mediately appointed a committee to revise the constitution. Provision for better equalization of awards was the result.

Recently it was presented to the board and passed. It was then voted upon by the students association

Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett to be Guests of Honor

Chancellor and Mrs. E. A. Burnett of the University of Nebraska will be guests of honor February 21
when South Dakota State college celebrates its tricentennial and its founding. When State college was in its comparative youth Dr. Burnett and his wife were members of the faculty at South Dakota State college from 1868 to 1899. Mrs. Burnett was the first woman to teach in the State. She was instructor in English, history and language, and preceptor of the girls.

Mr. Burnett served as a member of the faculty until the close of the school year of 1899-1900. At that time he said it would not be possible to return to South Dakota State College, and a group of students were left to speak on "The Land Grant College Movement" at the semi-coloenium program Friday morning, February 19, and take part in other programs for the benefit of the college which continues from February 17 to 21.

Chancellor E. Burnett of the University of Nebraska will be guest of honor at a tricentennial celebration February 21, 1931.

STATE COLLEGE CELEBRATES 300TH ANNIVERSARY

February 21 will be a memorable day for South Dakota State college. Forty years ago the Dakota Territory was organized, marking its founding, and on this date in 1899 the college was established. The college will be revieowed and honored.

Upon occasion Chancellor E. Burnett of the University of Nebraska will be the guest of honor. Chancellor Burnett was professor of agriculture at State college from 1890 to 1899. Recently he was named a member of the Saddle and Sirloin club at a meeting in Chicago. South Dakota became a state, the fourteenth assembly of the Dakota Territory meeting at Yankton, passed an act Feb. 21, 1861 establishing an agricultural college. The present site of South Dakota State College includes the city furnished eighty acres of land for a farm. Popular subscription of $50 per year. The farm, and on the edge of the town but within the corporate limits was purchased, and the college moved to this site, a farm, February 10, 1899.

The 15th college, or Dakota Agriiculture college as it was originally called, was established as a Land Grant college under authority of the Morrill act, passed by congress July 2, 1862, which provided for a state college for each representative in congress.

This land was to be used toward establishing a college of agriculture and mechanic arts. Establishment of the Morrill act says college has always given first importance to agriculture and mechic arts.

By floating a $25,000 bond issue, South Dakota College voted by the territorial assembly of 1883 for the establishment of an Agricultural College.

The dormitories, with the small brick structure intended to be the side wing of a pretentious building, were completed and occupied in Sept. 24, 1884 when school opened.

Dr. George Lilley, chosen by the board as the first president of State college, advanced 5000 of his own salary of $1,500 to furnish three class rooms, since

The exhibit is expected to depict the work done by the different departments, so that high school students may be helped to plan their future work. The exhibit will also bring out the significance of the vocational guidance offered by the college. Finally, the de-

MEN OF COURAGE

By Koehnderer

February though having only twenty-eight days is honored by hallowed memories of those who most loved and greatest of Americans; George Washington and Abraham Lincoln.

Their lives have been the subject for many a book and story, yet more will still be written, for their fame never dies.

When people talk of these two, how do they usually frequently answer: "Why were they great and what did they do to attain their enviable positions?"

Let us consider Washington first. When your young man distinguished himself by his great courage in the French and Indian war. Later why he became commander-in-chief of the American army, his courage was revealed many times in the little fields of the Revolutionary war. When an inefficient congress did not provide money or provisions he did not lose courage but kept on till the great war was finished.

He not only had physical courage, but moral courage as well, courage to face the trials and tribulations that beset a public hero. When the war was over he still showed his courage to live a simple mule drinking life instead of wasting his time and money in the arts and sciences.

Abraham Lincoln, though not the father of his country, had as much if not more as the preserver of his country.

Ab Lincoln or Honest Abe as he is often called was a man of courage, though of a different type than that of Washington.

Lincoln had very little chance to go to school yet he had the courage to leave the small farm to go to an education in spite of his lack of scholarship. He risked his life to get the light of the fire. He walked several miles to secure books to read.

He had the courage not to drink liquor or take part in questionable pastimes, for as a boy he was a leader in his community. He had the courage to be absolutely honest at all times regardless of the hardship or inconvenience it caused him.

