Haakon County Population Highlights

- From 1990 to 2000, Haakon County lost 428 residents which was a 16.3 decrease in its total population. In the state of South Dakota, only Harding County lost a greater portion of its total population.
- From 1990 to 2000, Haakon County lost 496 residents to out-migration which was an 18.9% decrease in its total population
- From the population pyramid we can tell that many of the out-migrants are aged 20-34.
- 18.04% of Haakon County's population is aged 65+.
- Haakon County's sex ratio is 96.60, which means that there are about 97 males for every 100 females. This sex ratio is lower than both Jackson and Jones counties. This may be explained because Haakon County is an older county and females generally out-live males.
- Haakon County's fertility rate is 45.0 births for every 1,000 females aged 15-44. This is the lowest fertility rate in the West River which may explain why Haakon County has lost such a high proportion of its population.
- Haakon County's median age is 41.3. This is much older than Jackson, but very similar to Jones.
