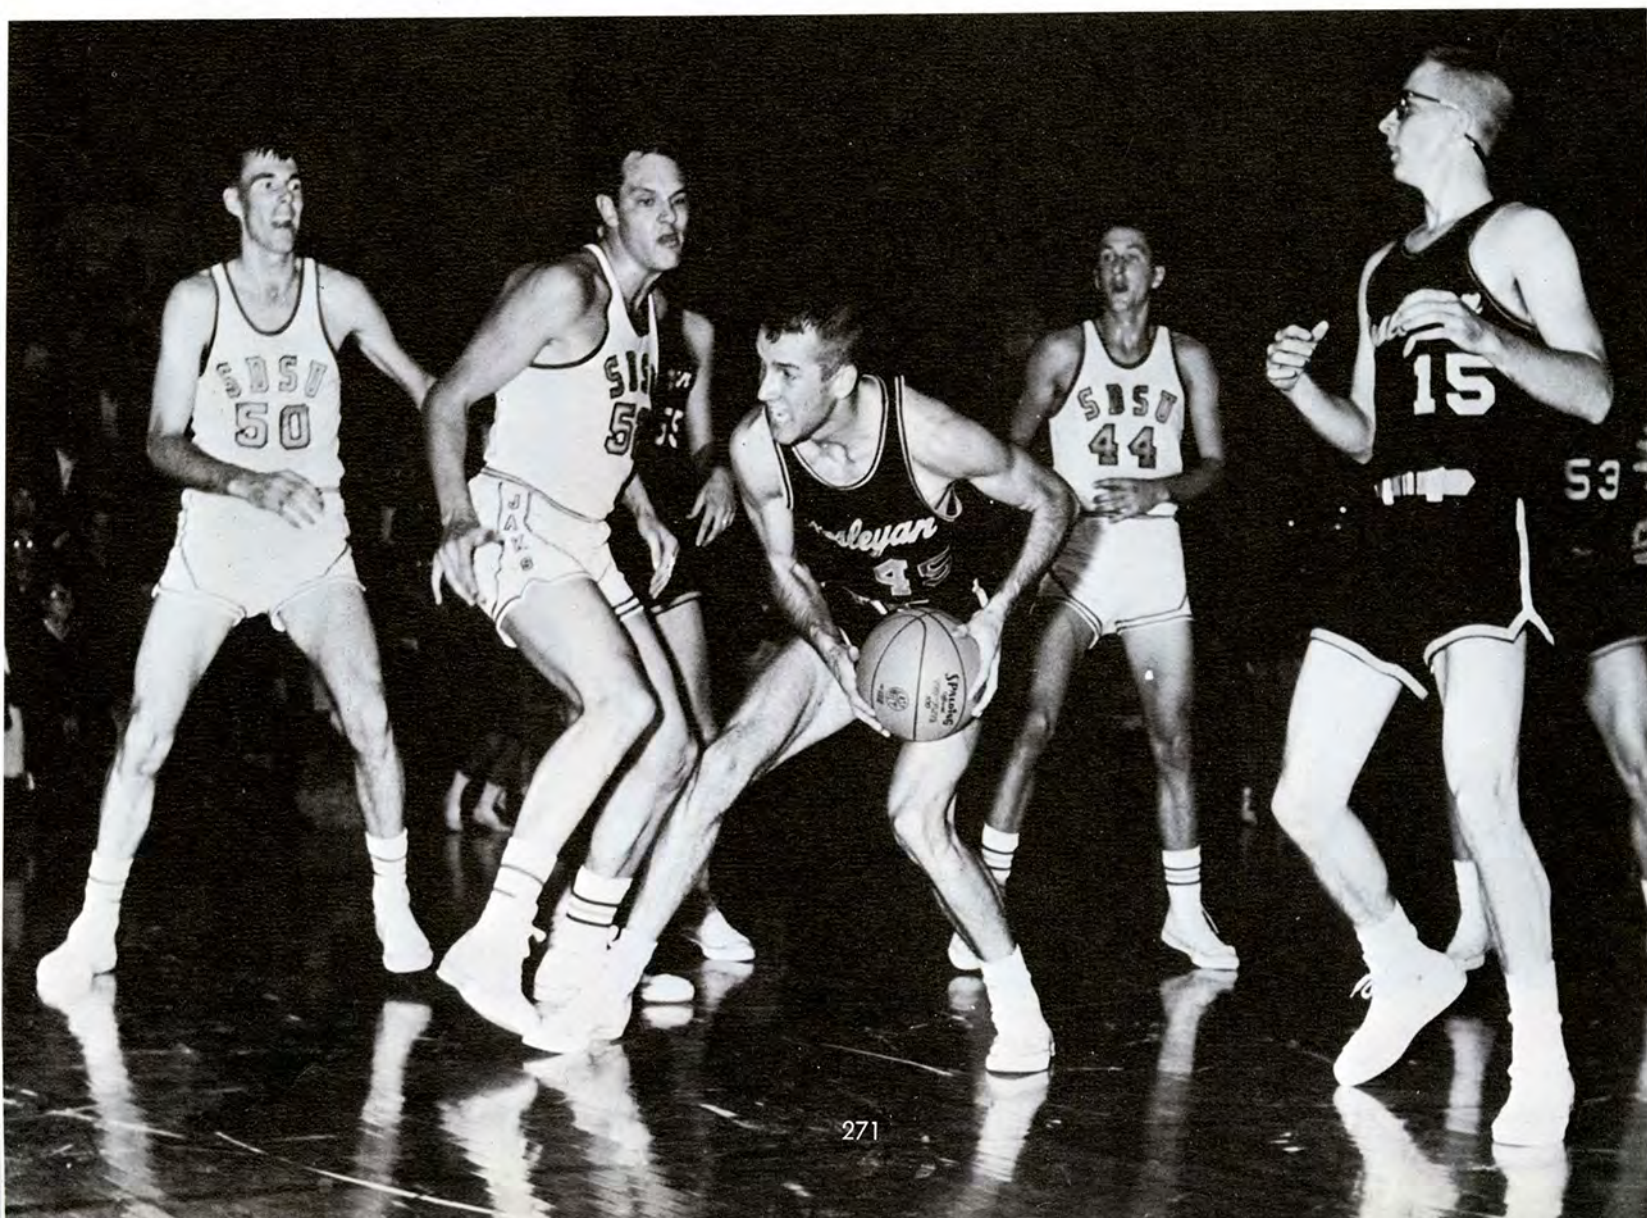

Basketball at State this year was like a new sports car fresh off the production line. We had a youthful, vibrant, exciting style with an abundance of talent and horsepower under the hood of the "good 'ol barn." At the wheel of the 1966-67 version of the Jack Rabbits was Jim Marking, one of the most colorful, enthusiastic, and talented drivers in the circuit. Seating at the "barn" was as cramped and uncomfortable as in a sports car, but we didn't care, because what we saw was an exciting brand of go-go-go basketball.

Where do you think you're going?

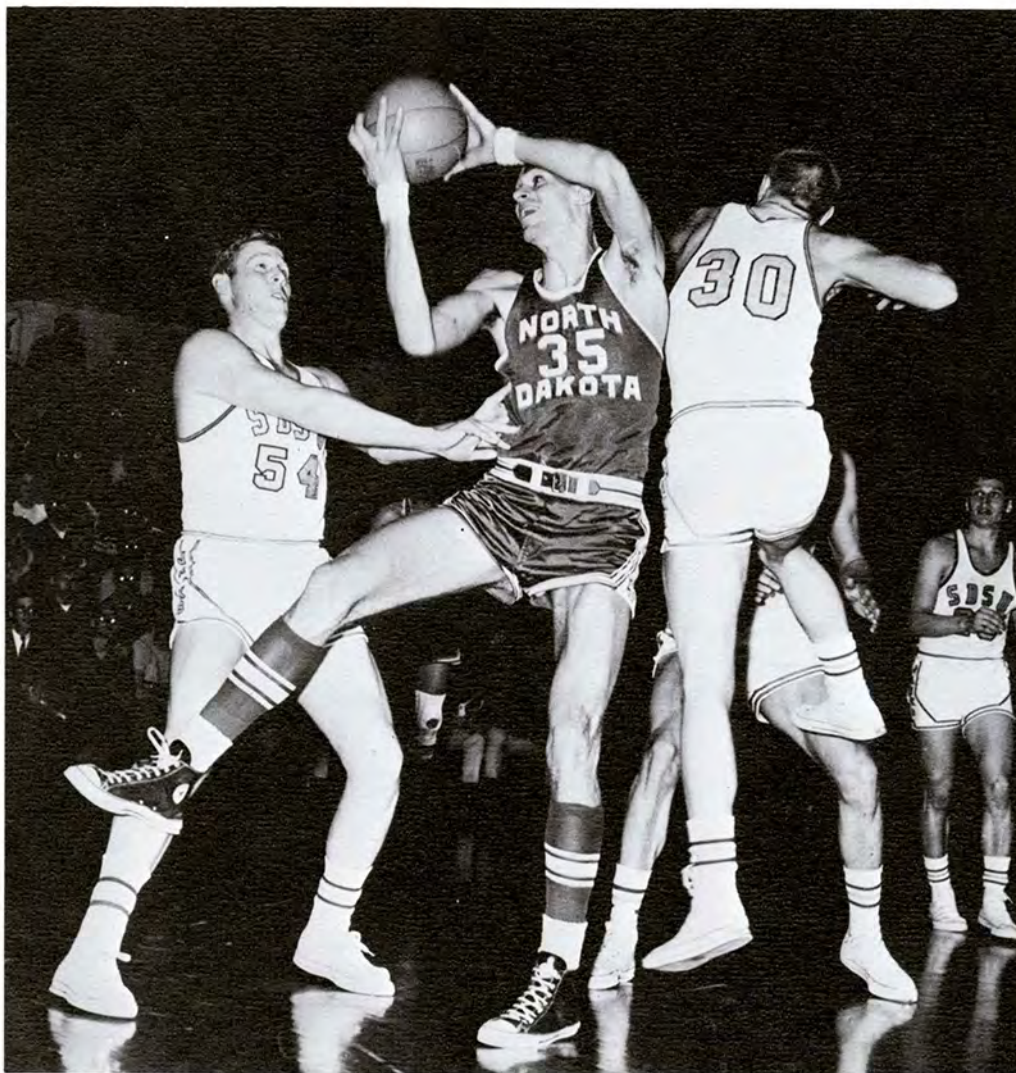

But like many new versions of autos, our Jack Rabbit version had to go through more tests and acquire a little more seasoning on the road circuit before it could strive for and finally win the NCC "Grand Prix."

The season started out with great promise as the Jacks walloped Nebraska Wesleyan and played good basketball in losing to major colleges Loyola of Chicago and Oklahoma State University. The highlight of the early season, as far as Northern fans were concerned, was holding down the score and losing by only nine points to the high-scoring Jacks in one of the infrequent occasions when Northern plays State.

Don't just stand there---shoot!

First you lift one foot, then the other.