When Lincoln became a lawyer he refused to take a case if he thought his client was in the wrong, the and would even drop a case in the courtroom if he became convinced that his client was guilty.

When this brave man became President of the United States he had the courage to do many things that his predecessors did not dare do. He freed the slaves, because he believed man was created free and equal. He had the courage to go to his enemies if at times, yet he never hesitated to do so, he stood on the best course to follow.

In these days of modern corruption, the men with the hardnoses these brave men did, however, if we would make a mark capable of accomplishing much, we must do so.

To the heroes who have stood on the ramparts of our land, we do our duty to honor them in this way.

Boxing Instruction

Given by Sgt. Schultz

On January twenty first the Aggie boxing class charged onto the floor with a standard uniform under the instruction of Sergeant Shultz. At the present there are about thirty-five students coming regularly. The class is held in the Armory at six o'clock every morning, all weather permitting.

At first instructions were given only two nights a week, and rules and regulations were made. After this exercise, which usually lasts about five minutes, the members of the class run around the armory seven or eight times at times before they are allowed to spar.

In sparring they are not allowed to hit hard, but are required to put the man that they are shown by Sergeant Shultz.

This probably accounts for the fact that there are no black eyes or broken limbs thus far.

Graduates of State college number 8,067 scattered throughout the world. Although this statistic is small, the Stokes type of service as a teacher at State extends from 1890, knows no bounds. A recent graduate, H. C. Solberg, professional students of medicine, has received his degree at State equally as long.

Former Aggie Writes Students from Hawaii

Schofield Barracks, Honolulu. July 2, 1931. Dear Aggie:

Dada Scarcroft requested me to write a letter for the Aggie News about his trip to Hawaii and the Army—here it is.

On the morning of September 29, 1934, I went to Honolulu to join the Army. That same night I learned that the ship that carried me to Hawaii, the Pal (pronounced Pala) was to dock the following day. We went on the Portland and the Pal (we docked Pala) touched the following day.

We drove from the sea to the shore. We saw the most beautiful surf in the world, came to Hawaii. It's a west coast country. It was impossible to describe the beaches as we came in leaving behind, then shooting high into the air as it fell. We were there, and we're sure we saw many and turned to the road in all my life. That side was nearly straight up and down so the road had to twist and turn.

Under his administration state college equipment was only about nine hundred dollars. There were many interesting places too num- merous to mention. We passed about five miles west of here by the name of Kula. Hula Pani. I walked over there on one day and climbed a mountain about fifteen hundred feet above the place. That was a day's work but it was worth it.

Well, if you Aggies ever want to come here don't let me know, and quit school to do it, finish school first. It's worth the three years in the Army to see the Islands.

I may come back and finish school myself after I get out of here. I would be glad to hear from old friends and make new ones.

Your Aggie friend,

Floyd F. Palmen.

Judging Teams go To Crookston, Minn.

Roundtable college at Fargo. This was merely perfect work and was arranged through the courtesy of the college.

The livestock team did most of their judging in the large show building at Crookston which housed most of the livestock.

The Grain judging team, which consisted of Francis Teller, Ar- rington; Floyd Peter, Gonde, and Donald Hurst, Deupes and accompanied by Franke and Robert Tiddall, Isaac, joined the livestock judging team at Trappe, N. D. and from there went to Crookston together.

Both teams did judging work at the Northwest Minnesota School of Agriculture, a few miles north of Crookston.

Debate Club Held Election of Officers at Meeting Jan. 28

The debate club held its regular meeting January 28th at 7 p.m. The regular election of officers was held. The following were elected: Jack Moore, president; Glenn Silvers, vice president; Maxine Klint, secretary; Grace Laas, treasurer; and Leonard Bonheur, sergeant-at-arms. A report of the committee arranging for the Debate club social was given. No definite date was set for this annual social affair.

Next on the program was the debate: "Resolved that Power Machinery is more Profitable than Horse-Drawn Machinery." Eugene Kimball and Rufus Thomsen upheld the affirmative and Everett Fennewald and Jack Moore, the negative.

This was a non-decision debate. The critic's report was given by Mr. Eddy. Mr. Eddy also gave the over hundred twelve feet and away to sea. We went down on the other side of the Pal I never saw so many waves and turns in a road in all my life. That side was nearly straight up and down so the road had to twist and turn.
