Editorial Policy Statement

The Great Plains Sociologist is published as a general sociology journal by the Great Plains Sociological Association, thus we publish articles of general interest to sociologists in the region and beyond. The organization primarily seeks to serve sociologists from the Great Plains. However, that does not necessarily limit the material published in the journal. Our readers are sociologists, from undergraduates to full professors, with wide ranging interests in the discipline.

The following guidelines are offered to authors who which to submit their work to the journal for publication:

- 1. The topics should be of interest to a relatively wide audience of sociologists. This does not mean that a majority must agree with findings or discussions. Popularity of findings play no role in the decision to publish. Publication is always based on quality of the work.
- 2. We are unable to publish lengthy articles; brevity is definitely required. Manuscripts should typically be in the range of 10 to 15 journal pages, with an absolute limit of 20 journal pages.
- 3. Many types of manuscripts will be considered for publication. For example, we publish traditional research articles that empirically test hypotheses derived from social theory, thought pieces explicating ideas or investigating specific topics, and articles that focus on teaching techniques or experiences.
- 4. All articles submitted for review should include three copies of the manuscript. Upon acceptance, one copy of the manuscript on a computer disk must be submitted.
- 5. Manuscripts submitted for publication should be sent to the journal editor, and are then sent to at least two reviews for comment and recommendation. The journal editor also reads submissions and has responsibility for the final decision to publish or not. The editor and reviews may request that a manuscript be rewritten and resubmitted.
- 6. To preserve anonymity, please attach to the manuscript a cover page that contains authorship, address, and institutional affiliation. The next page should contain the title of the article only. The authorship page will be removed and retained by the editor to assure anonymity.
- 7. Manuscript format should follow American Sociological Review (ASR) form both for references and style. See a recent copy of the ASR as a style guide.