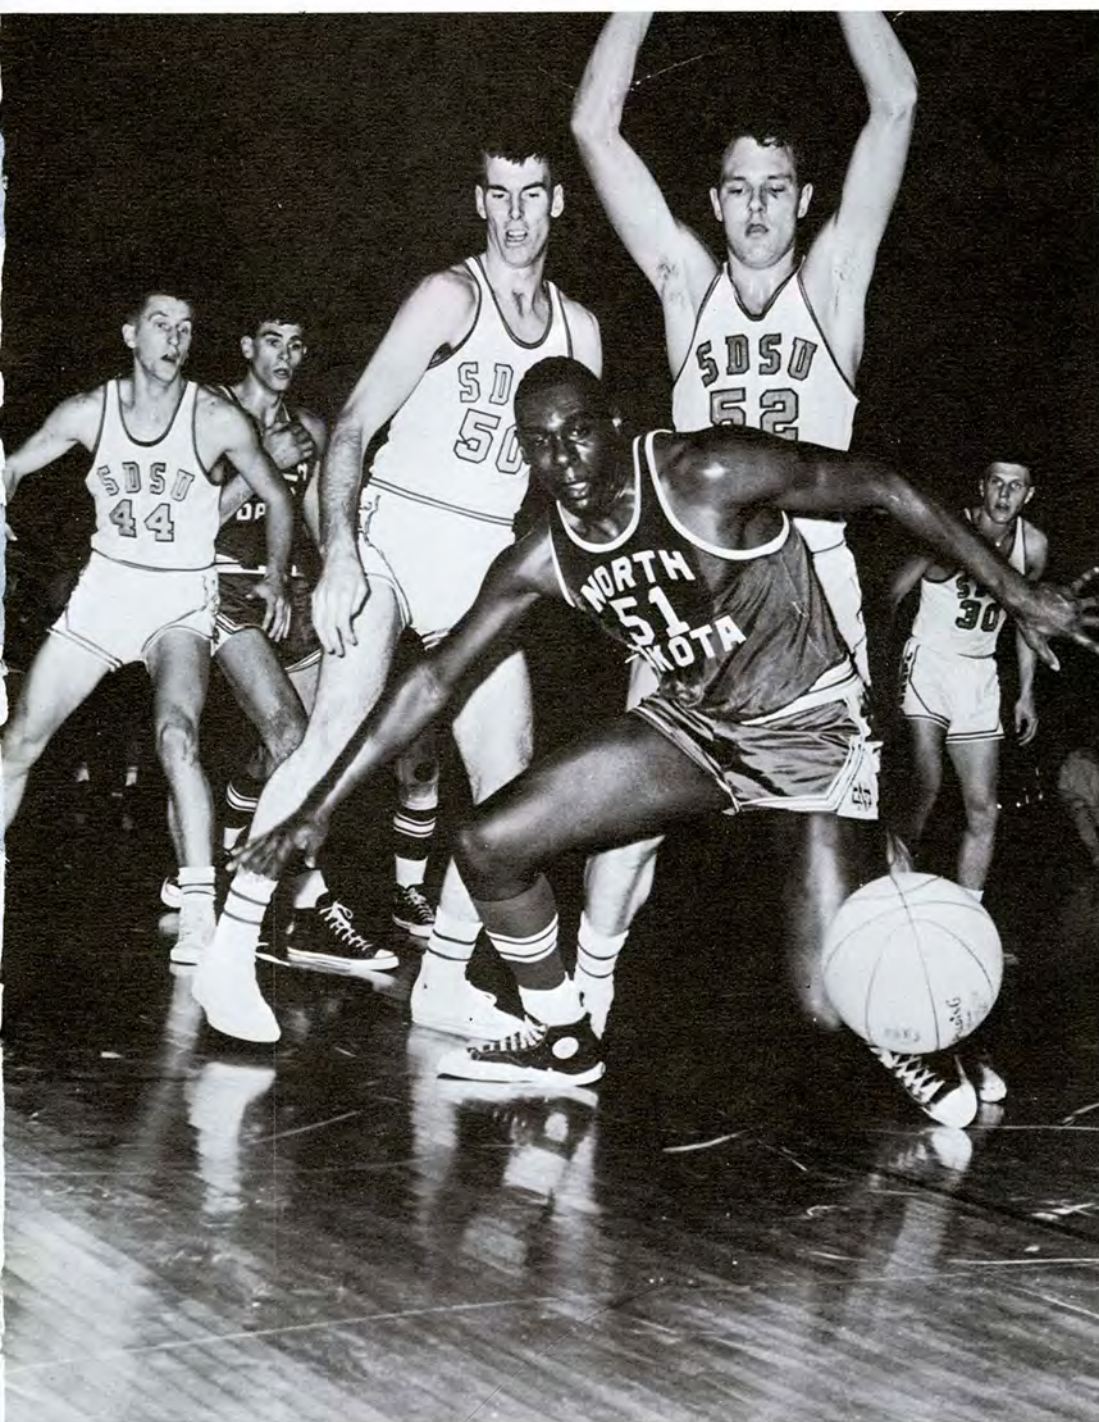

What good is a bent basket?

The low point was a knee injury to All-NCC guard Tom Timpone which hampered his play all season long, and the seventh place finish in the NCC Holiday Tourney.

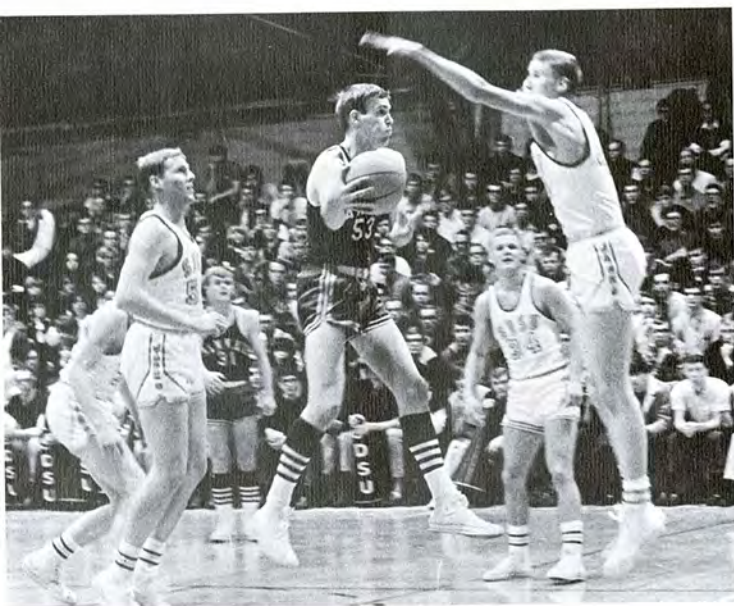

In the first conference test, Little All-American Phil Jackson, NDU's scoring machine poured in 41 points as the Sioux whipped the Jacks 85-75. This was the beginning of a dreadful first half of the NCC schedule which saw the Jacks plunge to the cellar with a 1-6 record. Included in this plunge was an 85-81 defeat to the "U" at Vermillion, which saw Jack "Smiley" Theeler, the biggest gunner in these parts since the Red Baron stopped shooting at Snoopy, scorch the nets for 48 points. It was after this disastrous first half record that the Jacks did a complete about-face and did a little devastating of their own. They reeled off successive victories against SCI, Augie, USD, and Morningside. The 79-62 butchering of Augie and the 97-87 conquest of the "U" were especially sweet since they avenged earlier defeats. Against Morningside, Ron Otterness set a Jacks' season high scoring mark of 32 points. The Jacks finished off the season losing to SCI finishing with a 11-14 overall, 5-7 conference record which was good for a three way tie for third in the NCC behind champion NDU.

Don't touch it-----stand back!

How about a fast game of leap-frog?

This year will be remembered as the year when the sleeping giant Ron Otterness fouled out several times at the half with 20 points, when All-Conference guard Vern Schoolmeester would send a patented, high-arching, 30-foot set shot whistling through the nets, when the tremendous sophomore trio of Thomas, Zulk, and Mackner got their NCC baptism of fire, when Timpone would make a turning, twisting underhanded lay-up, and as the year when the Jacks jelled a little too late.

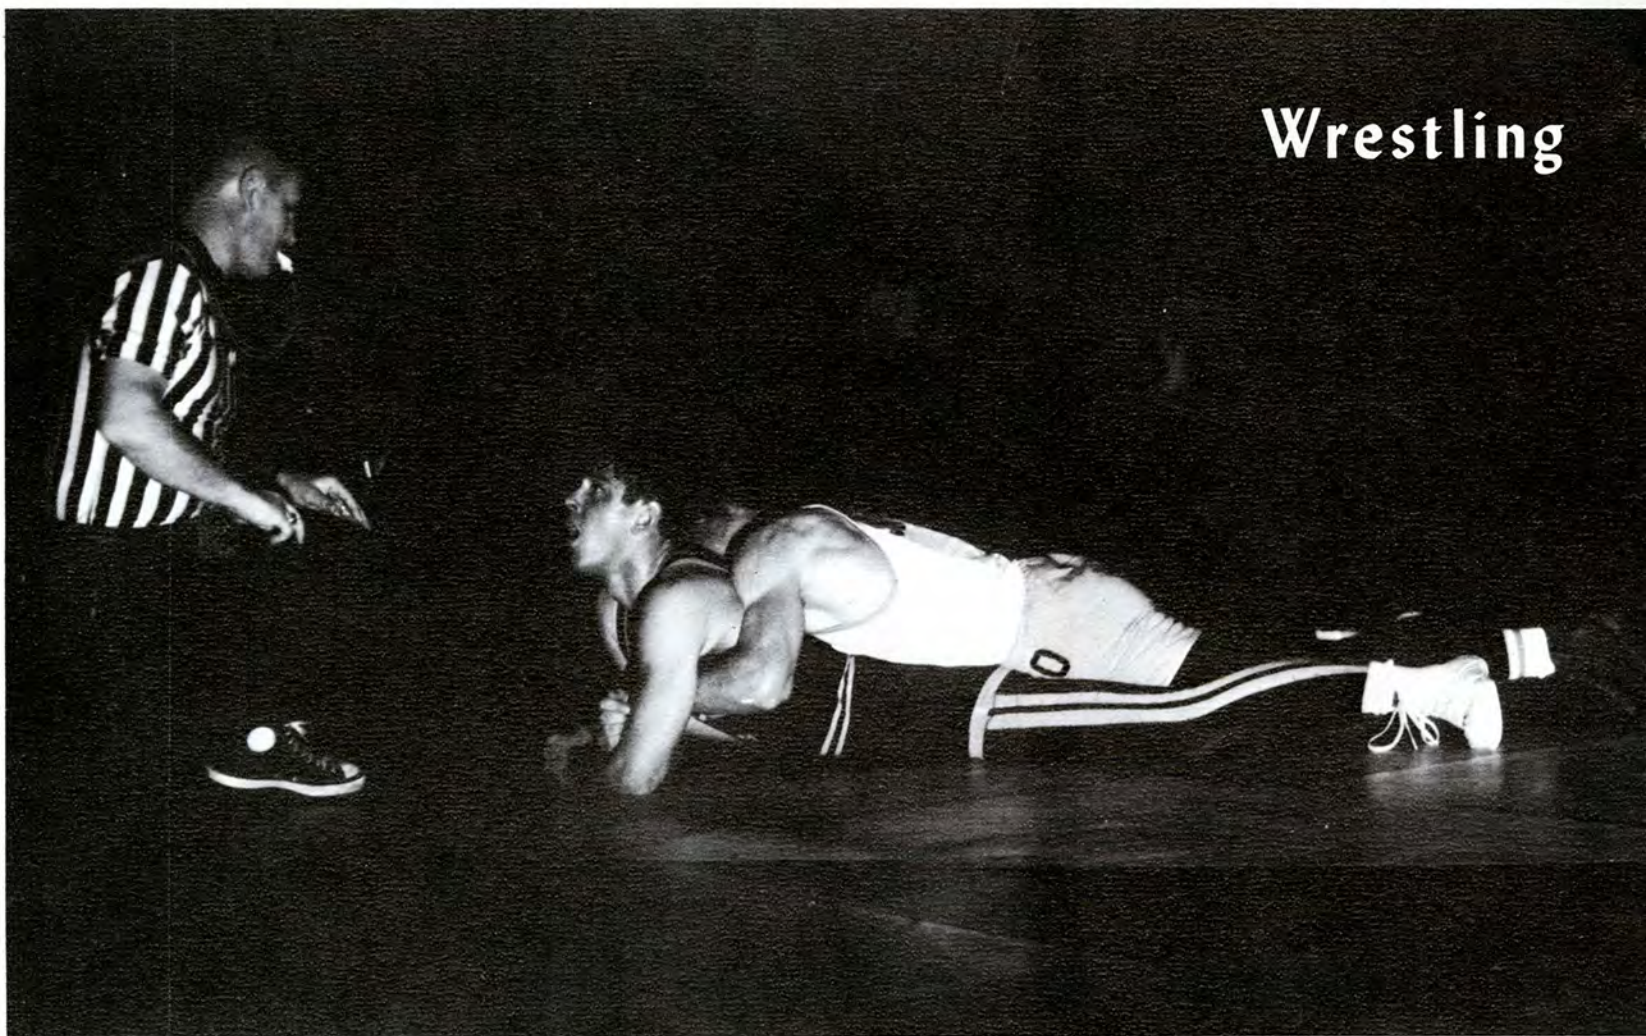

Surely someone will help me get up.

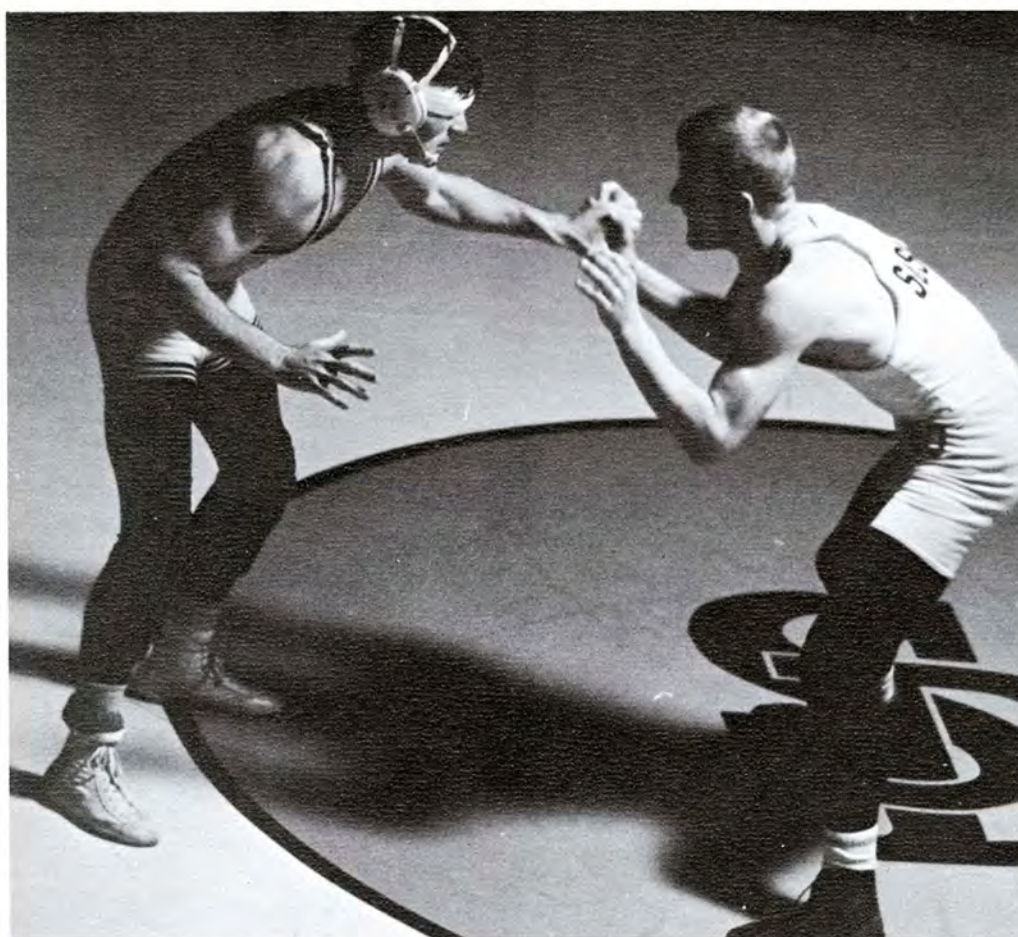

All I did was hit him once on the nose.

Wrestling

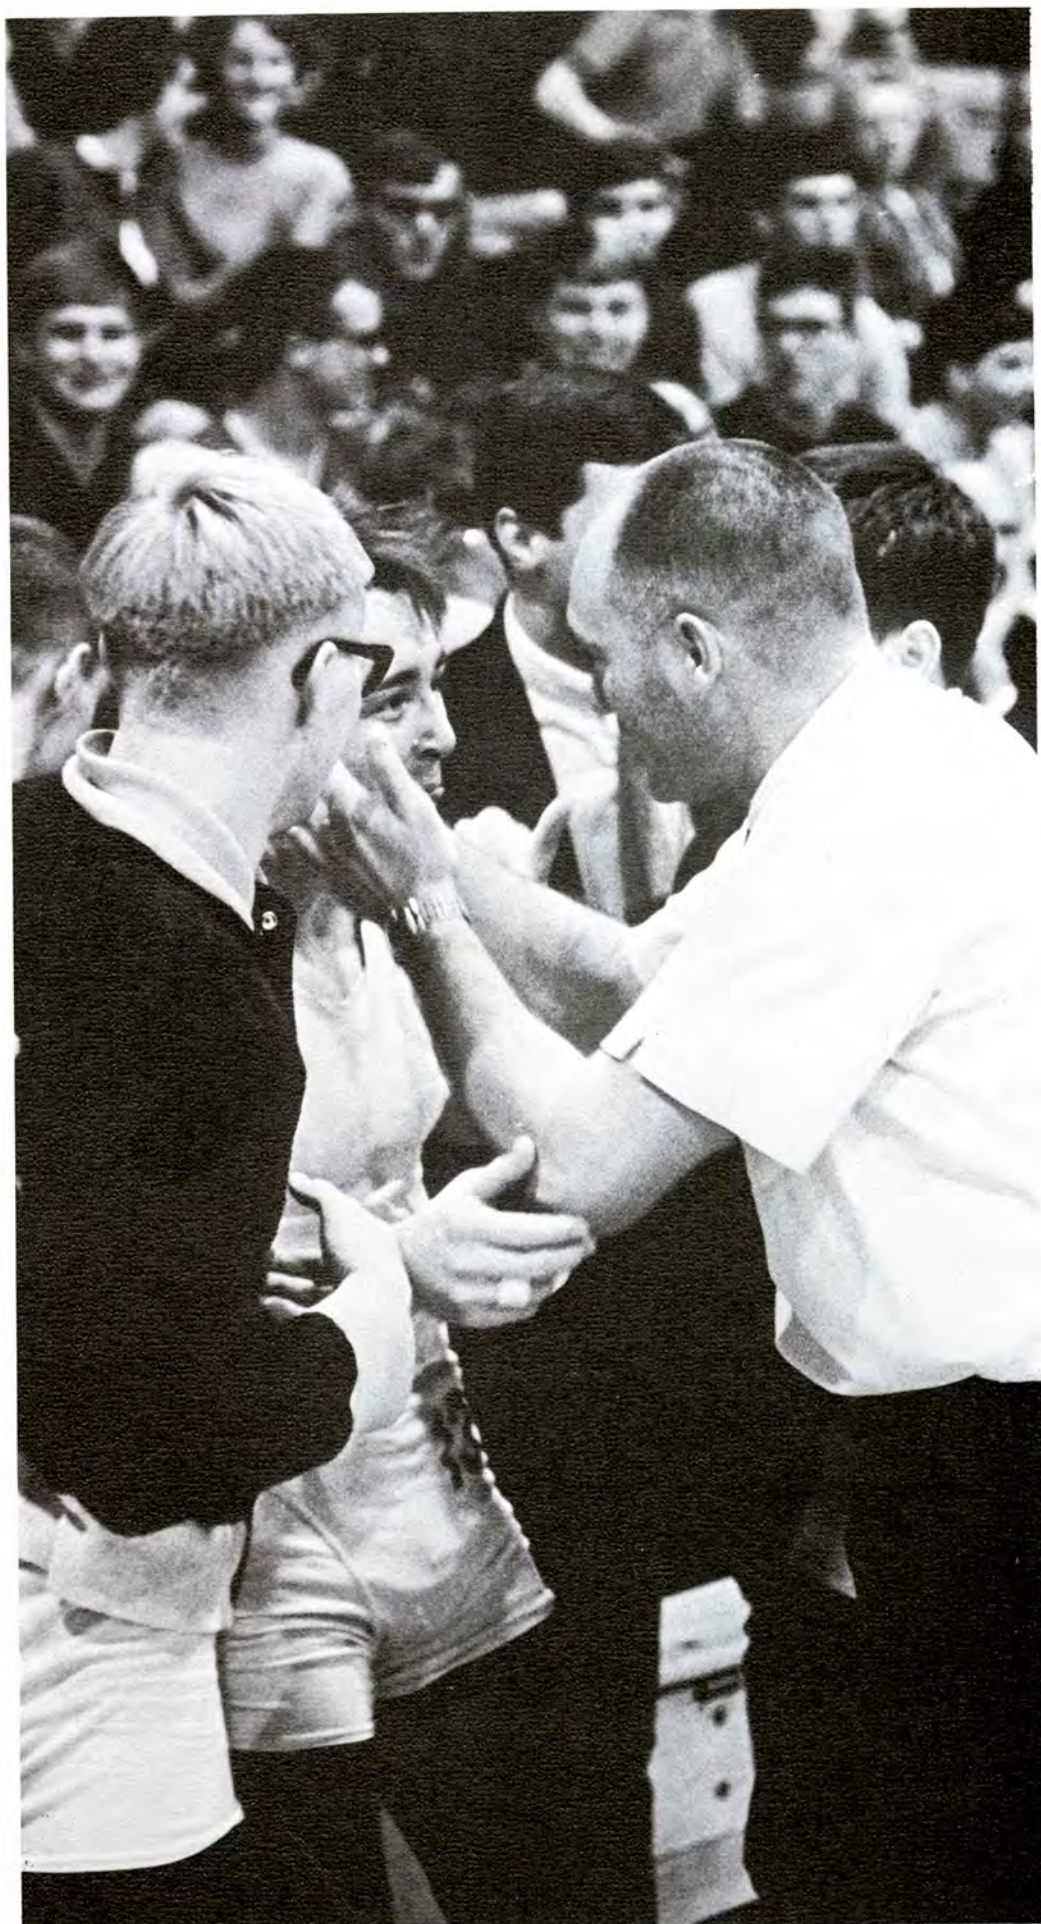

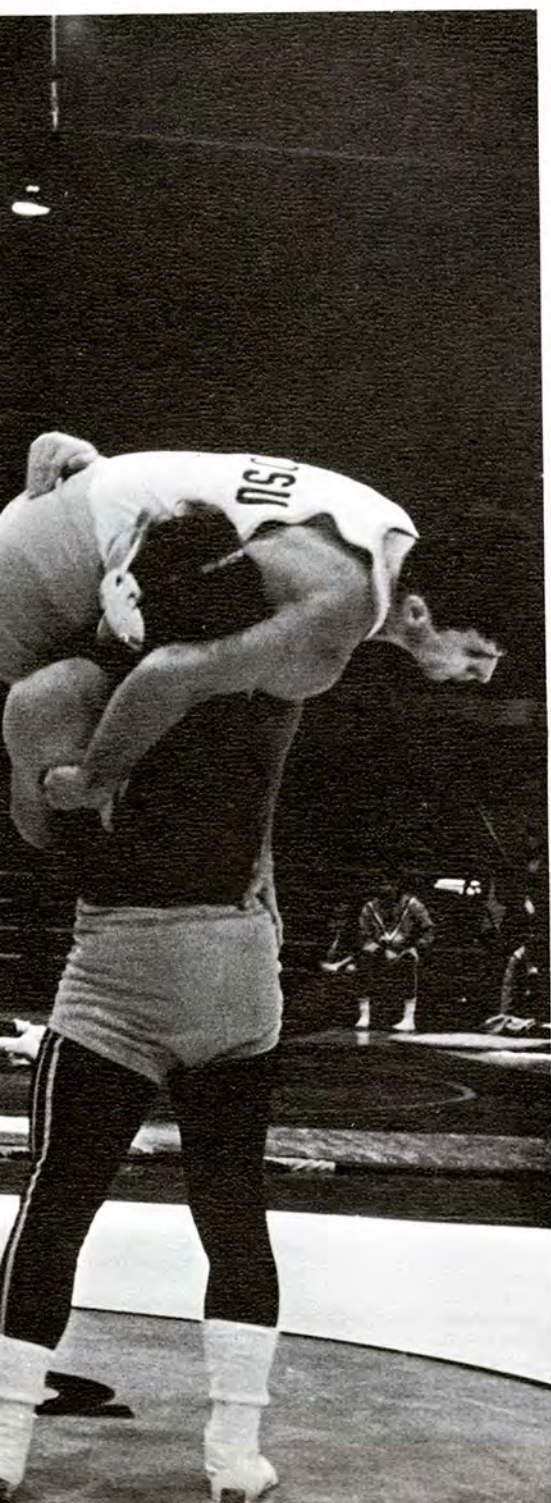

In wrestling, this was a year of misfortune. Ineligibility, torn knee cartilages, and shoulder separations; you name it, the Jacks surely had it sometime in the 1966-67 season. What the Jacks lacked in overall team strength and depth they made up for with fast, exciting action and some spectacular, individual performances. State's grapplers started out like they were going to set the world on fire by beating highly-touted Kansas State 15-12, taking the USD Invitational Wrestling crown with six first places and 85 points, and beating USD and NDSU before losing to the University of Minnesota in a triple dual. Jerry Smith at 130 was the only stopper at the lower weights while Paul Thomas (191), and prize sophomores Jim Koch (152) and John McNitt (177) were consistent winners in the middle and heavy weight classes in the early season.

Whatever, you do, don't you dare touch my ears.

Losses to major colleges Wyoming and Nebraska started the second half of the season which would see the luckless Jacks end up with a dual record of only 5-10. Casualties for State in this second half of the season were Stan Lambert with a knee injury, Jim Koch with a shoulder separation, and Phil Neu and Mike Kain being declared ineligible for the second semester. In spite of all this, State still managed to bomb Augie 41-0 with a record-setting six pins.

The NCC tourney was held in the "barn" with our grapplers taking a very respectable second place behind SCI. Smith, McNitt, and Dennis "Soup" Campbell (152) took NCC championships, with Thomas and Koch taking seconds. Thomas beat two-time NCC champ Dave Baade at 191 but lost in the finals.

You're the greatest.

McNitt and Smith gained national recognition for their aggressive wrestling by taking second and third respectively in the NCAA College Division Tournament with the Jacks taking eighth place. Probably the highlight of the season occurred when the dedicated and enthusiastic Jack Rabbit wrestling coach Warren Williamson was the first mat mentor in history to be named South Dakota College Coach of the Year. In short, this was the year of the injury, the closed books, a deserving recognition, outstanding performers (Smith 20-6-1; McNitt 20-5-2), lack of overall team strength and depth. With a little bit of luck for the Jacks, it was a year that could have been

Hey, I saw that. Now stop it.

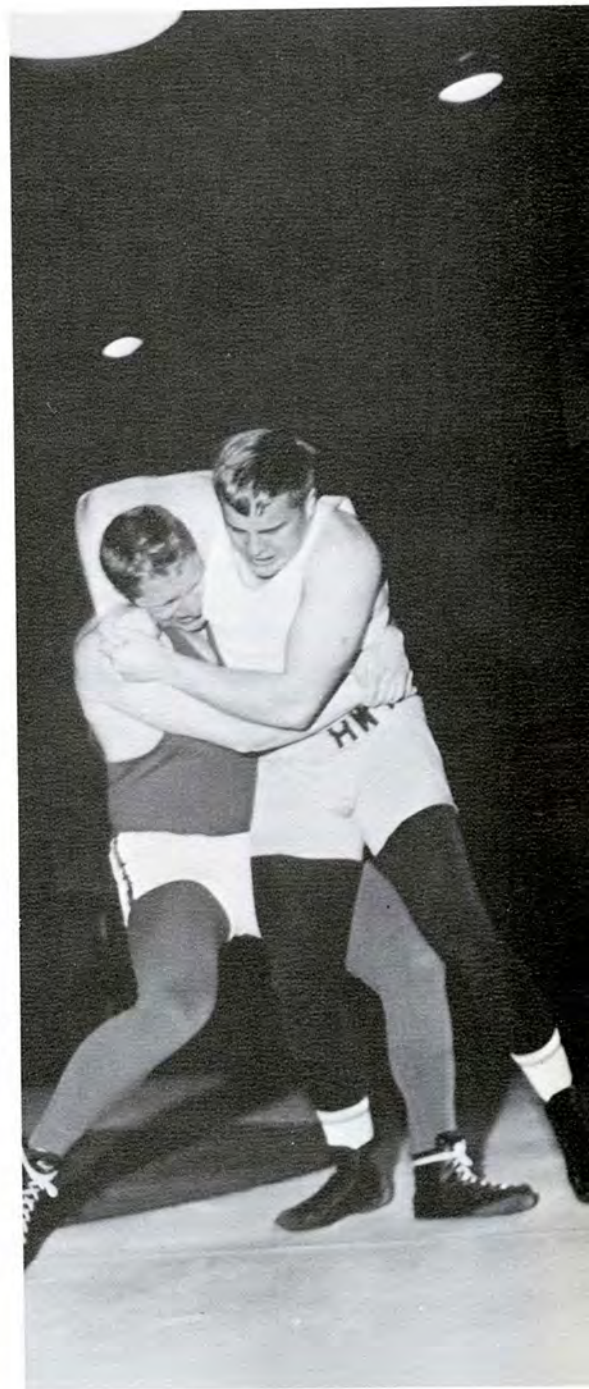

Now what are we supposed to do.

Will somebody please help me?

Track

For the Jack Rabbit cindermen, it was the year of the indoor, rather than the outdoor. Once again what State runners lacked in number they made up with sheer guts and determination. Training in their self-constructed indoor facilities in a 4-H building affectionately called "Dooley's Hippodrome," the Jacks prepared for their assault on the indoor track record book. At the Northwest Open, nine school records were broken and two were tied, with the most significant being freshman Monty Frazier's 6.0 second 60-yard dash. This was only 0.1 second off the world record. Three records were broken at the Meet of Champions and the Jacks finished their finest indoor season with a second place in the NCC, three points behind champion SCI.

Pant, puff, wheeze, gasp.

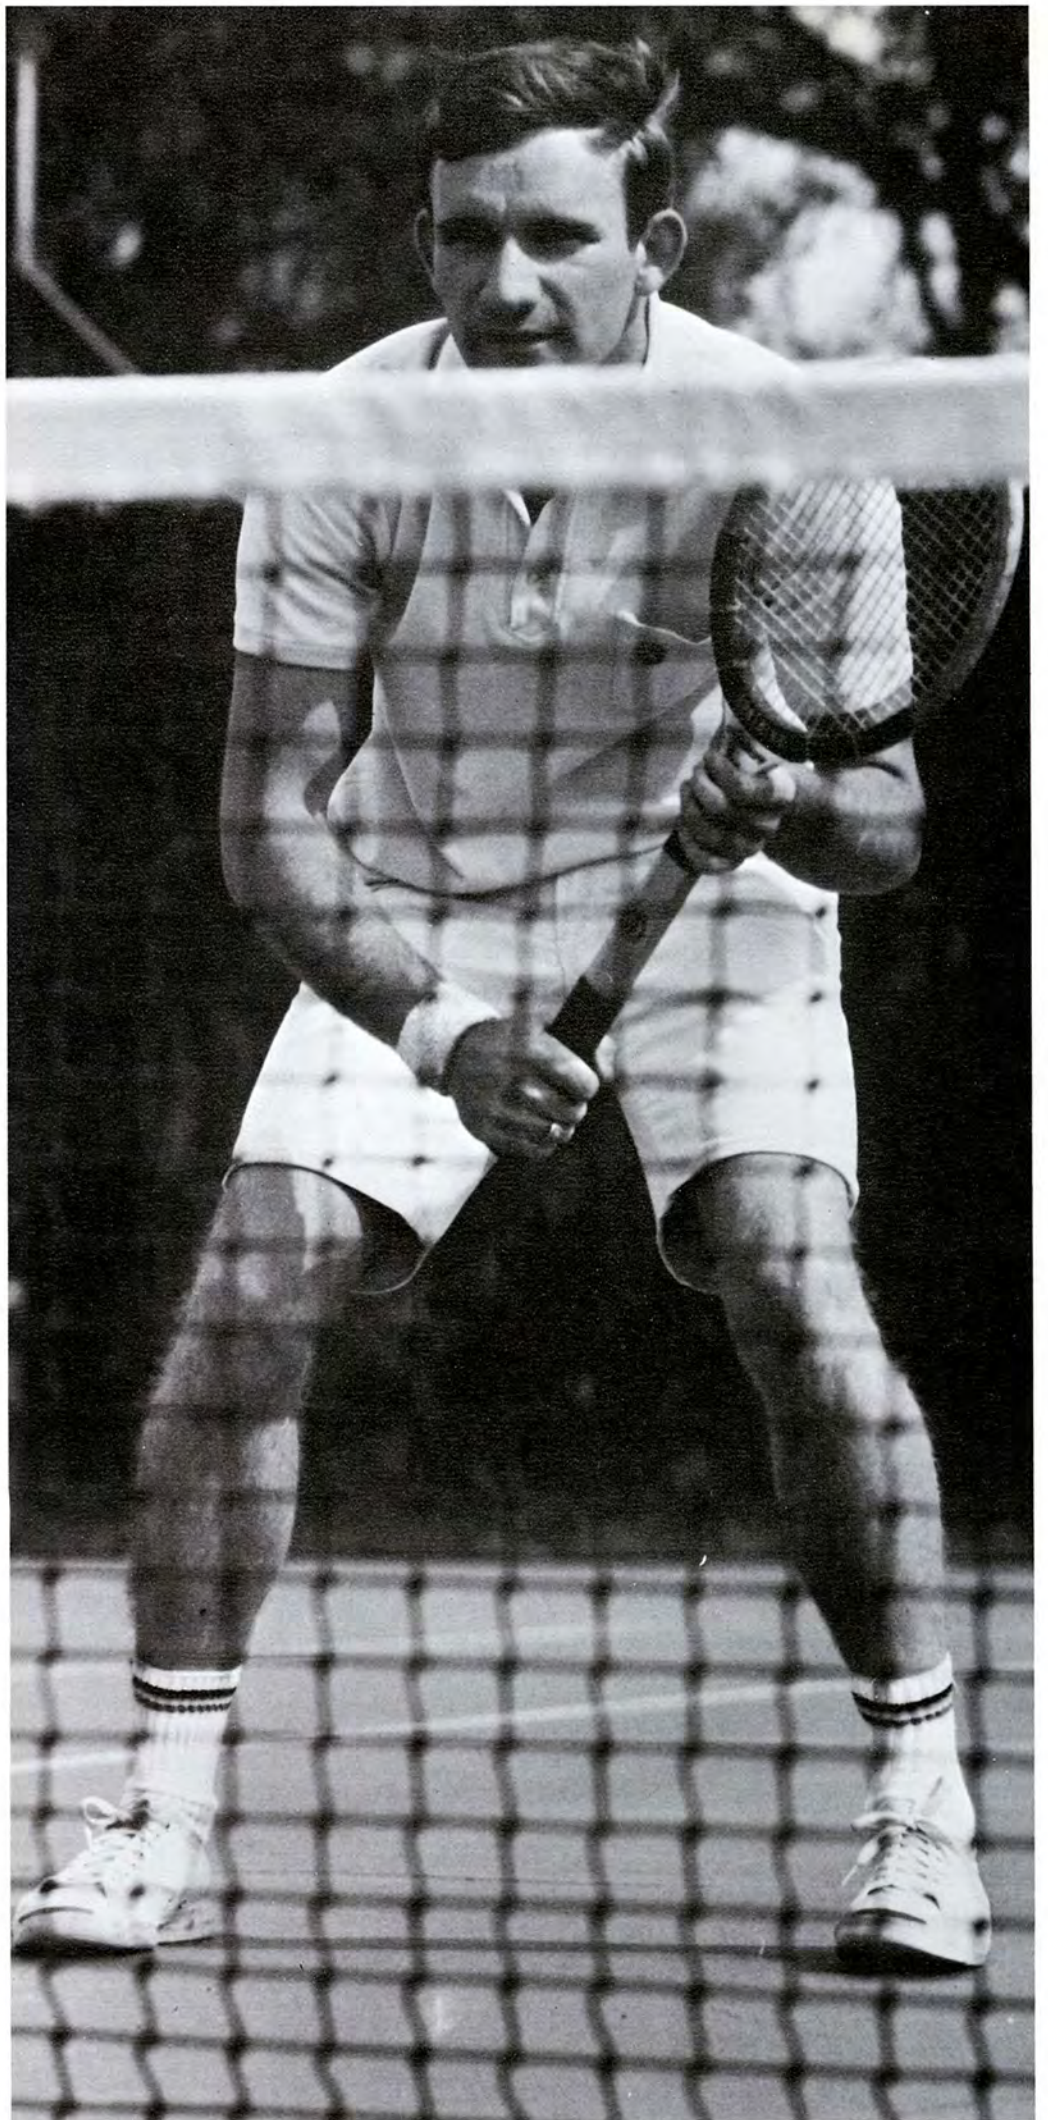

This bar wasn't up this high when I started.

Has anyone figured out what's going on out there?

The highlights of the outdoor season were a 10; 18.5 distance medley in the Drake Relays by Stoddard, Linnemann, Dirksen, and Bjerke; a 14'8" South Dakota Collegiate record pole vault by freshman Rick Moon; and a 1:52.2 880-yard run by Dean Bjerke for another all-time S. D. Collegiate record at the NCAA Midwest Regionals.

Performing well all year for the Jacks were Larry Stoddard in the broad and triple jumps, Jesse Sears in the sprints, Cliff Reuer and Dean Bjerke in the middle distances, Jay Dirksen in the distance running, and Gary Busch in the pole vault. It was a year of the Hippodrome, a Frazier, a Northern freeze-out, an Oakwood problem, a Moon, a Bjerke, some broken records, and a lot of promise for the future.

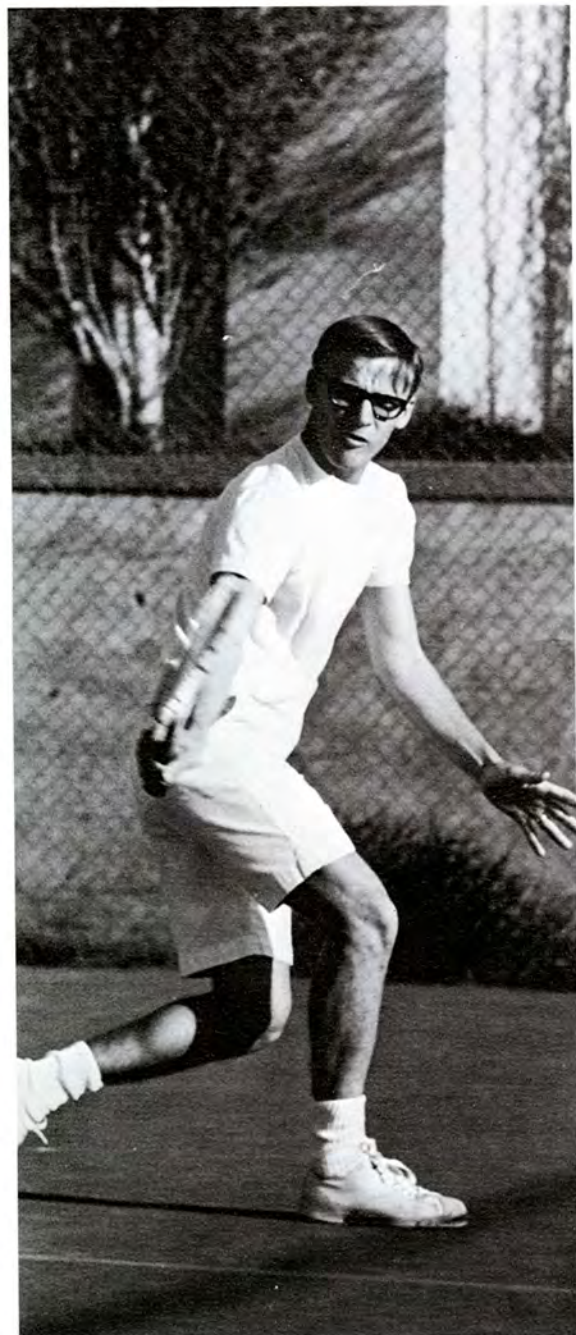

I'm ready for anything you can give me.

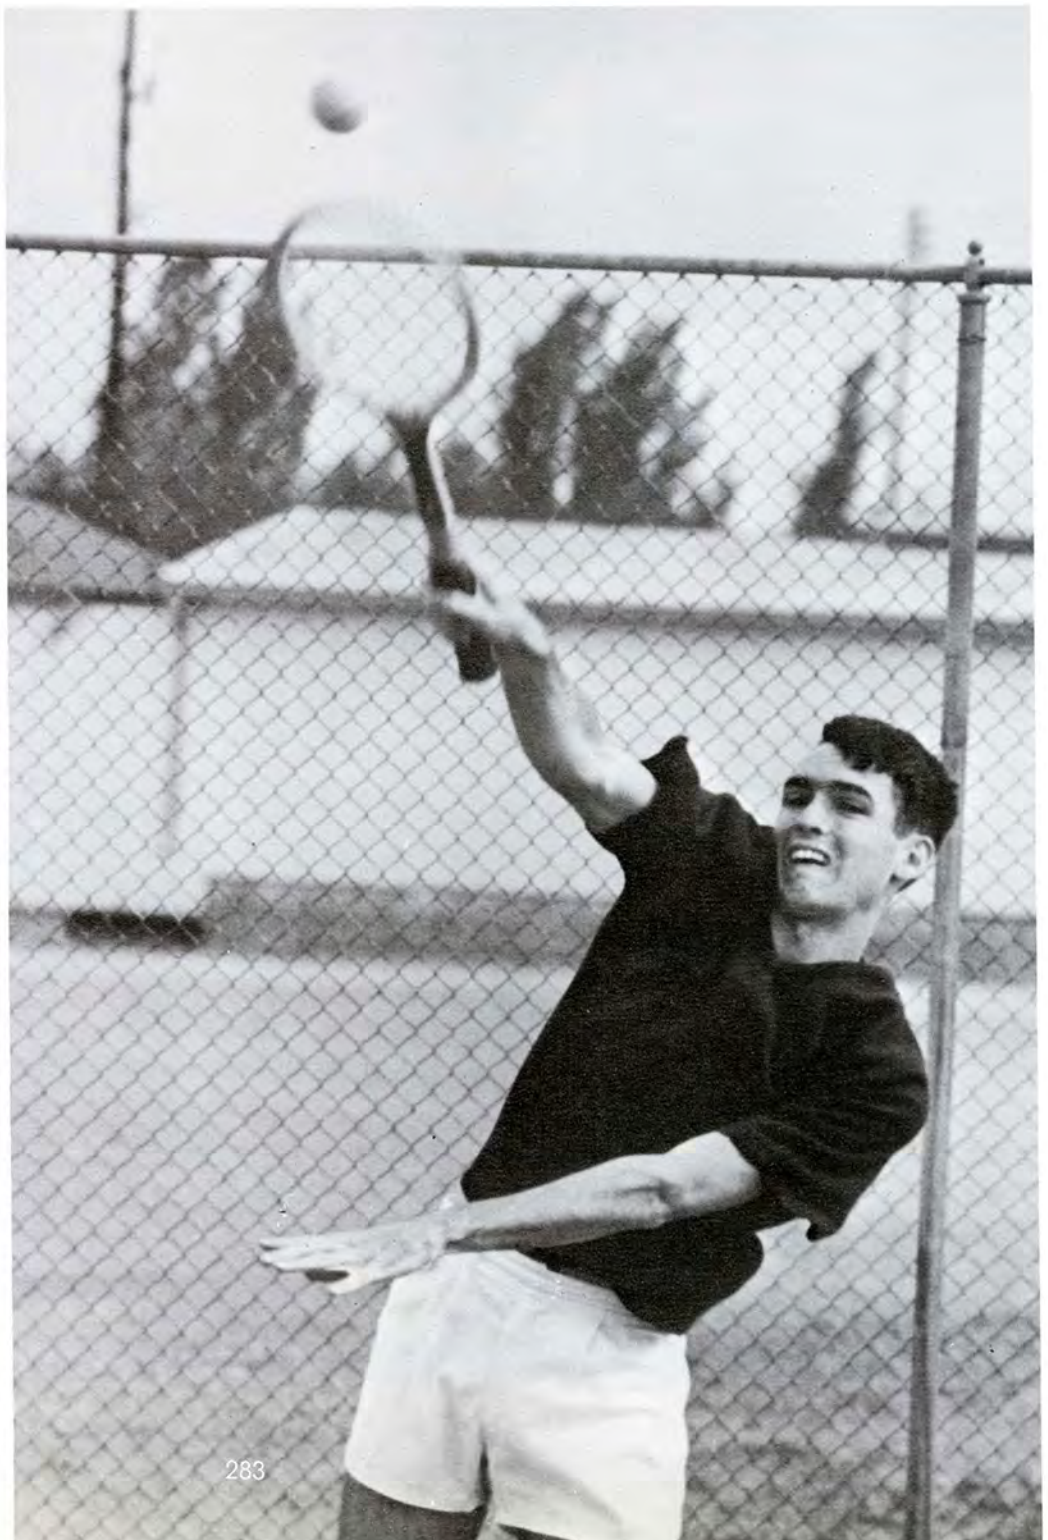

Tennis

Even before the cry of "Love-love, service No. 1," State netters this year ran into problems. The problems varied from the scholastic ineligibility of two lettermen to the 23-hour academic load of the No. 1 man, Jeff Clark, to the leg cramps caused by an ROTC problem (Operation Oakwood) to Terry Nielsen in a key match. The 8-1 loss to St. Cloud was blamed on too much practice and experience for the St. Cloud netters, while the 7-2 loss at Northern was blamed on the irregular pairings caused by Jeff Clark's not being able to make the trip. "Operation Oakwood," a vastly-criticized event by the athletic department, was blamed for the 5-4 loss to Northern on the State courts. But in spite of the cause and effects relationships cited, the netters posted a 2-4 dual record and obtained a fourth place in the NCC Tournament. Number one man, Jeff Clark, reached the semifinals in the tournament, as well as providing the Jacks with an almost sure victory whenever he played. Jerry Mettler and Jim Triggs played steady tennis all season long while junior Terry Nielson made tremendous improvements. In all it was a year of too many problems, too many double-faults, not enough Jeff Clarks.

Hold your hand like this, and your mouth like this.

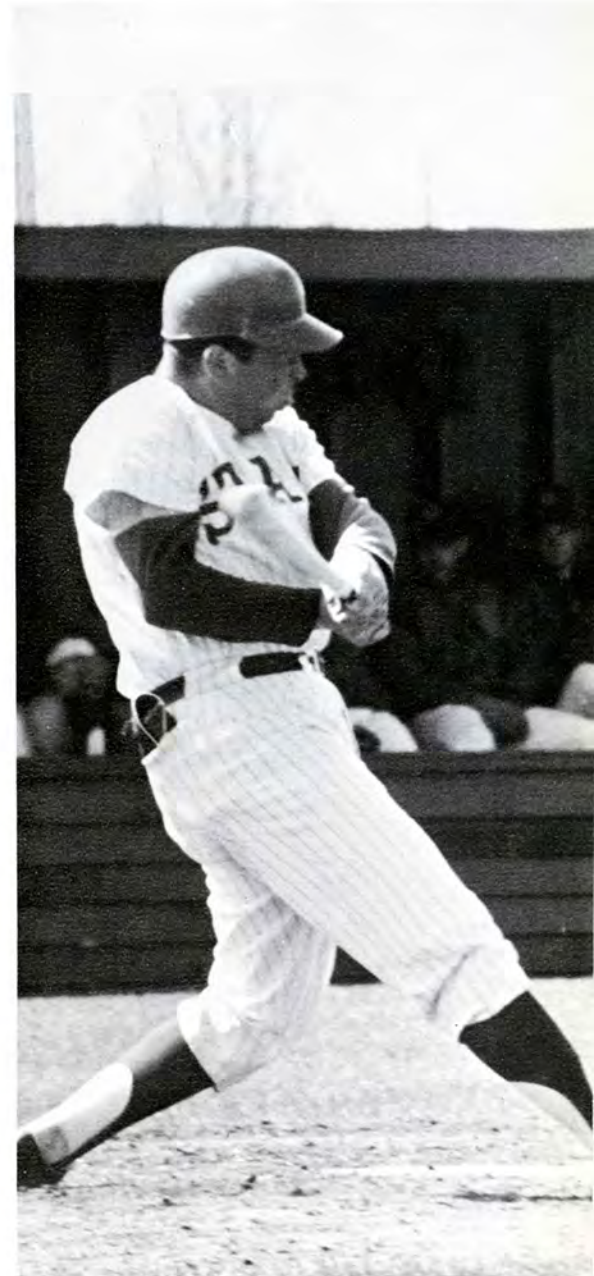

Baseball

Will he or won't he?

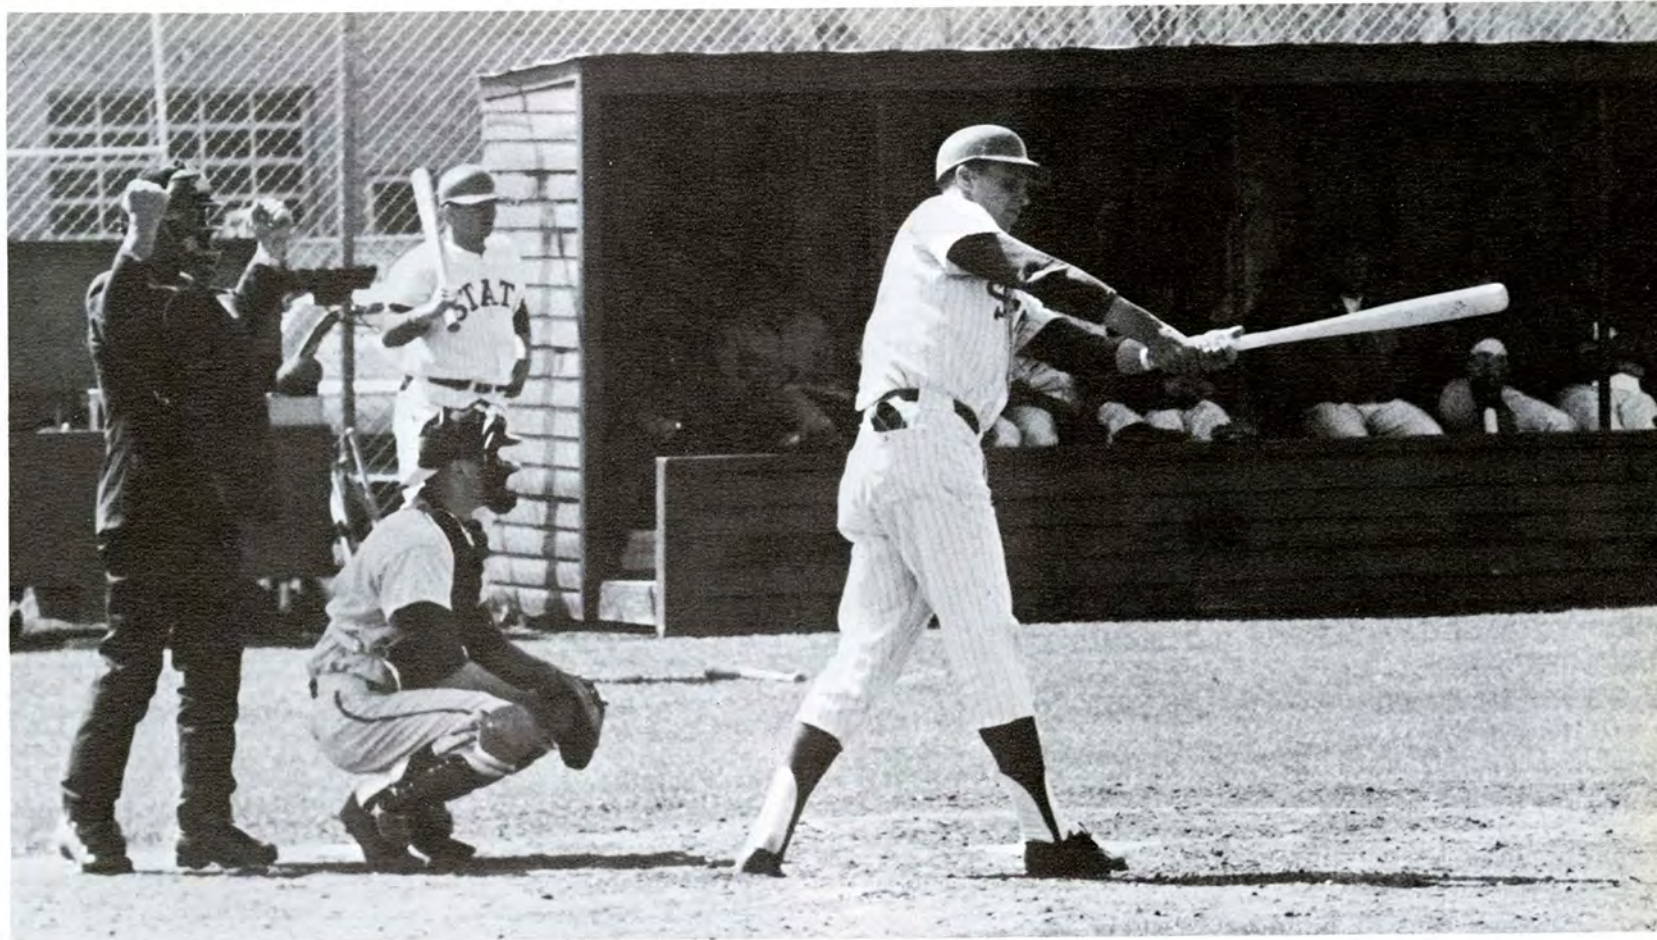

When the sound of "Play ball" rings through the air for the first time on a sunny, crisp, spring day, in the southern US, State's baseball team encounters a new experience, playing out of doors. Severe weather has often forced the Jacks to practice in-doors till their first game of their southern tour. Because the southern teams have had more practice and twenty or thirty games under their belts before they meet the Jacks, the opposition usually makes minced meat out of our ball team. This year was no exception as New Mexico University and Albuquerque allowed State to escape with a 2-6 record.

On this southern trip, State was hit hard by the opposition, a sandstorm, and everything but Lady Luck as the ineligibility of two New Mexico players caused the reversal of State's record to 7-1. Upon returning, Coach Heuther commented that this was to be a "rebuilding" year. The defense of the Jack's NCC crown was opened at home against Morningside who promptly took two of three from the Jacks because of "over-confidence by us and strong pitching by the Chiefs." The Jacks raked NDSU over the coals in sweeping a three game series and garnering 25 hits. But the on-again, off-again pitching staff was off in a double-header loss to Omaha University and in a series sweep by UND. Sandwiched in-between was a 2-1 series verdict over always-tough SCI. After the triple loss to UND, State's hitters and pitchers perked up and swept two games from USD and three games from Augie. The victories against Augie knocked the Vikings out of first and vaulted the Jack Rabbits into second place in the final NCC standings with an 11-6 mark.

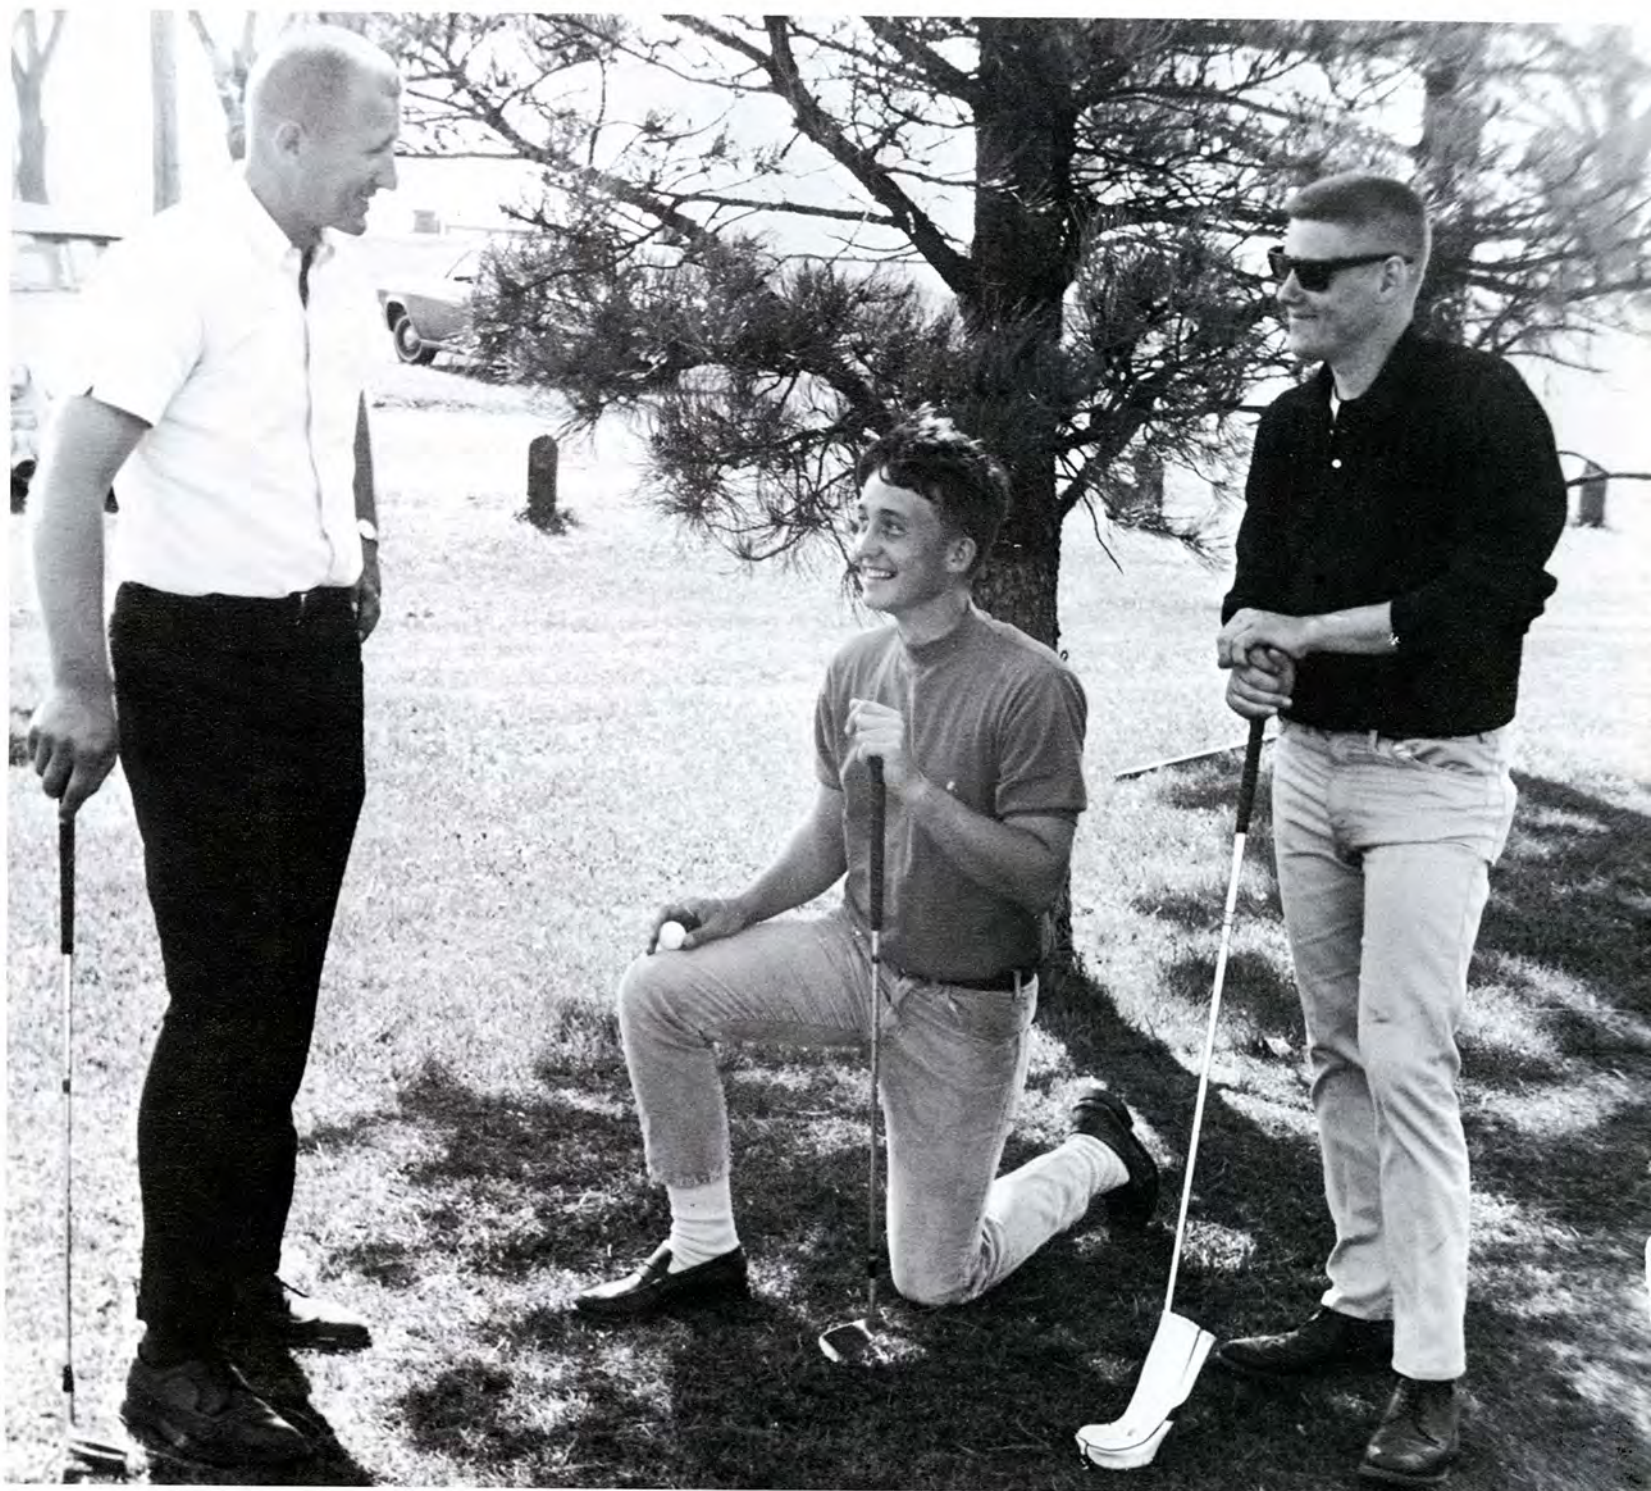

Can't you two settle your differences somewhere else?

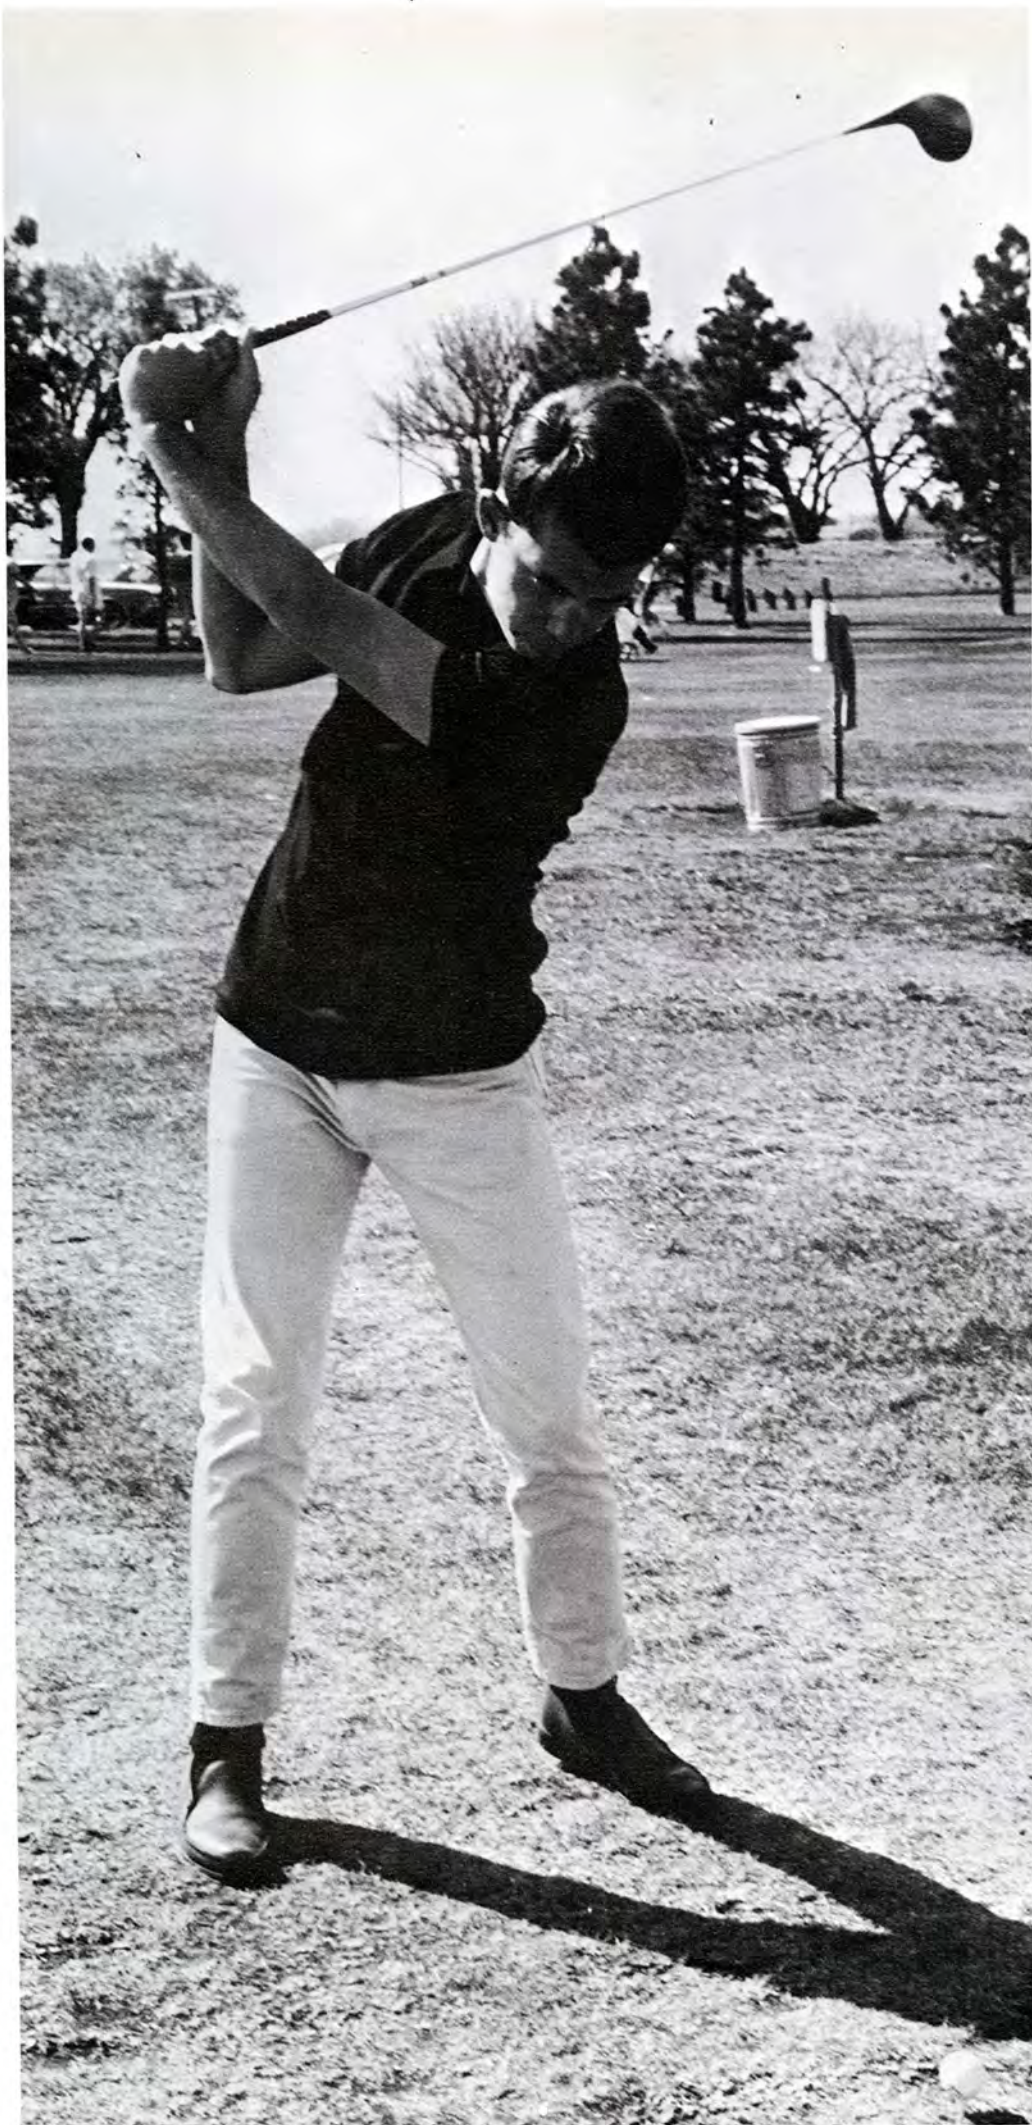

Relax, I've got it.

Because of their all-around excellent play, outfielder Owen Hillberg, second baseman Clem Brasket, and pitcher Ron Hofmeister were selected to the All-NCC team. Brasket finished with a .427 batting average and Hofmeister had a 4-1 pitching record in the NCC. Others who played excellent ball throughout the year were Mike Buss, Mike Kelley, Bob Bozeid, Tom Anderson, Gary Pfeiffer, and Gary Quednow. For the Jacks it could have been a third straight NCC title except for the UND series where they did play as if it were a "rebuilding year." It is rumored that Coach Heuther has already started a psychological campaign for next year of, "Remember the Sioux." So take heed UND, you've been given fair warning.

Golf

On a given spring or early summer day, upwards of 30,000 people watch Arnold Palmer, Jack Nickolas, Billy Caspar, and Gary Player hit 300-yard drives, make fantastic approach shots, and one-putt countless greens striving for the first prize in the $100,000 plus tournaments. For golfers at State, the competition is just as keen even though the rewards are not so high. Linksters at State started out by beating Wayne State 15-0 but losing to USD, 9 1/2-5 1/2.

Forel

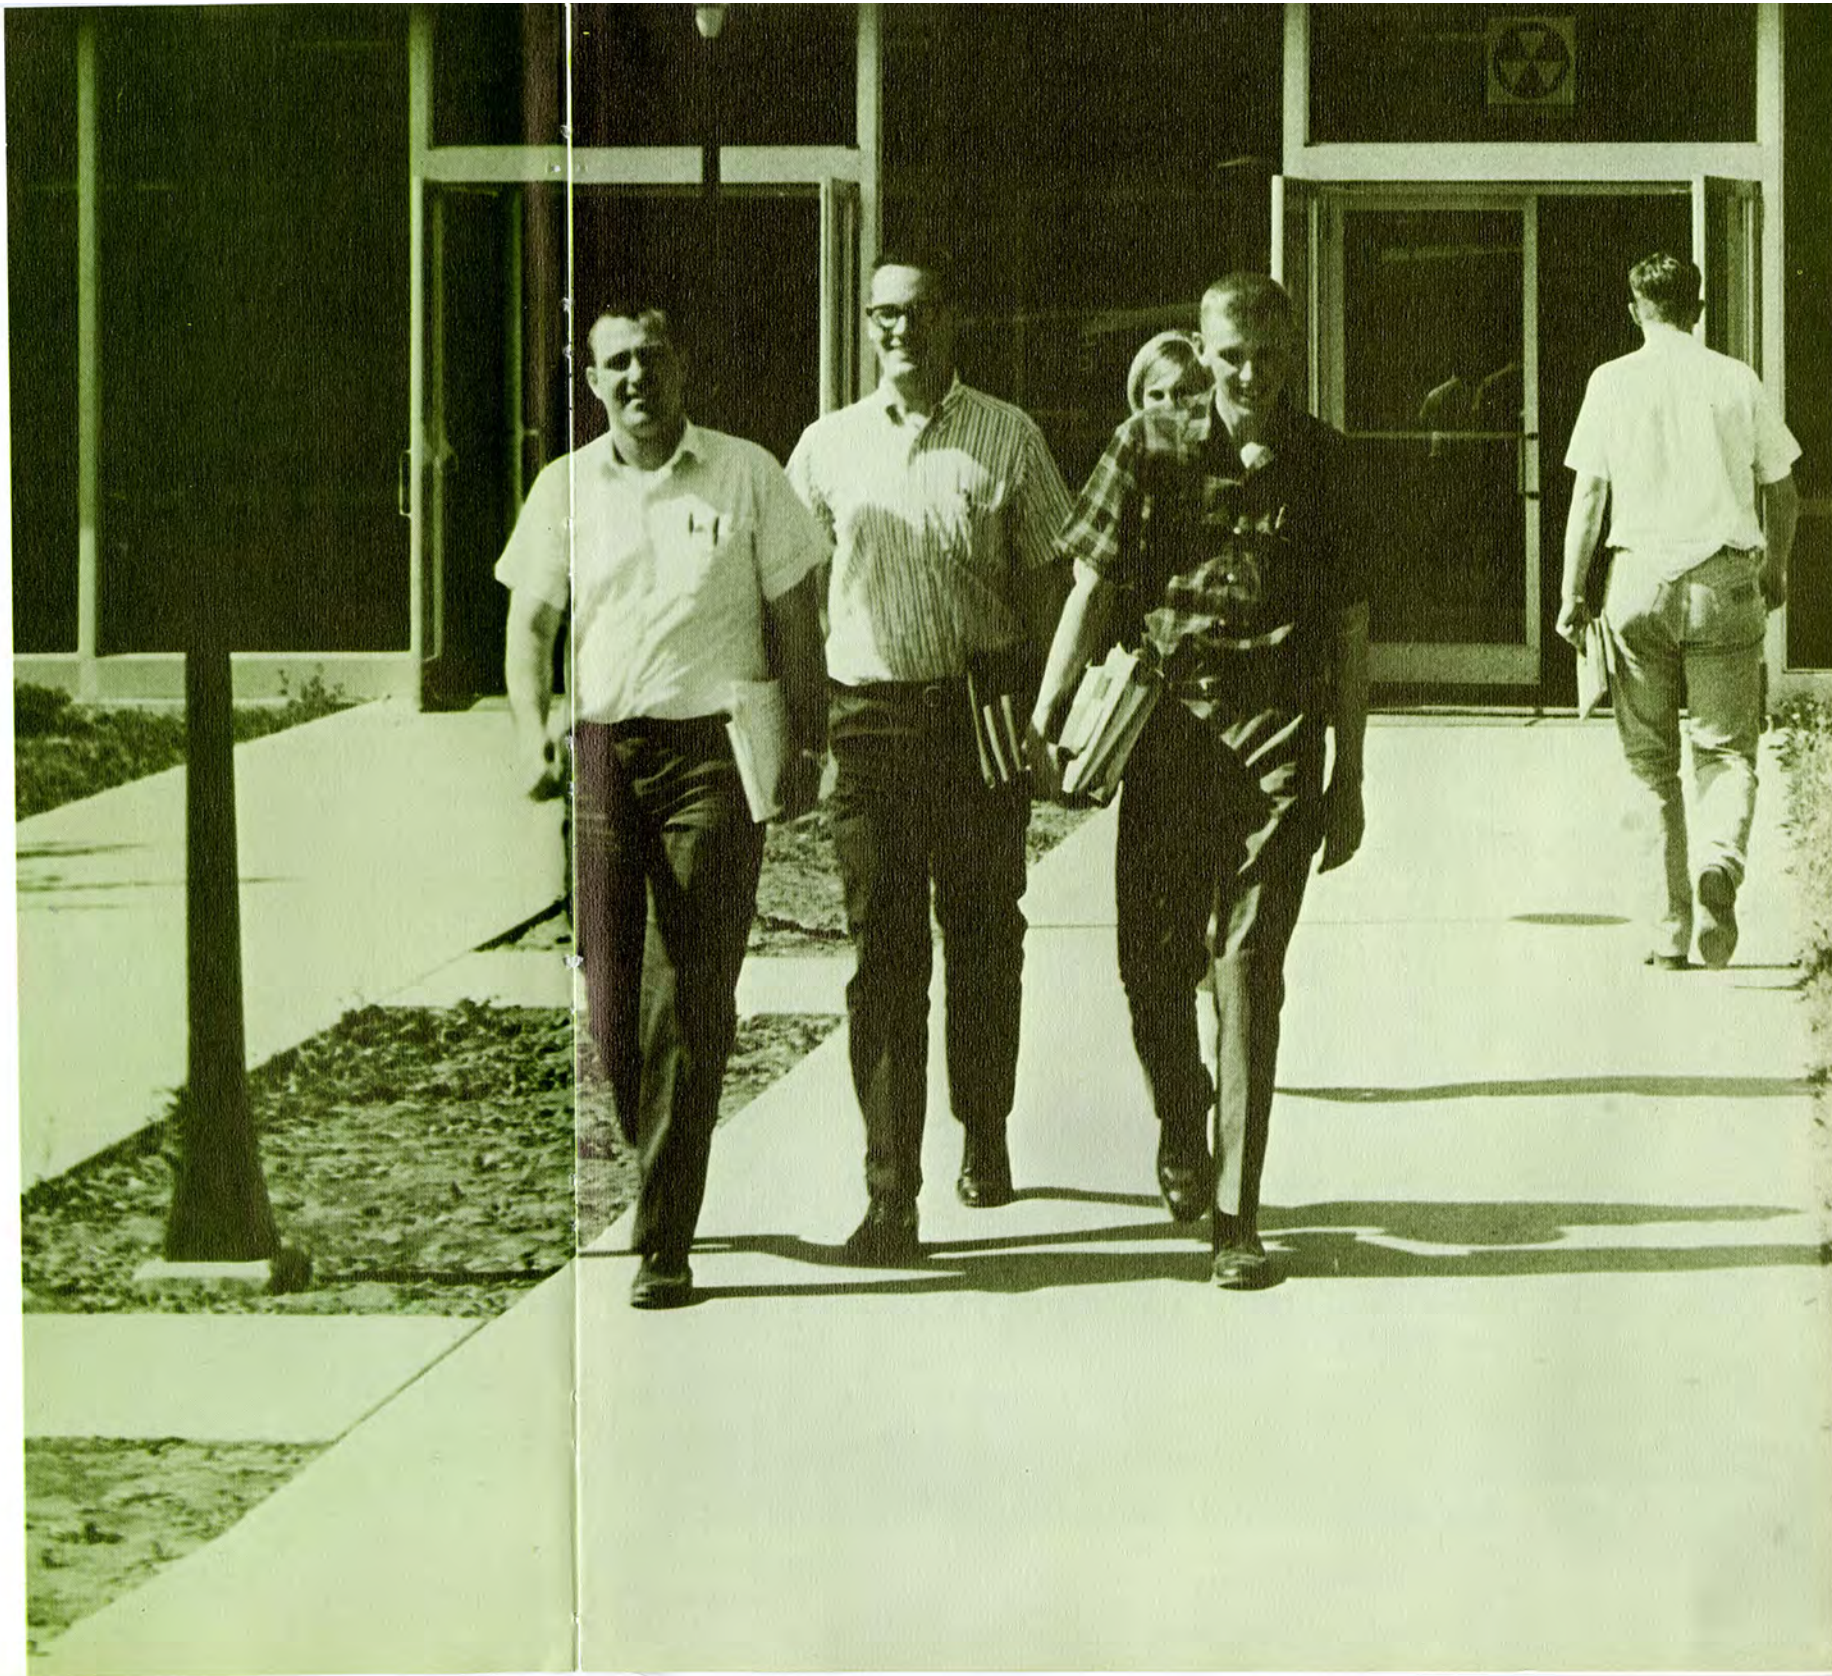

Dave Nelson was medalist for the triangular meet with a 79, with the other Jack scorers being Bristow, 84, Menke, 89, Sorensen, 90, and Lyons 91. State had to settle for a 7 1/2-7 1/2 tie with Augustana with Bristow shooting an 84, Menke, 88, Lyons 86, with Nelson skidding to 91, and Sorensen with a 94.

Throughout the remainder of the year Bob Bristow battled Fellow Sioux Fallian George Menke for the low scoring honors for the State linksters.

That's right, go straight into the cup.

Classes

Who's Who

Thirty-five State University seniors were named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

Students are nominated on the basis of scholarship, leadership and citizenship. Nominations are submitted by the college deans on a quota basis, and the final selections are made by a committee of faculty members and students.

In Retrospect...

This is the end. Another year, another yearbook. It has been a long nine months with some good times and some trying times. Now that it is all over, I am ready to lock the door on Room 209 and say goodbye to the place where I spent some of the most exciting and, at times, most hectic years of my life.

It would not have been possible to finish this book on time without the help of all the people who worked on it after final exams were over. The people at the left were the core. The entire staff (with one exception) worked hard all year long and their contributions made the book what it is. Special thanks goes to Uldis Birznies, for writing the sports copy, and to the people who ended up writing the majority of the captions and other copy. These people were Dorette Anderson, Diane Rude, Judy Frie, Linda Mason, and Caryl Thomas. Recognition must also go to Sue Brownson for designing the cover and the lettering on the divisional pages. I will never forget the fine assistance and service I received from Henington Publishing and Kingsport Press. Special thanks must also go to Jeanette Abbey for doing such a good job in taking the student pictures this year.

There have been some changes in the 1967 Jack Rabbit. A number of sections have been combined, more color has been included, and a sans-serif type face was used. The layout was a basic three column format.

We have tried our hardest and we hope that we have succeeded in presenting a book that will be remembered.

Jim Lueneburg
